Owing to the number of boys attending the L.C. Examination, it has been found impossible to hold the Boxing Tournament this term. It has, therefore, been postponed till the first week of next term.

School will re-open next term on Wednesday, February 9th, instead of February 8th. This extra day will complete the extra week given at the request of the Prince of Wales. New boys should present themselves at 9.30 a.m. on February 8th.

The school terms for 1921 will be as follows:—Term 1, February 9 to May 6; Term 2, June 1 to August 27; Term 3, September 14 to —

Mr. T. N. Wallace, B.A. London, has been acting as locum tenens for Mr. Linton (on leave). Mr. N. G. Pardey has also been doing work in room Mr. Short (resigned).

The School has to thank Mr. Gordon Black (O.B.) for once again coming to its help with the gift of another horse for the sports ground, to replace old "Bonnie" (deceased) which was also his gift.

At the School of Arts, North Sydney, on November 19, Professor Peden delivered a most interesting lecture to the School on "Town planning and Greater Sydney." The lecture was illustrated by plans very kindly lent by J. J. C. Bradfield.

The following appointments have been made this term:—Prefects: F. P. Boundy, C. J. Bright, J. D'A. Bucknell, F. D'A. Hixson, R. M. Johnson, W. O. Litchfield, E. Mander Jones, R. R. Sinclair, W. R. F. D'A. Hixson has been appointed Captain of Boats.

J. P. Black has been awarded Mr. Fitzhardinge's prize for the best original essay in the Middle School. It is published on another page under the title of "The Falls by Moonlight." The Upper School award has been postponed until our next issue, when boys will be free from the pressure of public examinations.

SPEECH DAY.

The annual distribution of prizes took place on August 26th. The scene as usual was a spacious marquee erected on the ground. In the absence of the Archbishop at the Lambeth Conference, the chair was taken by the Vicar-General, the Ven. Archdeacon D'Arcy-Irvine. The prizes were given away by Colonel J. H. Bruche, C.B., C.M.G., Commandant. On the platform were the following members of Council:—Rev. Canon Sharp, Rev. J. H. Maclean, Rev. A. A. Yeates, Judge Backhouse, the Hon. R. J. Black, Messrs. A. F. Robinson, A. B. S. White, Randel W. Carey, and the Headmasters of Sydney Grammar School and The King's School. After welcoming Colonel Bruche, the Headmaster read a report as follows:—

The new story on the main building was finished in time for the second term of this year and gives us in all ways a suitable environment for the exalted folk whose privilege it is to work there; you are invited to visit these rooms to-day and to commend the work of the architects, and the instructions of the Council. We are now able to go on with the Blackwood Memorial Laboratory—a work which has been contingent on the provision of other room. It is intended, without further delay, to throw the present laboratory and the class adjoining into one, equip the very large room thus formed as a laboratory and give it an entrance from the archway with a suitable tablet over the door. Since last Speech Day, the Memorial to another old boy soldier—Eric Sinclair—has been finished, and the School Boat Club now owns a fine shed on the upper river, where the crews can rest during their Saturday labours, and where also they can complete their training at the Easter camp. Here again, boys of the future will read, as they will over the laboratory entrance, at the playing fields, and in Chapel, how vows of knighthood were kept by other boys who moved about the school buildings before them, and knew the same schoolboy struggles as themselves, and gave their lives that others might live free.

it has been delayed by the various trade difficulties that have divided England to the heart, but we are glad to know that the pipes and the other British work are now on the water, and we have hopes that the whole will be erected in time for the opening service of next year.

Our old boy soldiers are still returning: some on furlough, like Hugh Pulling, David McCall McCowan, R. H. Wordsworth and Max Tyler; others (including Linton Holmes after long service with the U.S.A. Army) to resume civilian pursuits. To them all we have offered a proud welcome, recognising that they and their fellows have won high honour for the School. Of the one hundred and twenty-three who have fought their last battle on earth, the School holds affectionate and reverent memory; their names are read out on suitable occasions, that they may be familiar to every boy both present and past, and that this chord of memory may vibrate so long as the School shall stand. It is hoped, before long, to proceed with the Chapel East window—a general memorial for all of our nine hundred who helped to keep the world free from the domination of a cultured barbarism. Many of us a few weeks ago, must have thought how easily, but for them and such as them and the mercy of Heaven, we might have been cheering, instead of our own Prince of Wales, the Crown Prince, and how we might have been kept up to concert pitch in our cheering by the stamp of rifle-buts or by bayonet prods. One smiles now, but if our old enemy revives, and if the Christian nations "forsaking the Grail for the gallipots," fall foul of each other, our children may well see the miseries which we narrowly escaped. The window, commemorating all the gallant dead and the gallant living, is to be made at Home at a cost of about £500. When it is in place, a crown of beauty will be laid upon our Chapel, already beautiful with its memorial banners and tablets and windows and panels. If returned old boys, amongst others, will take this matter in hand, they will be doing one more service to complete the vision amazing which they have bequeathed to the School.

The Berry's Bay boat-shed is being rebuilt—not prematurely, its habitues will agree—and we shall now be able properly to house our fleet for the early stages of rowing, which, of course, must be conducted close to the school. We hope that many of you will visit the Memorial Grounds on the 29th of next month, when for the first time in its history the School will hold its annual Athletic Sports Meeting on its own grounds. Any of you who may have misjudged a photograph in the May "Torch-Bearer," or believed that you were looking at a picture of Marius amid the ruins of Carthage, will be pleasantly surprised by the progress that has been made. The Grounds Committee and their indefatigable friends have been busy in our interests all the year: in particular the fete and the dance were both most successful, but these are only two instances which happen to attract public attention; anyone knowing the inside working can understand the great amount of time, skill and devotion which this faithful band gives to the School. Their number has been lessened by the deaths of two members, who were the first to begin and the last to leave off when there was any work to be done; they will be long remembered and regretted, not only for their good services, but for the cheery atmosphere which seem to come from their presence in our midst. It is right that I should also record the loss that the community has suffered through the death of Miss Badham, for many years Headmistress of our sister school at Darlington—an enthusiast and an idealist, and at the same time a thoroughly practical organiser and a teacher, a friend to every pupil in her school, and a gracious gentlewoman to all. There were few of our School assemblies which she failed to attend, and she was always full of sympathy in our work and our games.

The School was proud to provide the Guard of Honour—veterans not for the first time under a distinguished visitor's inspection—for the Prince of Wales at the Town Hall. With all other reputable citizens the School has felt the magic possessed by this young heir to the greatest Empire of all time, and its loyalty has now gained some feeling of personal devotion. The Prince has asked that all schools should have an extra week's holiday, and none but a churl would analyse a princely request—our only doubt has been when to give it: the examination candidates cannot spare an extra week from their preparation, but for that it would have been added to the Michaelmas holidays. It, therefore, appears that next term shall end three days sooner than was intended, and the first term of next year start a little later so as to make up a full working week of extra holiday. We agree, including perhaps even the youngest of us, that holidays were long enough as originally fixed; we are only, however, honouring as it were a prince's cheque, as is our duty and delight.

