The death of Colonel Vernon has deprived the School of a warm supporter and friend of many years' standing, whose much valued professional advice was ever freely placed at our disposal. Col. Vernon had been good enough to act as consulting architect to the Council for the School Chapel, and one of the last exercises of his professional skill was in the suggestion of certain changes in regard to it. On behalf of the School we desire to express our sincere sympathy with his family.

During the Christmas vacation A. A. Green passed away after an illness of several months, to the deep regret of all his school-fellows. He was visited during his sickness by many of them, and we feel sure that all who saw him learned a lesson, never to be forgotten, from the gentle patience and courage with which he bore his prolonged confinement. We offer our heartfelt sympathy to Dr. and Mrs. Green and the rest of the family in their sorrow.

Dr. Radford will preach at the 25th Anniversary Service on Sunday, May 3rd, at 7.30 p.m., in the School Hall.

The foundation-stone of the School Chapel will be laid on Monday, May 4th (the 25th Anniversary Day of the School), at 3 p.m. All parents and friends are invited to the ceremony.

Mr. Baker sailed for England by the Shropshire on March 25th for a nine months' holiday. We wish him a very happy time in his rambles in Europe and the old country. His work has been undertaken by Mr. J. P. Chard, B.A., of Brisbane, to whom we extend a hearty welcome.

The Rev. P. J. Bazeley, representing the Church Missionary Association, visited the School during the Term, and gave an interesting lecture on "World Evangelisation," chiefly from the political point of view.

We congratulate most heartily L. C. Hutchinson, O.B., who has been awarded the Lucas-Tooth Scholarship, upon the nomination of the Archbishop of Sydney. The Scholarship is of the value of from £200 to £300 per annum, tenable for three years at either Oxford or Cambridge by a person desirous of taking Holy Orders in the Church of England. Hutchinson will go to Cambridge, if possible to Queen's College.

We congratulate also all the Old Boys who have been successful in their University Exams. Among them are some particularly brilliant achievements, which are recorded in detail elsewhere.

The prizes for the General Knowledge Paper, held in December last, were won by the following:—VI., Blackwood; Upper Fourth A, Goddard I.; IIIB, Martin and Crawford.

Mr. P. Fornachon, B.A., B.Sc., of Adelaide, has joined the staff to take over Mr. C. R. Franklin's work both in the Laboratory and at the Sheds.

Colours have been awarded to the following:—Hall, Meares, Thompson, Mayne, Suttor, Forbes. Blazers have been awarded to the following:—1st XI. : Holcombe, Braddon, Hyne, Orr.

2nd XI. : Mehan, Kierath, Roberts, Kyle, Pope, Plaskitt, Smith, Spanswick, Casper.

Editorial Notes.

AN apology is due for the late appearance of the picture of last year's eight, which, through various misfortunes and delays, did not appear at the proper time.

For the picture of the Chapel as it is to be we are indebted to the kindness of the architect, Mr. Burcham Clamp.

The School Chapel.

THE foundation stone of the chapel will be laid by His Grace the Archbishop of Sydney on Monday, May 4th, at 3 p.m. This date is the twenty-fifth anniversary of the formal opening of the School by Lord Carrington, the then Governor of the colony. A sketch of the chapel is published in this number, and the following description is given by the architect, Mr. Burcham Clamp:—

"The chapel has been designed in the transitional decorated or early perpendicular style of architecture, and would be built predominantly of brick with stone dressings.

Externally, the design combines dignity and simplicity, and internally carefully thought out and well-proportioned detail.

On the plan, longitudinal stalls have been shown for the whole of the interior of the chapel. If it should be desired, longitudinal stalls could be provided only in the east end, with transverse seating for the nave. Personally I prefer the longitudinal stalls as being more typical of a school chapel.

Provision has also been made for a clergy vestry and a suggested suitable position for a choir vestry, should such be required; cloisters are also arranged for to permit of inter-communication between the chapel and the adjoining buildings.

Special care has been bestowed upon the designing of the open timbered roof, also in connection with the panelling of walls, benches, and other woodwork; and these works when carried out in a completed state, at a future date, should give a very beautiful interior.

Seating accommodation has been provided for 416 scholars, masters and choir.

Special face bricks, both externally and internally, with stone dressings, would be used, with cavity walls owing to the exposed position of the site, as well as the impossibility of obtaining a chapel built entirely of stone of the size and character desired for the amount stipulated.

Light and ventilation have been carefully studied. Tobin vent inlets would be inserted at the floor level, and discharge into chapel at the sill level; also louvred ventilators are placed in each gable, together with extract ventilator in ridge (see sections).

Marble slabs would be used for the tiling of the nave and east end, and wood flooring for the platforms.