Soon after last year's Speech Day, the School had the good fortune to win the All Schools' Athletic Competition, the cricket eleven drawing virtue from their surroundings—the recently opened memorial playing fields—put together between four and five hundred runs in the first school match played at Northbridge, and went on to win all their games before Christmas. In the early part of this year they were less successful, and will have to make up in the third term what they failed to achieve in the first. The second eleven won the championship of their grade last year, and have made a good start for this year. The G.P.S. Regatta, with its crowded river and the collision occurring when excitement was at its highest, was a memorable event. In the re-row on the Monday, T.K.S. won, receiving the sincere congratulations of us all on this splendid result of their first essay in an eight-oar; S.G.S. were a good second, and this school a good third. Football has made an extraordinary recovery: the team ended with four wins to their credit, and every match played has been fought hard to the finish. We shall commence next year's contest with a certainty that, win or lose, the team will play a fine game.

The improvement in our sports has been caused partly by the return of masters from the war, and partly by the better opportunities of practice on our splendid ground. Moreover, sport generally has been developed by the House system, under which each boy, whether day boy or boarder, is attached to one of the four Houses, and belongs to that House all the days of his school life. A magnificent Cup, only equalled by the Alexander Hardy House Cricket Cup, was given to the School towards the end of last year in memory of Brian Simpson, to be held for a term by the House gaining the highest aggregate in all the competitions. Other Cups have been given for rowing and shooting—football, swimming and boxing are yet to be provided for. There is plenty of interest caused by these competitions, and we hope that when more grounds are available, every boy in the school, including those who are not likely to become great players, will get a fair share of sport. As was right, the School House engraved its name on the Brian Simpson Cup for the third term of last year; and as is equally right, Robson House, presided over by the founder of the House sport system, engraved its name for the first term of this year. It is hoped that each House will have its turn and that no Cup will make too long a stay with any one House, as the whole object of the scheme is to have everybody playing some game and that not for himself but for his unit. Work suffers little in this school from the games a boy plays; rowing boys this year, through unusual circumstances, which the Amateur Rowing Association has guarded against for the future, did suffer, but the good they got from their particular sport, and their association with Mr. Ramsay will square accounts for them in the end. It has been said, sometimes that schools would be better generally with more work and less sport—at present a leaving certificate candidate must do about nine hours' work a day if he is going to win much success. Is it seriously suggested that he should work for twelve hours. "Public school training"—I quote from Mr. Pollock's article in the "Nineteenth Century" for July—"aims at the inculcation of clean feeling and dutiful thinking, of alacrity in work and play, of the wish to fulfil on injunction now very unfashionable with the mass of mankind: 'Whosoever thy hand findest to do, do it with thy might.'"

It is our good fortune to have on the staff at present, a small body of masters expert in the latest development of teaching boys to be independent and manage their own affairs. The science suffers perhaps in popularity from its terminology, and it will be some time before such words as "psychiatry," "inhibitions," and "complexes" are in general use; in fact some of us have reached quite advanced milestones without being aware how much harm our complexes and inhibitions have been doing us. But even sceptics admit that the practical results are remarkable: where a boy would once have blushed and stammered and have given an unintelligible account of what he was asked for, you will now see him stand up without embarrassment, and as the most ordinary thing in the world, give a lucid description of the matter so far as he knows it. What goods he possesses he will display to their best advantage. This attractive naturalness, provided it is combined with the antique virtues of industry and punctuality and attention to details of duty, has a great deal to commend it, and we hope that parents appreciate what is thus added to the old foundations. The most conservative of us have caught the infection and are glad of the opportunity to imitate the latest models.

Examination results have been up to the average, and thirty-two (32) boys gained leaving certificates, and sixty-two (62) intermediate certificates. We also note with pleasure the following successes of past or present boys: A. D. Welsh was bracketed first for the medical scholarship, L. G. Melville won the University geology prize and the mathematical scholarship, V. H. Treatt the law scholarship, and soon afterwards the Rhodes scholarship; E. Mander Jones won the valuable first prize given by the Navy League, for an essay on sea communications. We also offer our warm congratulations on his appointment to the Chair of English to Professor E. R. Holme, a member of the O.B.U., a former master of the School, and for many years a member of the Council and its honorary secretary.

I wish to acknowledge the courtesy with which the schools are treated by the Director of Education and the Board of Examiners who have listened sympathetically to our views on various matters, and in particular, have postponed, to their own inconvenience, the date of the leaving certificate examination. We should like a revival of the conferences which accompanied the transformation of the old examination system, as conducted by the University, into the present system, as conducted by the department. We should then urge that the intermediate standard should be made more equable in the various subjects. It may be safely said that all intermediate subjects are taught here to about the same standard of efficiency, or inefficiency, and there must be something wrong when in one subject, largely offered, a great number of "A" passes are given and in another hardly any. We sympathise with the difficulty of the Department in finding professional examiners for two or three thousand candidates, each offering six or more sets of papers; but we hope that a way will be found out of this difficulty. Another matter to which reference should be made is the great gulf fixed between intermediate and leaving certificate standards, which is far greater than the difference that used to separate the old University junior from the senior. For many boys it means three years' work, not two, and I hope that it is generally recognised, that a boy just managing to pass the intermediate, or even quite succeeding in that modest aim, needs, if he goes on to L.C. work, the longer period in which to cover the grounds.

It is with little readiness that I approach the question of school finance; the opportunity, however, of claiming the attention of a sympathetic audience should not be missed. The two great problems are school development to keep pace with the times, and the betterment of assistant masters' salaries. Under present conditions the honorary treasurer is just about able to strike a balance at the end of each year, any unforeseen expense would put him on the wrong side. Yet the two claims I have mentioned are insistent; we need a school hall, more class rooms, more playing fields, more pavilion accommodation, and the hundred and one aids to education detailed in an admirable paper read to the Teachers' Guild by the headmaster of the Sydney Grammar School. English schools, we learn, spend thousands a year on accessories (Mr. Sloman calls them necessaries) which we only know by hear say. As we heard that long list our hearts sank, and we found only little comfort in the reflection that after all Australian schools have not done so badly, for we knew such complacency to be fatal to progress, not in education only, but in every sphere of action. Even more pressing is the other need: State education can outbid us with State funds, and if the best men are to be engaged and kept for schools like this, then schools like this must be prepared to show reasonable prospects, not certainly huge salaries, which would defeat their own ends, but enough to make it possible for the idealist to indulge his idealism without finding himself far worse off than many of our friends and fellow citizens who earn their living as artisans, mechanical operators, and so on. The cure seems to lie in awakening public interest as to what kind of men should have charge of the rising generation; surely no country will be satisfied with any but the best, who will not, in every day words, go into the game merely for what there is in it, and believe they have done well by their neighbours when they have taught a certain number of boys for a certain number of hours, used up so many blue and red pencils and set their quota of detentions, in short when they have fulfilled the whole duty of a schoolmaster as it is not uncommonly considered. Most of our old boys think, most of their parents think, that these schools are worth keeping for the sake of their character, which should be much more important than their efficiency; but their characters will not remain the same if the best of the new men look elsewhere for their profession. Could the staff which Mr. Hodges left behind him have been granted eternal youth, we should do well, and I most gratefully acknowledge that in its subsequent appointments this school has been particularly fortunate; but a matter so important must not depend on fortune. All the great schools of England and most of the smaller ones depend just as much for their income on endowments as on fees, and the ordinary English upper middle class parent pays perhaps one half of the actual cost of his son's education. Sir Samuel McCaughey, whose munificent bequest was acknowledged last year, made a splendid beginning; might not many others in a much smaller way think of the pasts and futures of schools in which they are interested, when directing the ultimate uses to which their money is to be put. The wealthy might well do something of the same kind during their lives, and I see no reason why such donors should not exercise some direction over the use of their gifts. We are all confident of the School's future; with our Council, our old boys, our staff, our prefects and the rank and file of our community, it is impossible to be pessimistic.