The roof will be covered with best Bangor slates, and the work and finish throughout would be in keeping with the character of the building."

The Swimming Carnival.

IT was gloriously fine weather and the best of tides. But thankful though we may be for these external aids (the more so when one remembers the deluge of this time last year), there is no denying that the success of the carnival, and a success it undoubtedly was, is due to the energy and efficiency of the committee—Suttor (secretary and captain), Craig (treasurer), Griffin, Mayne, and Huie. There was a record entry and a record attendance, and neither caused any hitch.

This year two changes were made. A 250 yards championship was added to the programme, and a School swimming championship was instituted. This latter is decided on the results of the four championship events, viz., the 100 yards, the 250 yards, the back and breast stroke, and the diving championship, three, two, and one point being awarded for first, second, and third places respectively. The winner (and the title carries with it the Headmaster's Cup) was Huie, whose performance was particularly fine. He secured first place in the 100 yards, the 250 yards, and the dive, and third place in the back and breast stroke championship. Eedy, with four points, was runner-up.

It may here be noticed that on the results of the 100 yards championship our three representatives (Huie, Eedy, and Gall) were chosen to compete in the 100 yards All Schools Championship at the S.G.S. Carnival on March 26th. In this race Huie secured second place, being beaten by a touch by Longworth after a splendid race.

As at last year's carnival, there were several exhibitions, to the givers of which the committee is greatly indebted. Messrs. A. W. Barry and L. Solomous gave a 100 yards exhibition swim, and the latter, with Mr. S. Riddington, an exhibition of high and fancy diving, while towards the end of the afternoon the scientific floating and swimming of Mr. G. H. Williams was much appreciated.

To return to the programme proper. Certainly the most keenly and evenly contested event was the diving championship. Five competitors (Huie, Griffin ii., Allport, Beale, and Suttor) had to dive off, and it is no exaggeration to say that they all shewed championship form.

The All Schools Team Race again provided a most exciting race, and a win to S.G.C.

Following are the results in detail :—

250 Yards School Championship.—Huie 1, Eedy 2, Gall 3; time, 3 min. 15 sec.

Upper School Form Teams Race.—Lower IV. A (Godwin, Kelynack, Mayne, Thomas ii.), 1; V. (Chenhall, Gall, Jones, Treatt), 2.

Life Saving.

THE annual competition for the Roth Challenge Shield and the Hendry Cup were held at Coogee on February 26th.

Teams were entered from the School for both events, the senior team consisting of Chenhall, Gall, Hule, and Webb, and the junior of Fell, Griffin ii., Hutchinson, and Kelynack.

The teams were coached by Mr. Warren, and made a creditable showing, each one finishing fourth, and being four and five points respectively behind the winning team.

This year the School Life Saving Class will commence early in fourth term; the team to compete in February will be picked at the end of the year.

Rowing.

THE Rowing Camp was held this year at Towns' Shed, Gladesville, as usual, and filled up the last week of the Christmas holidays, from January 26th to February 3rd. Mr. Ramsay, unfortunately, was unable to be present; since his services were taken up with coaching the Leichhardt crew. In consequence, Hart did most of the coaching of the eight, while he was assisted by Richardson and Sinclair in the tubbing.

Owing to a severe storm the pontoon and staging of the school shed at Berry's Bay were badly damaged. This necessitated the first crew using St. Paul's eight at Glebe Point for a fortnight, and it was kindly lent to us through the agency of Keith Williams, who undertook the coaching of the eight from the close of the Christmas Camp to the end of February. From then on Mr. Ramsay was free to take us under his care. The period of rowing at Glebe Point was lengthened because the eight was badly ripped up on Bottle Point, Parramatta River, and as a result was put out of use for a week or two while George Towns exercised his skill.

Since the School has procured a new racing four, it is proposed to enter two fours this year in the G.P.S. race, which takes place on April 22nd. This should prove of great assistance to next year's crew, as experienced oarsmen will be invaluable.

At present the crews are as follows :