During the term, Eric Burke, an old boy who had served with the Wireless Corps in Mesopotamia and Persia, gave a fine lecture, illustrated by his own splendid lantern slides, before the Governor and a crowded house. The whole gross proceeds were handed over by him to the Grounds Fund, which thus received £60. It is possible that other old boys may have talents of the same or similar kind, which they will be willing to devote to the good of the school.

We miss Mr. Linton's presence to-day, as it has been missed in class room and common room since he found it necessary to ask for long leave of absence, and we hope that he will rejoin next year with his health fully restored.

I am charged with a message to the School and to you all from Mr. and Mrs. Hodges, whose interest is as keen now as the day they left here some ten years ago; a fortnight seldom passes without a letter from one or both of them, and their unfailing sympathy and wise advice is largely responsible for the welfare of the School. It is hard to acknowledge duly the devoted service which the Council, whose President we hope soon to welcome back, gives to the affairs of the School; most of them are busy men, but from not one of them has ever been heard a murmur over the claims of time and trouble that the School makes on them. We are glad to be governed by a body who lead the way in voluntary service.

To my friends and colleagues I can offer only a most incomplete acknowledgment of their services and loyalty in and out of school, and assure them that the Council whose servant I am, is fully aware that the permanence of the character of this school depends on the possibility of retaining their services, and of securing recruits, able to develop into the same type of school masters as themselves, and able to become ornaments of a profession which is said to be amongst the worst paid and the best rewarded in the world.

THE CHAPEL.

Addresses have been given this term by the Rev. F. C. Philip, Dr. Bateman, the Rev. H. D. Peel and the Rev. J. W. Ferrier.

Open Sunday was fixed for Nov. 14, but had to be postponed owing to the Bishop of Armidale having to return home through a pressure of duties.

Since our last number, tablets have been erected in memory of Lieut. J. B. Wood, Major T. Morrell, M.C., and A. A. V. Walker, R.F.C., and Driver D. W. Walker.

On All Saints' Day there was an Early Celebration at 7.30, when the Rev. P. J. Sharp was Celebrant, assisted by the Revs. R. E. Freeth and D. Davies. There were 42 communicants.

Confirmation was given by the Lord Bishop of Armidale on Friday, Nov. 12th, at 2.15 p.m. The following were confirmed:—

On Sunday, November 14th, the newly confirmed made their first Communion. There were 66 communicants. The service was taken by the Rev. P. J. Sharp, assisted by the Rev. D. Davies.

The following have been baptized: Vivian Patrickson Williams, Peter Clement Burton Bradley, John Holtham Hamon Massie, Anne Hartwell Williams, Patricia Ruth Adams.

A large number of inquiries are made as to when the East window will be put in. It is hoped that the order will be sent to an English firm.

as soon as possible. It is to be in memory of all old boys who volunteered for the war. The subject is to be "The Crucifixion."

MEMORIAL CRICKET GROUND.

Since the last issue of the "Torch-bearer" the three tennis-courts on the western side of the pavilion have been finished and are now in use.

The Grounds Committee decided for the good of the School to carry on the preparation of the second area of 10½ acres. Tenders were called for the levelling of the whole block to a line below the buildings. A tender was accepted and the work is now well on its way. When finished it will provide two more cricket and three football fields, at the same time leaving sufficient space for more tennis courts. The school will then have fine "home grounds," and will be able to play twenty football matches if necessary on a Saturday.

This may seem a lot, but the grounds are most urgently required to carry out the sporting side of the school with success. After the winter the football area on the main oval was top-dressed, and a large amount of seed sown; this is now growing and the greater part of the grounds well grassed.

The Old Boys' Union have given £105 to the ground fund, but a great deal more money is required for completing the new work.

The Committee decided to send the following circular-letter to all Old Boys making an urgent appeal for funds:—

Dear Sir,

The Executive Committee of the Memorial Grounds at Northbridge, has now secured possession of the second block of 10½ acres, which adjoins the present ground. Plans have been drawn up to provide two more cricket and three football fields, which are urgently needed, as every boy who is physically fit takes part in organised games. To provide for these the school is divided into four houses, having a total of twenty eight cricket teams. Further there are ten outside teams which play on Saturday. The call on grounds is enormous in consequence.

The main oval has wonderfully improved, but no ground can be played on every day. Realising the difficulties which beset the School the Grounds Committee has decided to make large additional grounds, and a contract has been let for levelling the new area, removing and re-erecting old and erecting new boundary fences, storing 800 loads of top-dressing, etc., at a cost of £1640.

After finishing the main oval, making three tennis-courts, erecting scoring-board, picket fence, and half the pavilion, a sum of £800 remains in hand. At least another £1,500 will be needed to complete the new fields, lay water on and plant grass.

There are still many Old Boys who have not subscribed to this fund, which is establishing a fitting memorial to those who fell in the war. If every Old Boy were to subscribe £1/1/-, or even less, the required amount would be obtained without very great sacrifice on the part of any individual. A large number of Old Boys and friends of the School have contributed generously to the fund, and many have spent much time in connection with the formation of the grounds.

The Committee of Old Boys now makes a definite and urgent appeal to all fellow Old Boys to make a final effort to raise the amount required, and allow us to complete the grounds, which will be not only a most fitting and lasting memorial to the spirit of comradeship and self-sacrifice, but the finest of grounds where boys may learn to play the game and keep up the good name of the School, both within and without.

Yours faithfully,

J. HEDGES,

A. A. HEATH,

THE FALLS BY MOONLIGHT.

Darkness! Inky blackness! Nothing to be seen save an occasional glitter of silvery water, which, when it had gone, only made the darkness seem more intense.

Was the moon too shy to shed her silvery radiance over all, or was it that those dark clouds were too selfish to disperse and let us see the scene of inestimable beauty hidden by the darkness? Slowly the moon peeped out from behind the clouds, stretched over her pale face like some impenetrable veil, too thick to see through, but all the same thin and flimsy. As the moon came out of hiding and shed her pale radiance over the scene she had so jealously hidden from us, there lay spread out at our feet fairyland—true fairyland, such as no stage artist ever dreamed of producing.