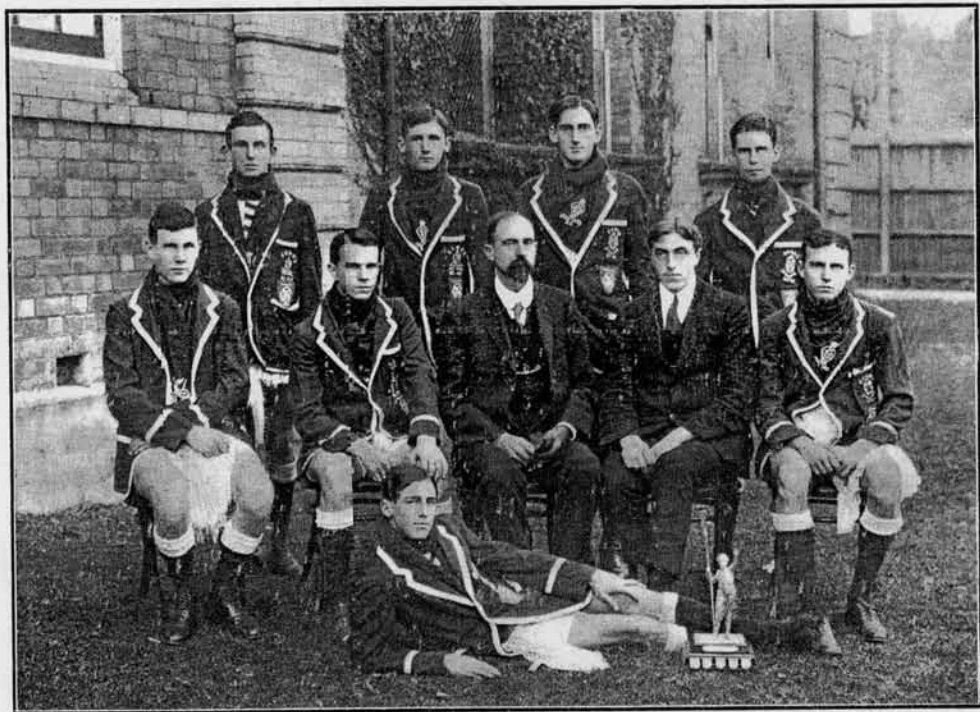

1st crew : (Bow) Allport, (2) Luscombe, (3) King, (4) McRae, (5) Sawyer, (6) Sinclair, (7) Hart, (stroke) Richardson.

All the preceding are old colours from last year with the exception of King and McRae, who are at present very promising oarsmen.

2nd crew : (1) Johnson, (2) Jeremy, (3) Heath, (4) Jefferson. Coach, Mr. Fornachon.

S.C.E.G.S. EIGHT, 1913.

G.P.S. Champion Crew.

J. M. Allport (bow), G. H. Pulling (2), N. G. Sawyer (5) C. W. Luscombe (3)
E. R. Sinclair (6), G. E. Hart (7, Captain of Boats), Allan Ramsay Esq., C. R. Franklin Esq., L. L. Richardson (stroke)
G. E. Campbell (cox), [C. R. Ewing (4) absent].

3rd crew: (1) Blackwood, (2) Small, (3) Griffin, (4) Milton. Coach, Mr. Purves.

The three crews have shown very fair improvement during the term, and should give a good account of themselves in the approaching race. A camp will be held as usual during the Easter holidays, and as the race is so soon afterwards, it is thought that the eight should have the last week's training of this term in the racing eight. For this short space they will row from the Varsity sheds.

University Letter.

The Editor of the Torch-Bearer.

DEAR Sir,

If I remember rightly, no University Letter has appeared since last June, and as you have asked me to cut down this contribution as much as possible you must excuse me if I pass over things of importance which, in the natural order of things, should be dealt with fully.

At the end of the football season the 1st XV. found itself occupying second place in the competition. Massie captained the team, which included Heath, Irving, Pockley, and Hamilton, whilst Hall and Woodward played several times with the team. Massie, Heath, and Pockley gained representative honours. During third term cricket held sway. Massie, Tozer, and Minnett played first grade. Massie played in all State matches, and must be regarded as the best left-hand bowler in Australia. Tozer heads the batting list, and it was unfortunate that he could not spare the time to play in the Sheffield Shield matches. Tozer's best scores were made when runs were badly needed. Minnett toured Ceylon with Rev. E. F.

Waddy's team, where his defence improved wonderfully.

During the third term the College boatrace was rowed. St. Paul's won, after a hard race, from St. Andrew's. Woodward and Hay rowed for St. Andrew's, the former stroking the boat. Paul Voss (7), Heath (4), K. Voss (2), V. Hall (bow) rowed for St. Paul's.

Unfortunately for the Varsity, Massie leaves after the cricket season. In cricket, football, athletics, and boxing his place will indeed be hard to fill. As a fresher he represented Varsity in rowing, and was also asked to train for the State boat. He has represented the Varsity and New South Wales in cricket and football (Captain of the University 1st XV.). He is heavyweight boxing champion of the University, Australian Universities, and of New South Wales, and has successfully represented Sydney in the Inter-Varsity Athletic Championships; and to cap everything, he has come first in the final examinations of engineering! Can anyone go better than that?

P. Voss was selected to row for N.S.W., but, unfortunately, he could not spare the time for the trip.

L. B. Heath has decided to do medicine after gaining his B.A. degree, and has accepted the position of Sub-Warden of St. Paul's College. "Old Bill" will find no difficulty in keeping order among those College men who have, at some time or other, acted as his sparring partners.

Woodward has more than maintained his high standard in work and sports. In 1st Year Medicine he came second in the year, despite the fact that he played football, shot for his College, and stroked the College boat.

Merewether passed his first year examination in the Arts course, but decided to go on the land with his brother. Whilst at the 'Varsity his proverbial bad luck dogged him, as at school, for he twisted his knee, from which the cartilage had been removed, so badly that he had to lie up for a long time.

Pulling and Hutchinson gained their B.A. degrees, and are both going to the Armidale School for a short time.

Dudley Williams again distinguished himself by coming out on top in his law examinations.

The departure of men who have finished their course is going to sadly deplete the ranks of Old Boys at the 'Varsity this year. Amongst the Old Boys who are leaving this year are Massie, Tozer, Pockley, Welch, and Busby, so it's "up to" the School to send along men who will be able to take their places.

Old Boys will soon be looking forward to the School Boatrace, as it is, to many, the most attractive event of the "School year," and I take this opportunity of wishing the crew the best of luck in their efforts to retain their title of "Head of the River."

Sincerely yours,

TOFA.

On Some Mediæval Tales.

"Silet per diem universus, nec sine horrore secretus est; lucet nocturnis ignibus, chorus Aegiparum undique personatur, audiuntur: et cantus tibiarum et linnitus cymbalorum per oram maritimam."

"ERROR," saith Voltaire, somewhere, "has its advantages as well as truth," and a study of the mediæval tales goes far to bring home the truth of the saying. More than anything we possess, they are indicative of the feeling of the age—an age when the earth was full of wonder and mystery. Science and geographical discovery have given us an exact knowledge, but they have killed the romance which once, like a mist, hung over the unknown, and our loss is not an unmixed one.

But as no one may bathe in the same stream twice, so we may never live in that wonder-atmosphere of the middle ages; yet it is of worth to read its literature—a welcome change from the love agonies of the Fredericks and Dorotheas who dominate our fiction.

Early in the fourth century Solinus put together his "Collectanea Rerum Notabilium," wherein he gave an account of the wonderful things of the world—men, plants and animals. It was a compilation rather than an original work, and he ransacked all literature for his materials. The passage from his description of Mt. Atlas, that we have quoted above, gives an idea of his simple and easy style and of that love of the marvellous which one finds on every page.

For six hundred years the Collectanea took the place of a scientific and geographical text book—nothing is so illustrative of the intense credulity of the age and of its love of the beautiful, the humorous, and the grotesque in one wonderful compost.

The plan of the Collectanea is geographical. After a short dedication to his friend Adventus, he commences with Italy. When he has told of the wonders and marvels, past and present, of that country, he passes on to Greece, and from there to Pontica and Scythia and to North West Europe. The last two sections of his book are occupied with Africa and Asia.

In Italy, as in Greece, he is at a disadvantage. The countries were too well known. Yet they are not entirely uninteresting. We learn of the milk stone that causes abundance of milk but when taken into the mouth melts, but "therewith perishes the gift of memory"; of the migratory cranes who "when they fly south for their yearly fight with the pygmies, lest the wind should drive them out of their course, gorge themselves with sand and stones and keep watch at nights holding little weights in their claws till they are passed the great sea." About Soracte dwell a race of men more dangerous to serpents than serpents were to them, and in Sardinia were to be found the "sardonic plants that kill men with a horrible grinning lockjaw," and springs that "kneit up broken bones, expel poison, drive away diseases of he eyes, and discover springs."

But Scythia is far more interesting. Out in the steppes dwell the loup garoux—were-wolves—men who at certain times turn into wolves and return again to their proper shape, also certain long-eared men who "are clothed and sleep within their flaps," and far away at the back of the north wind, beyond the gloom-wrapt Riphaen Hills, live the one-eyed Arimaspai, and the dwarfs who steal the gold from the griffins, "a most fierce bird, cruel beyond all measure of cruelty, which tears in pieces any intruder." In the North-west of Europe are the Hercynian birds "whose feathers give light in the dark, be the night never so close and cloudy," also an "exquisite creature like a mule, but with such long upper lip that he cannot feed except when walking backward," and the thunder-stones which draw down the brightness of the stars to themselves.

Africa to Solinus is a veritably enchanted land. The animals are unique. There are lions that cannot look asquint and cannot bear that any should look asquint at them, hyenas whose back bones have no joint, whose very shadow robs dogs of their bark, and "in whose eyes lies a wondrous stone which, put under any man's tongue, doth give him power to fore-tell things to come." There too is found the basilisk which "dries up and destroys the very earth and infects the very air. No bird can fly over him, all other serpents are horribly afraid to hear him hissing. What he killeth no fowl and no beast will touch. His motion is no less terrible—with one half he creepeth and with the other he advanceth himself aloft. And yet for all this he is overcome of weasels." Queer people there are also—the Syrbots, lazy things of twelve feet long, the people that have a dog for a king, the people with four eyes, and the tribes about the torrid zone, some with their faces wholly without a nose, some with mouths all grown together save only for a little hole by which they suck in sustenance through a pipe, others with eyes and mouth in chest, and the Crooklegs which slide rather than walk.