Stretching away on either side of the cliff were dark, vast forests climbing daringly down to the little torrent which babbled and hissed over rock and crag, down deep valleys and past sleeping hamlets, until at last tired—like some love-sick swain—it left its devoted lover, the forest, and joined the “brimming river.”

Here hung a fairy necklace of glistening diamonds: hanging, trembling on the cliff's edge, frightened lest when it fell, oh, so far below into the darkness, it might be spoilt when it was dashed into spray on the cruel rocks.

There was a fairy rainbow, many coloured as ever, but pale and iridescent as the moonlight itself. It seemed to start from nowhere and just end everywhere—touching up that bare rock, showing the delicate mossy garden of lilies of the valley, lighting on some sweet bird's nest hidden under the overhanging rocks, showing up many coloured fish swimming in myriads of little miniature lakes and finally ending far down in the darkness on a foamy white mass of hissing water, where it died down, making the darkness darker than it was before.

Everywhere the air was full of the scent of flowers—the heavy perfume of honeysuckle blended with the odour of wild dog-roses. All was silent as the grave save for the ever-constant, melodious tinkle of the falling water.

Suddenly a nightingale commenced to sing. Starting in a low key it rose higher and higher, as though accompanying the water—still higher and louder still it shouted forth its summons to the world, “Come! come! see the beauty of nature,” Then its song was joined in with that of its mate: higher and higher, louder and louder, to a shrill crescendo, together they rose in unison: “Sing! sing of the beauty of nature and her handiwork.”

Then on all sides the song of triumphant joy was taken up by all the birds, and stronger grew the chorus and still more beautiful. Slowly, and unnoticed the moon disappeared and gave place to a streak of light in the east, which announced the coming day; but still the song was kept on till the full beauty of a summer's day had dawned.

ROWING.

The work this year started late, being delayed by the G.P.S. Sports, and by the repairing of the shed. We have now a very roomy and comfortable shed at Berry's Bay, with plenty of room for boats, etc., and a nice dressing room, with showers well removed from the main shed. At Gladesville, the dining room addition is well advanced, and this Christmas Camp should see us very well established in extremely comfortable, not to say palatial quarters.

When the House crews did finally get to work it was found that it was necessary for several men to change from strokeside to bowside, and the general result was by no means satisfactory. Vivers left, and Litchfield developed appendicitis, and the School House found itself unable to boat a crew for the House race proper. Amongst the new men may be noticed as giving promise, Gordon, Barnett, Todhunter, Gilfillan, Shields, Scholfield, Corin and Bright; these should form a very useful addition to the backbone provided by the House first crews for next year's school crews. A preliminary selection will be made at the end of this term, those selected will attend the Camp at Gladesville, starting on Monday, January 31st until February 9.

The House races were held at Gladesville on Saturday, November 20—the 2nd crew heats were decided on Wednesday 17, four crews competing. The results of the heats were as follows:—

1st Heat: Hodges House 1.

Robson House, 2.

2nd. Heat: Barry House, 1.

Robson House, 2.

On November 20th the following events were rowed:—

(1) House 2nd Fours (losers).

Robson and School Houses competed in this event, and the result was a win for School House by 4 lengths.

(2) House 2nd Crews. (Heat winners).

This was between Hodges House and Barry House, and resulted in a win for Barry House owing to the bad coxing of the Hodges House cox (G. Jones), who, for some reason, turned his boat off its course when in a winning position, giving Barry House a win by 3 feet.

(3) House Championship Fours.

This provided a splendid tussle over the whole course between Barry House and Hodges House, Robson House dropping back almost from the start. Hodges House did not get off the mark as smartly as the Barry crew, and yielded $\frac{3}{4}$ length in the first 50 yards of the race; but from then to the finish they held their opponents, who were rowing 35 to 28. The Barry cox held a very good course, but Hodges gave a few feet away at Kemp's shed by cutting the point a trifle fine and having to swing in afterwards. The result was a win for Barry House by 1 length.

Barry House: (Boundy (b), R. Sinclair 2, Hinder 3, Beer str., Ward cox.), 1.

Hodges House: (Osborne (b), Roberts 2, R. R. Sinclair 3, Rutherford str., Tress cox.), 2.

Robson House, 3.

The Committee desire to thank Mr. Ramsay for acting as judge, and F. D. Hixson for the convenience of forded to the starter by the use of his launch.

The results place Barry House as Champion Rowing House for the year, with Hodges second, Robson third, and School House fourth. The points to count in the House Cup are as follows:—

Barry	12	points.
Hodges	8	„
Robson	5	„
School	0	„

THE DEBATING SOCIETY.

During this term our Debating Society has been mainly concerned in testing its powers against the societies of other schools. Louat, Bellingham and Gibson were chosen to represent the School. So ably have they debated that we now stand in the position of having won the G.P.S. Debating Competition.

Our first debate was against St. Ignatius, the subject being that "Socialism would be for the advancement of the individual." In this debate we supported the negative. The speaking on both sides was particularly good, and the debate was one of the best of the season. The judges were of the opinion that our debating powers were superior. Having beaten St. Ignatius, we had less trepidation in meeting St. Joseph's to discuss the "Abolition of State Parliaments." Here we had a comparatively easy win, but, nevertheless, the debate was not without interest.

We had now to tackle the most difficult debate of all, that against Newington, who were the winners in the other group of Schools—(Grammar, High School, Newington and Armidale). The subject of this final debate was that the "Influence of the war had made for the progress of mankind." We had to uphold the negative. The speaking on both sides was remarkably good, and it is regrettable that there was not a larger roll-up of boys to hear the debate. The judges found some difficulty in coming to a decision; but after mature consideration, they decided that we had won the debate and therefore won the competition.

Louat, who had the honour of being leading speaker in the all-schools debate against the University, is an accomplished speaker who has on all occasions done a good deal to lead his team to victory. He is at times inclined to sacrifice argument to rhetoric, but that defect will be remedied with the maturity of years. In Bellingham and Gibson, we have two quite successful speakers who have improved very much with practice. We shall expect greater things from them next year.

It is to be hoped that our victory in the debating competition this year will create more interest throughout the school in the Debating Society. We hope next year to have more outside debates, and if possible to run two teams. All boys who are entering professions where public speaking is in any degree necessary, must recognise the value of debating.

Everyone interested in the Public Schools Debating Competition must offer their heartiest thanks to Mr. Louat for having offered a trophy to be competed for by the Great Public Schools Debating Societies.

ATHLETIC SPORTS MEETING, 1920.