The last section of the work deals with Asia, and after a glance at Arabia with its chameleon and flying snake and Syria with its Dead Sea fruit, Solinus passes on to India—the very end of the earth. There lived men so tall that they could vault over elephants, tribes who had their feet turned backward with eight toes on each; others again with but one leg, but feet so huge that they could use them for shade against the sun; and others who had dog's heads and talons for fingers and barked for speech, and who lived by the smell of fruit. Moustrous animals, too, there were—yellow oxen with flexible horns; unicorns; worms with arms six cubits long, who hold elephants under water; and whales that cover four acres of ground.

C.H.K.

The Cadet Corps.

THE chief interest this term has been centred in A Company's Competition Team, which by easily winning the Battalion and Brigade Competitions has succeeded in getting into the District Competitions. This year preparation was made for the competitions by making into a permanent half company all the best shots in the corps, a few additions being made as a result of the musketry camp. Before Christmas, when possible, the half company was turned over to the Sergeant Major, who started with the a b c of squad drill and gradually worked up a first-rate team. At the beginning of this term the thirty-five best shots in the company were picked out, and eventually the thirty smartest drills were formed into a team of twenty-four, with two sergeants and four emergency men.

The team practised with a keenness that has not been apparent in previous years, and while extra parades were limited almost entirely to a few odd quarter hours after dinner to avoid interfering with sports, such good use was made of the short time for preparation that the team won the Battalion Competition on Feb. 21 by 120 points. The event was decided at Long Bay, inspection, shooting and skirmishing taking place in the morning on the range, and physical training, close order drill and march past in the afternoon. Our team led in every section of the work, and put up the very creditable record of 152 hits out of 192 in the shooting. The actual marks scored were : Inspection, 82 out of 100 ; shooting and fire control, 192 out of 242 ; skirmishing, 184 out of 250 ; drill, 180 out of 200 ; physical training, 124 out of 150 ; march past, 48 out of 50 ; total, 810. The second team Co. scored 690 points.

The Brigade Competition took place on the same ground on March 14, and our team won by 148, the other teams being S.J.C. (19th Batt.), T.K.S. (20th Batt.), and a combined team from St. Aloysius College and Neutral Bay Public School (17th Batt.). Our team again succeeded in leading in every section, getting 768 points, S.J.C. coming second with 620.

The marks were as follows : Inspection, 85 ; shooting and fire control, 133 ; skirmishing, 224 ; physical training, 117 ; drill, 164 ; march past, 45.

The win was mostly due to the excellent skirmishing. The cadets obeyed all signals promptly and correctly, adapted themselves readily to surprise orders and took cover very well. Much of the success of the movement was due to the work of the N.C.O.'s, who acted intelligently when the initiative was left with them, particularly when the team commander and one of the sergeants were "killed." The remaining N.C.O.'s instantly took up the vacant positions and continued the advance without any perceptible break or hesitation. At the conclusion of the day the Brigade Major, Captain Bilton, congratulated the winning team on their success and wished them luck in the District Competition on April 25th.

While the whole team worked well and keenly, special mention must be made of the squad commanders, Sergeants Matheson and Smith i., and the second in command of the squads, Corporals Tyler and Fraser.

The section was composed as follows:—

Sg. Matheson	L.-Cp. Heath
Sg. Smith i.	„ Mehan
Bugler-Sg. Kelynack	Ct. Hall i.
Cp. Tyler	„ Sinclair i.
„ Fraser	„ Cameron i.

Emergencies: Alderton, Davidson, Williams i.

A preliminary examination for applicants for commissions was held at the School on Tuesday, 17th March. The following were successful in qualifying: Sg. Matheson, Sg. Smith, Cp. Tyler, Sg. Treatt.

Second Annual Military Camp.

THE second annual camp was held at Randwick towards the end of the year. On Tuesday, December 9th, an advance party, under Lieutenant H. D. Pulling, set out for Randwick and carried out the work of pegging out the camp; by the time the two companies marched in, i.e., about 2.30 p.m., the alignment of men's tents was finished and store tent and mess tent pitched.

The work of pitching the remainder of the tents was soon carried out; stores and blankets were drawn and by six o'clock all were settled down comfortably and ready for rations.