The twenty-ninth annual meeting took place on the Memorial Grounds, Northbridge, on Wednesday, September 29th. It was in all respects a most successful gathering. The weather was perfect, and there was a large attendance of friends, among whom were a good number of old boys, who, in many cases, had come from a long distance. The competitions were very keen, and the finish of the open-hurdles was extremely exciting, Edwards just winning from Hixson and establishing a new school record of 16 and two-fifth seconds; another school record was broken by S. M. Smith, who jumped 4ft. 8in. in the under 14 event. Both Edwards and Smith further lowered their records at the G.P.S. meeting, the former winning the hurdles against a strong wind in 16 and three-tenth secs., and the latter breaking the G.P.S. record with a jump of 4ft. 10 $\frac{1}{4}$ inches. For the first time the team races represented the various houses and the innovation proved highly successful. The Senior Shield and Headmaster's Cup was won by F. W. Edwards, with 28 points; F. D. A'Hixson being runner-up with 15 points. The Junior Shield and Mr. Randel Carey's Cup was won by A. H. Beer (20 points), H. Pannifex being second (15 points). The Cup presented by Mr. J. P. Hardy for the championship under 14, was won by D. A. Warden (7 points), with L. S. Bannister (6 points) second.

A Cup was presented to F. W. Edwards by the Sports Club for winning the Senior Shield three times in succession, and to C. L. Mazoudier by Dr. Donald Smith, as the best school competitor under 16 at the G. P. S. Meeting.

The officials were as follows:—Committee, The Headmaster (President); Rev. D. Davies, A. D. Hall,

THE G.P.S. ATHLETIC SPORTS.

The G.P.S. Sports, held on October 9th, will long remain in the memory of those who had the good fortune to be present, for, as regards attendance, exciting struggles for victory, and noise, they probably surpassed all previous contests. For the first time each school was represented by competitor only in each event, therefore, as there were no heats, all the events were crammed into one afternoon's racing and every event was a final one. Although we had to acknowledge the superiority of the Sydney Grammar School team, S.C.E.G.S. came out of it with considerable credit and a good percentage of the honours of the day. F. W. Edwards stood out as the greatest athlete of the year, winning with ease the 220 yards in the excellent time of 23 1-5secs., the 120 yards Hurdles with greater ease in 16 3-10 secs, both events against a strong wind, and the 440 yards after a desperate struggle, in 53 3-5 secs. In this race he went straight out for the lead; after 100 yards, MacFadyen, (last year's champion) challenged him, and for 200 yards a terrific contest ensued which ended in Edwards drawing away and then steadying down. Suddenly he was surprised to find Bayldon, of S.G.S. at his side, and he was just able to breast the tape before his rival. We congratulate Edwards on his determination and grit, as well as on his success against such a strong team. Crossman, who, owing to a strain, had had very little training, was only beaten for the 100-yards Championship by inches by the veteran S.G.S. representative, Munro. He also won the Broad Jump with 20ft. 2½in., showing great consistency—his worst effort was 19ft 5in., and he twice did over 20ft. It was unfortunate that we could not make more use of Hixson, or use him in the Hurdles, but his win in the 440 yards was a sterling performance, showing great pace and judgment in 54 4-5 s. Our weakness lay with our teams, the fact being that we had not time enough to work up distance runners except Rutherford and F. C. Smith. Rutherford ran a good mile, but he met a better man in Hetherington, of T.K.S., while Smith, in the second division, proved himself a "miler" of considerable promise: swinging out with long easy strides he came to the front in the last lap, fought out a bitter struggle with Gardiner, of S.G.S., and gained a well-deserved win. The improvement in milers and half-milers was very marked, and in these events long and careful training is necessary to obtain a good place. Archer, who took Doyle's place in the Shot Putt, gained us a point with 34 feet 7½ inches.

In the Junior Competition also, S.C.E.G.S. obtained second place, winning the 220 yards under 16, with Mazoudier, who was 2nd also in the 100 yards, the Teams' Race—now regarded as a very important and interesting event—and the High Jump under 14, in which S. M. Smith raised the record by 2 inches, clearing 4ft. 10½in. at the first attempt. Clegg secured 2 points in the High Jump under 16. We offer our hearty congratulations to S.G.S. on winning the Senior Shield, and to Newington College on gaining the Junior Shield for the second year in succession. Combining Senior and Junior points, S.C.E.G.S. held first place.

The points obtained by the various schools were as follows:—

Senior division: Sydney Grammar School, 58; Church of England Grammar School, 48; Newington, 28; The King's School, 20½; Scots' College, 15; Sydney High School, 13; St. Ignatius' College and the Armidale School, 11 each; St. Joseph's College, 4½.

Junior: Newington, 48½; Church of England Grammar School, 36; King's School, 25; St. Joseph's College, 22; Sydney Grammar School and Sydney High School, 21 each; Scots' College, 9; Armidale School, 4; St. Ignatius' College, 3½.

RIFLE SHOOTING.

The shooting of the first team was not up to their practice form and the School was able to do no better than tie with T.K.S. for third place. The premiership was won by S.G.S., who won the Buchanan Shield and the Schools' Challenge Shield, the Rawson Cup going to T.K.S.

The School scores were as follows:

The second team won the 2nd grade premiership easily, S.G.S. coming second. As the score (467) equalled the record made by S.G.S. II a year ago, and the 500 yards shoot took place in a blinding rain squall, the performance was a creditable one. Special mention should be made of McGregor's possible and of the fact that the whole team made 30 or over at 200 yards.

The term has been a very successful one, and the team has regained the form which it lost early in the year. In the three Competition matches four runs short of 900 have been scored, and in one of the three the School batted on a wet and dangerous wicket. Three centuries have been made: Boazman, 125, and Manchee 122 against The King's School, and Salmon 106 against Sydney High School, when Manchee failed by only 8 runs to reach his century. The batting has been sound, and as a whole the team has been good and has shown that the innings has not ended until the last man is out. There have been two very fine partnerships: the first in the King's match, when Boazman and Manchee added 171 for the 4th wicket; and later in the High School match, when Salmon and Edwards put on 122 for the 9th wicket. The attack has been successful on each occasion, a total of 303 runs being scored against the team in the Competition matches of the term. The fielding has been excellent throughout, and above all the team has been most ably captained. Mr. A. B. S. White's bat for the aggregate number of runs obtained in Competition matches for the year, goes to G. Manchee with a total of 385 at an average of 42.

The School bat for the greatest number of wickets was won by L. L. S. Barr, with 32 wickets on an average of 12.5 per wicket. We offer our congratulations to Sydney Grammar School on again winning the Premiership and Newington for their fine effort to wrest it from it which failed only by 5 runs.

The following team was selected to represent the Great Public Schools against the N.S.W. Cricket Association. :—

E. W. Newman (c); R. Bardsley, N.C.; H. T. Boazman, J. W. Manchee, L. L. S. Barr, S.C.E.G.S.; J. E. Pratten, J. T. Garvin, A. A. Campbell-Jones, J. Jagelman, S.G.S.; V. G. Wesche, T.K.S.; R. Campbell, S.I.C.; and K. McCredie, S.H.S., 12th man.