Great credit is due to Lieut. Pulling and the advance party, who, in spite of losing the expected services of Staff Sergt. Major Hervey, carried out their important work most efficiently.

The prime object of the camp was to give an opportunity for proper instruction in musketry, and to save the waste of time involved in repeated journeys to Randwick or Long Bay. In this way, as indeed in every other, the project turned out to be a great success. While A company was occupied on the mounds, B company would be receiving instruction in close order, extended order work, preliminary instruction in rifle-shooting, and so on.

In the afternoon the positions were reversed. No cadet was allowed to fire until it was evident that he had begun to understand the control of his rifle. Two Staff Sergeant-Majors worked away at the rear of the mounds instructing those who were awaiting their turn to go up.

Each cadet on the mound was placed in charge of an experienced shot, and the result shewed that all this care had not been wasted, as in A Company there were forty-six marksmen and forty first-class shots; in B Company, which is composed chiefly of recruits, there were fifteen marksmen.

Perhaps the most important point in a camp is the "tucker." If the tucker is good, good temper and cheerfulness is everywhere to be seen. If the tucker is bad, even in such well disciplined ranks as those of the companies from the School, there is a damping of enthusiasm. It need only be said here, to the credit of Mr. Beveridge, that there was no sign of any diminution of zeal. Everyone felt happy after each of Mr. Beveridge's meals.

On Friday a tactical scheme was carried out, A Company attacking, B Company defending the camp; Capt. Harris was completely successful in forcing the position.

After parade each afternoon a surfing parade was held, of which most took advantage; and when some 300 cadets took possession of the beach, the public indeed looked like playing second fiddle. But there was no sign of resentment at the usurpation. Indeed, the daily "charge of the light brigade" into the surf became something of a local event, and visitors to Coogee timed their visit to the beach so as to see it.

Thursday afternoon was set aside for visitors, about 300 of whom turned up to see what camp was like.

The companies went through a few evolutions, and were then dismissed to take charge of their friends.

During the afternoon a files match was carried out, resulting in an exciting finish between Cadet E. B. Johnson's team and Sergeant G. H. Pulling's team, the former being successful in the last round.

Evening in camp is a most delightful time. Peace amid War. The slowly-fading light of a summer's evening, the refreshing cool after a day in the sand and sun, the freedom to lie on your back and gaze at the lighting up of nature's immense chandelier, the peaceful hush broken by the suggestion of happy life in the babel of tongues from the knots of merry-makers in the lines; then the calls of the bugle, ending in the sublimest of evening songs, "The Last Post," with the sleepy echo ten minutes later, "Lights out"; then the sudden stillness, so sudden that one almost would think that Bugler Nock kept a magic spell in his bugle—all these leave the impression on the mind of a happy world, well ordered and therefore well content.

This evening calm was once broken by the rude alarm of war, when Lieut. Richardson and Colour-Sergeant Hart organised a surprise attack on the camp. This led to an instructive hour, in which the young officers and N.C.O's. showed plenty of nous in meeting emergencies, the most satisfactory point of all being that all N.C.O's. and cadets had fallen in on the parade ground with their rifles, some in pyjamas, some in uniform, in less than sixty seconds from the sound of the alarm.

On Saturday reveille sounded at 4.45 a.m., and camp was struck and the ground clear and waggons packed by 1 o'clock.

The School was reached at 2.30, and the companies that swung up from Lavender Bay in company column could have held their own with any in Australia.

On arrival they were inspected by Colonel Luscombe, who was at the time Acting-Commandant of the State. He expressed himself as highly pleased with the bearing of the Cadets, and the Commanding Officer expressed the opinion that the Cadets learnt more soldiery in a five days' camp, and learnt it in a more pleasant manner, than in fifty ordinary parades.

All are looking forward to the third annual camp next December.

Cricket.

THIS term the 1st XI. showed to much better advantage than last, and though the T.K.S. match was lost and the S.G.S. may be, still both matches have been well contested, particularly the first, which T.K.S. won by 1 run. Meares at last showed some of his true batting form, and Suttor, Hall, Forbes, and Holcombe showed a great improvement on last term's form. The bowling also was much stronger, though rather ordinary after the first pair. Here again Meares stood out prominently, repeating his previous success in his last two matches. Mayne is a much-improved bowler, and has put on a lot of pace. He still rather lacks variety. The fielding has been consistently good, though there are still several weak men in the team. Mayne, Suttor, and Braddon all fielded excellently, and Orr promised well behind the wickets. M. Hall, who succeeded Barton at Christmas, captained the team well, and managed his bowling with good judgment.

The great improvement in the 1st XI. in the second term, and the strength of the second and the large number of young players in both teams, augurs well for the future. Mr. A. B. S. White's bat for the aggregate goes to Meares (144), who also gets the greatest number of wickets to date (19), and cannot possibly be beaten.