Played on Cricket Ground No. 2., on Wednesday, November 17th and won by N.S.W.C.A. by 178 runs on the 1st innings.

The School v. The King's School.

Played at Parramatta on Saturday, October 30, and won by 305 runs on the first innings.

The day was a beautiful one, and the wicket perfect. Boazman won the toss from Wesche, and sent McIntosh and Manchee to the wickets. The chief feature of the opening partnership, which produced 41, was the running between the wickets. Many short ones were sneaked, and although some were too short, they had the effect of upsetting the fielding, which did not recover until after lunch. At 41 McIntosh stepped in front to Ryrie, and was out for 18. Bucknell played his usual steady and faultless innings of 19, before he was caught at point through altering his mind.

Manchee and Boazman became associated in a partnership of 171 runs. Manchee was not quite covering in his off shots and some in consequence were flying; Boazman, however, was batting completely up to form and driving very hard. At lunch time they were unseparated and the score stood at 3 wickets for 251 runs—Manchee 120 and Boazman 61. Shortly after lunch the partnership ended when Manchee, going back to a slow ball from Ryrie, was bowled. 4 for 265. Manchee had played a good innings, but not a chanceless one.

Shortly after his partner was out, Boazman reached his century with a hard square cut for four. He went to 125 before jumping out to Ryrie he missed and was stumped by Wesche. His innings was an excellent one, showing freedom and power. His drives were particularly clean and hard. He had strokes all round the wicket, and played different types of bowling with great confidence. Tyrrell batted soundly for 31, cutting and driving with considerable force. Smith 33 was careful and safe, but was slow on his feet to the slow bowlers. Salmon, 38 not out, played a very good innings, showing a number of different strokes which were well timed and hard.

The King's school opened their innings at ten minutes past four with Wesche and Watford, but a disaster soon overtook the team and five wickets fell for 28—Barr had taken 5 wickets for 9 runs. Hetherington and Evans became associated in a partnership, and the score mounted to 142 before the innings closed. Hetherington played a very forceful game, and his 45 runs were made by hard hitting at a time when they were badly needed. It was a very creditable performance indeed. Evans (39, not out), also played a good innings, and the pair made a fine effort to pull the team together. For the School the slow bowlers, Barr and Salmon, got most of the wickets, obtaining 5 and 2 respectively, and Harris and Boazman one each.

The School v. St. Joseph's College.

Played at Northbridge on Saturday, November 6, and won by 41 runs on the first innings.

Heavy rain fell during the Friday night and early on Saturday morning, soaking the wicket and leaving pools of water on it at 10.30, in consequence no start could be made till 12 o'clock. St. Joseph's won the toss and sent the School in on a dangerous wicket which bumped badly. Luckily St. Joseph's had no fast bowler, who would have been fatal on such a wicket. Both McIntosh and Bucknell were run out before lunch owing to the heaviness of the ground which made short runs impossible. For about an hour after dinner the bowlers got a good deal of help from the wicket and the innings closed for 120, a very fair score under the conditions. Manchee batted solidly for 48, and was caught in the outfield, attempting to drive a ball which came through slowly.

Wolstenholme played carefully until he was overcome with the desire to hit the slow bowler out of the ground. For St. Joseph's College, Ryan got four wickets, but scarcely used the wicket to advantage although at times he kicked. Flannery, with three wickets for 42, bowled well and turned a good deal from the leg, but with the exception of these, St. Joseph's did not appear to have enough bowlers.

The wicket rolled out fairly well between the innings and was easy. Ryan (27) and O'Connell (25) alone reached double figures, chiefly owing to the bowling of Edwards. Ryan was much safer than O'Connell, who was repeatedly beaten; however, they took the score to 64, for the fourth wicket, and for a time offered considerable resistance. Edwards bowled both in the same over, which also yielded another wicket. His bowling was extremely good, and had the batsmen in difficulties from the start. He sent down 11 overs—4 of which were maidens—and took 4 wickets for 13 runs. With only the small score of 120 to be reached, Boazman handled his bowlers with great judgment and placed his field perfectly.

The School v. Sydney High School.

Played at Northbridge on Saturday, November 13, and won by 247 runs on the first innings.

The wicket was good and very hard. Boazman won the toss and opened the innings with McIntosh and Manchee; the former, after making two, kept up his reputation of being run out. A north-easterly breeze made the ball swing away and Stenning, making the best use of it, got Bucknell out for 19, and Boazman for 18. Both batted better than their runs show.

Manchee was still not out at lunch time, but, as in the King's match, did not survive long afterwards, going at a ball on the off from McCredie he was well caught in slips for 92. His innings was not a chanceless one, but at the same time was very good. His shots were clean and hard and showed greater mastery of the cut than his previous big innings had shown. He has the making of a very fine batsman, with a sound defence, hard drive and very much improved square and back cut. With eight wickets down for 172, Salmon and Edwards became associated in a 9th wicket partnership which yielded 122 runs. Both played a faultless innings, Salmon's was a brilliant one and showed the makings of a master batsman with a sound defence and a great variety of shots. Edwards started slowly, but livened as he gained the upper hand of the bowling. His batting was the best he has shown during the year. When the partnership was broken, Salmon was still 16 short of his century. Barr held his end up, and Salmon went to 106 before being caught at point. He batted brilliantly, and while he had been at the wickets the score had mounted from 135 to 329. For High School, Stening bowled very well, getting six wickets for 111; he kept a good length and made the best use of the breeze to swing away.

With the exception of Bain, none of the visitors offered very much resistance, and their innings yielded 82 runs. Bain batted well for 22 and took advantage of the loose ones. For the School, Boazman bowled extremely well with 6 overs, 4 maidens, 9 runs, 3 wickets. Edwards, Barr, and Salmon each took two wickets.

CHARACTERS OF THE XI.

H. T. Boazman—A very efficient Captain who keeps his head, knows how to place his field and when to change his bowlers and has the complete confidence of his team. It is very largely owing to his captaincy that the team has done so well this term. It was due to the handling of his bowlers, and to the excellent bowling of Edwards, that the St. Joseph's match was won. During the term he has regained his last year's batting form, has improved his strokes, and become more vigorous, is strengthening his on shots and quickly mastering the leg hook with force and quickness; is a more polished batsman than last year. His 125 against T.K.S. was a very fine innings, showing a versatility of strokes with a very powerful off and straight drive. An interesting batsman, who goes at the bowling, and has realised his earlier promise. As medium to fast bowler he has been very successful; keeps a good length; nips fast off the wicket and swings; has bowled consistently well with 21 wickets in competition matches at a cost of 8.8 per wicket. An excellent field. 1st XI 1918; Colours, 1919-1920; All Schools' 1st XI, 1919-1920.