Colours, etc.; will be reported in the next issue, owing to the repeated postponement of the S.G.S. match.

SCHOOL v. T.K.S.

This match proved the most interesting of the season, as it was won by T.K.S. by 1 run. The School batted first, and put up a record of slow scoring by making 68 for 1 wicket in the two hours before lunch. Although their play was not very enterprising, the stand made by Suttor and Forbes was extremely useful in tiring the bowlers. After lunch Suttor was soon out for 48, made in good style, and including an extraordinary six over point's head. Forbes, who defended very soundly, but was deficient in scoring strokes, made 20. After several wickets had fallen cheaply, Meares saved the situation,

After batting carefully at first, he went at the bowling, and playing stylish and vigorous cricket, put on runs at a rapid rate. With the last few men he took more risks, and, aided by Holcombe (22), brought the score up to the respectable total of 209, to which he had contributed 81. The T.K.S. innings opened disastrously for them, no less than five wickets for 28 falling in the first half hour to the bowling of Meares and Mayne, aided by good catching and fielding. A splendid recovery was then made by Farquhar and Vickers, and the score was carried to 158 with no further loss, when stumps were drawn. The match would probably have been decided in the afternoon if a couple of fairly easy catches had been held. The match was resumed at 4 on Wednesday. In spite of keen fielding and accurate bowling the score crept up to 200, though wickets fell and the partners of the previous day both got out. The ninth wicket fell with T.K.S. still three behind, and amidst tremendous excitement the last man came in, hit his first ball for four, and was caught next ball in the long field. Farquhar's innings of 84 was a splendid performance. He went in at a most critical period, when a bad rot had set in, and, playing as coolly as if at practice, converted an almost certain defeat into a win. He was ably seconded by Vickers (59). Meares (6 for 54) was the most successful. He kept a first-rate length, and got a good deal of turn. Mayne (3 for 52) also bowled well, and Holcombe (1 for 6), after his useful score of the previous day, showed himself a valuable acquisition to the team.

v. S.G.S.

This match was begun on No. 2 on Monday, March 30th, after three postponements owing to wet weather. As it was, play was postponed till 2, as the wicket was under water at 10.30. S.G.S. winning the toss, sent the School in to bat on a soft and slow wicket. Meares repeated his performance of the previous match by top scoring with 32. He watched the ball closely, took risks freely, and played the proper game on the wicket, which was so slow that, although the ball played tricks, it could be watched most of the way. Holcome, after starting carefully, swung hard at the leg balls and short ones, and put together a valuable 28, including a good six. Several of the team failed to realize the necessity of getting S.G.S. in while considerable time still remained for play, and were content to poke about and make a few runs in a long time instead of hitting out and making a few in a short time. The total (118) could have also been considerably increased by more enterprise in going for short runs. Yates was the most successful bowler for S.G.S.

At the close of the day's play S.G.S. had lost 5 for 64. Donovan hit up 25 in a few minutes, and Cohen (17) and Trumper (18) played cautiously with a view to continuing on another day on a better wicket. Meares (2 for 22) bowled well with bad luck, as he constantly beat the earlier batsmen. Piper also, after an over of long hops, bowled well, and got 2 for 12. The fielding was fair, the catching good, but the returns to the wicket were wild. At the time of going to press the match was still unfinished.

CHARACTERS OF THE TEAM.

R. A. Barton.*—Stylish bat, with strokes all round the wicket; showed poor form this season; leg-break bowler, with a lot of spin but uncertain length; good field. Captained the team well in the first term. (Colours 1912-13-14, All Schools 1st 1912, 2nd 1912-13.)

M. Hall.—Good bat, with powerful driving strokes; rather a nervous starter; good field and fair change bowler. Captained the team ably in the second term. (Colours 1913.)

G. Orr.*—Good bat, with strong defence and plenty of scoring strokes; cutting very effective; a first-class field and very fair wicket-keeper. (Colours 1913-14, All Schools 2nd XI, 1913.)

O. D. Meares.—First-class bat, with powerful strokes all round the wicket; very strong off drive; takes risks and scores very fast when going; accurate leg-break bowler, with lots of spin and excellent length; safe field. (All Schools 1st XI, 1913.)

L. Seaton.*—Fairly good left-hand bowler, rather lacking in variety; vigorous bat; strong on the leg, but unsound in defence; improved field. (Colours 1913.)

J. A. Thompson.—Good bat, with a fine off-drive and pull; rather impatient; good field.

A. V. Mayne.—Good medium fast bowler; keeps a good length, and makes the ball fly; rather lacking in variety; promising bat, with good off-strokes; a very keen player all round, and a first-rate field.

H. Hyne.—Vigorous left-hand bat; off-drives well; rather weak in the field.

2nd XI.

The 2nd XI. suffered severely by the loss at Christmas of Denny, Hyne and Orr, and of their remaining competition matches badly lost that against T.K.S. and won against S.G.S. by 68. By winning four matches and losing one they have secured first place in the 2nd competition level with T.K.S. 2nd. However, there is some doubt as to the result of the N.C. and T.K.S. match, which, if decided in favour of N.C., results in a win for the School. The matter cannot be decided until next G.P.S.A.A. meeting.

The team contains some very promising young players, of whom special mention may be made of Kierath and Kyle as bats and Spanswick, Roberts, Crane, and Fry as bowlers.

In the S.G.S. match Mehan, who had been unfortunate in straining his wrist early in the term, took 8 wickets for 27 and made 31 in the first innings.

SENIOR DISTRICT CRICKET.

The matches in this competition have been interfered with by the wet weather. At present North Sydney and House A are equal on points, and will have to play off for the premiership.

JUNIOR CRICKET.

Both the outside and the Junior District matches have been much interfered with by rain, and in the end it was impossible to finish the District Competition.

Two teams, however, were a long way ahead, with a percentage of sixty-six, viz., Junior House A (captained by Warren) and Junior Hornsby A (captained by Crawford), and as the premiership must have come to one of them the final was played between them.

This resulted in a win by 9 runs for Junior House A, who scored 67 (Mort 14, Moses and Clissold 4 wickets) against 58 (Cox v. 25, Clissold 14, Cobb ii. 7 for 8).

Both captains are to be praised for the way in which they handled and looked after their teams.

On Sunday, January 11, a service was held in S. Thomas' Church, North Sydney, to dedicate a memorial to Robert Kenneth Allen. The western porch of the church had been tiled, and a tablet erected to his memory. The service was taken by the Rev. H. Crotty, M.A., the Rector of the parish, and he took as the text for his address the words on the memorial tablet: "He brought down my strength in my journey and shortened my days."

It was with great regret that Old Boys of our early years heard of the sudden death of Russell Barton. Barton was one of the first batch of prefects; he was one of the four in the first two races in which the Boat Club took part, and which established our reputation as a rowing school; he was a member of the 1st XI., and captain of the School XV. After leaving School he took up land on the Richmond, but he sold this a few years ago, and then went to Mooloola Station, Bourke. He was at Isla Downs, Queensland, when he died on March 15.

We very much regret to record the death of D. R. Muuro, which took place at Beverley, Quirindi, on March 22nd. Muuro was not long at the School, but during his short career with us he was made a sub-prefect and became a member of the 1st XV., and won the mile in the G.P.S. athletic sports in 1904.

The Hon. Treasurer acknowledges with many thanks an annual donation of £5 from "Q." He has divided it, according to the wishes of the donor, as follows:—Chapel Fund £2, Library Fund £1, School Charity Fund £1, Athletic Sports Prize Fund £1.

K. E. Winchcombe, who has been for some time one of the auctioneers of the firm of Winchcombe, Carson & Co., has left for England by the Medina, and intends to put in some time at Bradford in the woollen mills there.

The last letters from Mr. Hodges are of a much more cheerful character, and he is now able to move about a little from room to room. We hope the favourable progress will continue, and that we may see him among us again at no distant period.

Letters have been received from Mr. Robson, in which he states that he has resolved to take a long holiday at home, and that probably he would not return to Australia. He sends the best of wishes to all connected with the School.

Mr. L. A. Baker has left for England by the Shropshire. He will be away for about nine months. During his absence his place at the School is taken by Mr. Chard.

Lieutenant Eric Harrison was the first pilot of the Australian Army Aviation Corps in the recent demonstration at Melbourne.

The Rev. W. S. McLeod, L.Th., was inducted recently to the parish of Christ Church, Mount Vincent, N.S.W.

F. Hugh Horderu, L.Th. (Durham), has returned after eighteen months in England, and is to be ordained by the Archbishop to the Curacy of Holy Trinity, Dulwich Hill, on the first Sunday after Easter.

Congratulations to Old Boys at the University on successes at graduation and in annual examinations. A detailed account will be found in the University Letter in this issue.

C. W. Leigh Pulling has been appointed Classical Master at the Armdale School. We wish him every success in the scholastic profession.

Mr. Hodges has resigned his Fellowship at S. Paul's College, and A. B. S. White has been elected to the vacancy.

Congratulations to L. B. Heath on his appointment as Vice-Warden of St. Paul's College.

Hearty congratulations to E. O. Hutchinson on being selected Lucas-Tooth Scholar on the nomination of the Archbishop.

The Hon. Treasurer begs to acknowledge the receipt of subscriptions for the year 1913-1914 from the following:—