G. W. Manchee—As opening batsman has been very consistent, having an average of 42 in all competition matches of the year. Has shown remarkable improvement on last year's form; is quickly gaining control of the square cut, which he brings off very effectively. Drives and hooks hard, and is beginning to back cut cleanly and safely. Is still a little slow on his feet. His 122 against The King's School was a good innings, but really not as safe as his two later innings—48 against St. Joseph's, and 92 against Sydney High School—when his shots were cleaner and cricket extremely good. Has an average of 87 for the competition matches of this term, and shows great promise as a batsman; is young and with more experience should develop into a brilliant and versatile batsman. A magnificent out field. 1st XI, 1919; colours, 1920; All Schools' 1st XI, 1920.

L. S. Barr—Slow bowler; for his first whole year in the XI has done extremely well, and never failed to get wickets. On several occasions his bowling has completely mastered a team's batting. Breaks both ways and uses the straight one with discretion; ns apt sometimes to over-pitch his leg-break but on his day is a very dangerous bowler and is always to be treated with respect and care. He has gained greatest number of wickets for the year, getting 32 wickets at an average cost of 12.5. A greatly improved batsman and sound field. 1st XI, 1919; colours, 1920; All Schools' 1st XI, 1920.

B. M. Salmon—A new member, and only left-hand batsman in the team. Has done brilliantly in every way. A most promising batsman with strokes all round the wicket, a sound hard drive and good hook. His 106 against Sydney High School was an excellent innings, showing great versatility and a sound defence and plenty of dash. His 38 not out against the King's School was made in the same faultless style. A good left-hand slow bowler, who breaks both ways and uses his head. A safe field. Colours, 1920.

A. S. Wolstenholme—A batsman who is likely at any time to make a century; has a good defence, and when he gets going is very aggressive; is rather anxious to make runs too quickly. His 125 against the Scots' College, earlier in the year, was made by very fine cricket, with powerful drives both to the on and off side, with clean hard shots to leg and third man. Has developed a finished late cut, which he uses to effect; a nery starter—which has prevented him from following up his first century with further big scores; a useful change bowler, who gathers considerable pace and swings. A magnificent out field. 1st XI, 1919; colours, 1920.

J. D. A. Bucknell—A very consistent batsman with a considerable number of strokes, perhaps the best of which is a late cut which he brings off well. Generally bats perfectly for about 20, but seems unable to run into large figures. Has improved his style considerably and is much finer than last year. With more experience should develop into a fine batsman. Has a sound defence and has always batted early in the innings, when the bowling is fresh. An excellent field. 1st XI, 1919; colours, 1920.

N. D. McIntosh, wicket-keep, has improved very much behind the stumps; and should become an efficient and finished wicket-keep. Has not been very successful as a run-getter, being frequently run-out through attempting to sneak runs with Manchee with whom he opens the innings. Their running between wickets has been extremely good at times, and especially in The King's match. Does not use his left foot well in batting; when he rectifies this, he should become a good, sound opening batsman. Colours, 1919-1920.

F. W. Edwards—A medium to fast bowler, who at times has bowled very well, especially against St. Joseph's College (4 for 13); swings both ways and develops a fair amount of pace. Generally a fair batsman, who times the flight of the ball badly. Colours, 1918, 1919, 1920.

R. G. O. Harris has been a disappointing batsman and has failed to get going; when he does, is a hard hitter with a powerful drive. He also finds it difficult to time the flight of the ball chiefly through not getting his bat quickly enough out of the crease. A useful change medium-pace bowler who has a good length, but generally has not been very successful. Rather slow in the field. Colours, 1919, 1st XI, 1920.

B. Tyrrell—A promising batsman, who is quickly learning his strokes; has a good cut and off drive, and with more experience should become a sound opening bat. An excellent field on the on side. 1st XI, 1920.

R. A. Rawling—A young batman of considerable promise, hits very hard but is over anxious to score. At times has batted well, but wants a lot of experience to choose his ball and cultivate restraint. An excellent field at cover point. 1st XI 1920.

2nd ELEVEN.

The 2nd XI succeeded in retaining the premiership shield, which they have now won for three successive years. Owing to a defeat by St. Joseph's 2nds, it was necessary to decide the competition by a play-off with S.G.S., which resulted, after a day and a half's play, in a win for our team by six wickets. The batting was rather patchy, the only outstanding performance being Grieve's first-rate innings of 90 in the deciding match and 20 on a bad wicket against S.J.C., and McNamara's 43 against T.K.S. The bowling mostly fell to two players—Bennett, who has developed into a good leg-break bowler with plenty of break and nip, and Wakelin, who varied his medium-fast pace with an occasional "googly" which proved especially deadly in the last match against S.G.S. In all competition matches this term, Wakelin obtained 22 wickets at an average of 8.5, Bennett 22, at an average of 11.7; and Grieve 11, at an average of 8.

In all matches this term Wakelin got 31 wickets, Bennett, 35, and Grieve 13. The fielding on the whole has been good, the ground fielding safe, though not very clean, and the catching very fair. Bennett i secured the batting aggregate for the year, and Wakelin the greatest number of wickets.

Competition Matches.

v. T.K.S. II.—Won by 35 runs, on the 1st innings. School, 140 and 2 for 49: (McNamara, 43; Bennett ii, 17; Bennett i 17; Kater, 14; Wakelin, 11; and in the 2nd innings: Pile, 28; Maschwitz, 10). T.K.S.: 105 and 114. Bowling: Bennett i, 10 for 111; Greive, 5 for 37; Wakelin, 2 for 38.

v. S.J.C. II.—Lost by 46. School, 57 and 90: (1st innings: Greive, 20; Pile, 14; 2nd innings: Bennett i, 23; Hickson, 18; Bennett ii, 11; Maschwitz, 10 not out). S. J. C.: 106 and 87. Bowling: Wakelin, 11 for 60; Greive, 5 for 39; Bennett i, 3 for 49.

v. S.G.S.—Final play-off, won by six wickets: School, 194 and 4 for 45: (1st innings, Greive, 90; Smith, 32; Wakelin, 21; Bennett i, 16; 2nd innings, Wakelin, 23 not out; Smith, 10 not out). S. G. S. 100 and 126. Bowling: Wakelin, 9 for 87; Bennett i, 9 for 97. The outstanding features of this match were the fine partnership of Grieve and Smith, who put on 120 for the fourth wicket in the first innings; and the consistent bowling of Wakelin and Bennett i.

Non-Competition Matches.

v. Stott and Heare's—Won.

v. S.G.S. II—Won by 18. School, 147: Wakelin, 25; Pile, 23; Smith, 21; Harding, 13; Bennett ii, 13 not out). S.G.S., 129. Bowling: Bennett i, 5 for 59; McNamara, 2 for 17; Wakelin, 2 for 48.

v. Barker College—Won by 150 on the 1st innings. School, 222: (Maschwitz, 95; Bennett, 29; Smith, 17; Bennett ii, 16; McNamara, 14; Hickson, 13). B.C., 72 and 171. Bowling: Bennett i, 7 for 93; Wakelin, 6 for 75; Greive, 2 for 24; Crossman, 2 for 36.

3rd ELEVEN.

On the whole the third eleven has had a successful term. Two matches were lost, T.K.S. beating us by seven runs, the remaining games were won rather comfortably. Cadwallader ii, Reading and Doyle are all decidedly promising batsmen; White is rapidly improving as a fast bowler; Cadwallader i and ii, and Dixon i are all likely to become useful bowlers. Gregory, who is leaving, has bowled consistently, but Yeldham has not had as much success as was expected in matches: he has bowled well at the nets, but failed to keep a length in matches. Verbrugghen, behind the sticks, has done much good work. The fielding—than which there is no more important department in cricket—has been very keen and generally good. Reading was a very satisfactory captain, showing considerable aptitude for this important and responsible position.

v. S.G.S. III.—Won by 107 on 1st innings: (Gregory, 38; Hickson, 29; Reading, 26; Lang, 25; White, 27). Gregory and Yeldham, 4 wickets each, bowled well.

v. Cranbrook.—Rain stopped play very early.

v. T.K.S. III.—Lost by 7: (Reading, 33; Doyle, 26; Cadwallader ii, 22). Gregory 7 wickets, Yeldham 5 wickets, Cadwallader i 5, bowled best.

v. St. Joseph's III.—Won by innings and 22 runs: (Reading, 23; White ii and Verbrugghen, 20; Cadwallader ii, 15). Gregory, White, and Cadwallader i shared the wickets.

v. S.H.S. II.—Won by innings and 99 runs: (Doyle, 33 not out; Chapman, 24; Kater, 26;). Gregory 8 wickets, White 7 and Dixon i, 3 took most of the wickets.

v. T.S.C. II.—Won by 3 runs on 1st innings. Doyle, 55.

4th ELEVEN.

Some results were not sent in time for the "Torch-Bearer."

v. Barker College.—Won.

v. Malvern.—Won. (Wormold 31, Gosling, 12 not out; Gosling 4 wickets for 8 runs; Wilkinson, 3 for 5.

5th ELEVEN.

v. Sydney Grammar School.—Won by 35 runs on 1st innings. For School: Walker, 20 not out; Manchee ii, 13; Ralston ii, 12 not out. Hardy took 5 wickets, Carter ii, 2; King ii, 2.

v. The School, Chatswood.—Drawn. Lang ii, 20 not out; O'Kane, 13; Read, 12; O'Kane took 3 wickets, Goddard 2, Helder 4.

The annual Old Boys' Day was held on Friday, October 22nd. At the 9.15 a.m. Chapel there was a service for the admission of Prefects, and an address was given by the Rev. H. D. Peel, of the Brotherhood of the Good Shepherd. There was a fair attendance at the cricket match at Northbridge, which was won by the Old Boys. The Union was represented by a very strong eleven, which included Messrs A. B. S. White, J. M. Gregory, R. C. M. Boyce, N. Y. Deane, V. Y. Deane, H. I. Massie, Dr. Hordern and Dr. Tozer. An account of the game will be found under "Cricket."

At 6.45 p.m., over 190 sat down to tea on the invitation of the Headmaster and Mrs. Purves. Mr. Macartney Abbott, on behalf of the Union, thanked Mr. and Mrs. Purves for their hospitality. The annual meeting, owing to the large number that attended, was held in the School Hall—the President, Mr. Purves, being in the chair. The Annual Report was read by the Hon. Sec., and adopted. It pointed out that there were now 96 life members and 870 ordinary members. It congratulated Mr. Purves on his return to duty in April, after six months rest, greatly benefited in health. It gave a hearty welcome to the Old Boys, who had been to the war, most of whom had now returned. It pointed out that the Memorial Grounds had been used by the school for the last twelve months; the front part of the pavilion had been erected, and it was hoped that subscriptions would be forthcoming to finish it, and also to form the second oval, which would contain three additional grounds for cricket or football. Over £4,000 had already been subscribed and spent, but much more money was still urgently needed. Congratulations were tendered to V. H. Treatt, on being elected Rhodes Scholar, and to Professor E. R. Holme on his appointment to the Chair of English. The Committee found it impossible to adequately express to Mr. Allan Ramsay its gratitude for his devoted and unselfish efforts in coaching the school crews, and also tendered its best thanks to Mr. Keith Williams and Mr. F. W. Hixson for giving up so much of their time to assist the school rowing. It also desired to express its great obligation to Mr. Russell Sinclair for the magnificent boat-shed erected at Gladesville and named the "Eric Sinclair Memorial Shed."

The Balance Sheet as printed in the August number of "Torch-bearer" was passed. The hon. treasurer, in his interim report, pointed out that there were now 96 life-members and in addition 422 had already paid up for the year ending May, 1921, but owing to the increased expenditure it was necessary that those unpaid should send their subscription as soon as possible. If members would send their subscription promptly, there would be a large sum saved annually in postage, which, during the year, has been a very heavy item in the expenses of the Union, and it would also very much lighten the work of the officials. The receipts for the year, so far have amounted to £155, but the expenditure has reached £190. The treasurer urged that the Old Boys' Scholarship should be increased to £30 to make it on an equality with the Council's Scholarship. This was referred to the incoming Committee, as also was the amount which the Union ought to contribute for the publication of the "Torch-bearer."

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, The Headmaster; Vice-Presidents, Messrs E. I. Robson, C. H. Hodges, R. W. Carey, A. B. S. White, Colonel A. H. Moseley, A. D. Hall, Keith Williams, R. J. A. Massie, Rev. I. D. Armitage; Hon. Secretary, Mr. H. H. I. Massie; Assistant Hon. Secretaries, Messrs. H. W. T. Chenhall and A. A. Heath; Hon. Treasurer, Rev. D. Davies; Hon. Auditor, Mr. N. Y. Deane.

The following were elected members of the Committee:—Messrs R. C. M. Boyce, A. H. Curlewis, H. H. Dixon, J. F. Fraser, P. J. Heath, Dr. G. Antill Pockley, J. Lee Pulling, H. F. Wilson and K. B. Voss.

It was decided to make a donation of one hundred guineas to the Memorial Sports Ground, and authority was given to the Committee to add another sum, not exceeding £100, towards the same object if the funds of the Union would allow.

The President referred to the Chapel East Window, which was to be erected in memory of all Old Boys who had served in the war. The following donations were received at the meeting:—The Headmaster, £10; Mr. Randal Carey, £5/5/0; Mr. Gavin Ralston, £10/10/0; and the Rev. D. Davies, £5/5/0; Dr. A. H. Moseley £1/1/0; Messrs J. K. and C. Eaton, £5/5/0; Mr. N. A. Gullick, £1/1/0; Mr. A. H. Curlewis, £1/1/0. A full list of subscriptions to-date will be found under "Chapel."

The portrait of the Headmaster, painted by Mr. Norman Carter, was presented to Mr. Purves by Mr. A. B. S. White on behalf of the Union. He pointed out the great work done by Mr. Purves since he came to the school, and of the warm interest he had always taken in the doings of the Union.

The Committee has resolved to increase the Old Boys' Scholarship to £30 for next term, and to increase its contribution for "Torch-Bearer" to £50.
