A dramatic entertainment was given in the School Hall on Saturday, April 2, when members of the School House, assisted by Miss Pulling, produced the one-act farcical comedy "Struck It Rich." The production, which was under the direction of Mr. Shaw, was very successful, and was witnessed by a large number of boys and friends of the school. Several other entertainments of a similar character will be given during the year.

Confirmation will be given by the Archbishop in the Chapel on Thursday, November 3rd.

The School received on April 27th from the Australian War Museum as a war trophy, No. 331 75 mm. gun (long), originally a field gun and converted to anti-aircraft, captured by the First Australian Light Horse Regiment during the operations at Amman in Palestine on September 25, 1918. The gun will be placed in a suitable position close to the main entrance gates.

The following annual benefactions from 'Q' have been received by the Rev. D. Davies.—East Window Fund £1/15/-; Athletic Sports, £1/-/-; Hospital and Missions, £1/-/-; Library, £1/-/-.

The Treasurers of the Funds mentioned beg to acknowledge receipt of the various sums, and to express their appreciation of the loyal and long-continued help from an Old Boy of many years ago.

The Treasurer of the East Window Fund acknowledges with many thanks a further donation of £12/10/- from his Honor Judge Backhouse; and the Treasurer of the Memorial Playing Fields Fund acknowledges a further donation of the same value from the same good friend of the School.

Congratulations to L. G. Melville on being bracketed first for the University Second year Scholarship in Mathematics, and to W. R. Dean on being bracketed first for the Matriculation Scholarship in the same subject.

Edgar and Rupert Palmer, O.B.U., have presented to the Library a fine collection of books, which are greatly appreciated.

In the list of Old Boys at the University, published in our last issue, the name of Mr. Eric Smith was omitted.

The net proceeds (£10) from last year's sales of "Blue and White" have been handed by the editors, Bellingham and Gilfillan, to the honorary treasurer of the Memorial Playing Fields Fund.

Noel McIntosh has presented a handsome Cup for the House Football Competitions. This gift is greatly appreciated and brings the number of House Cups up to five. Cups are still wanted for athletics, swimming and boxing.

T. Iredale, B.Sc., has been nominated for the science research scholarship offered by the Royal Commissioners of the Exhibition of 1851, for the current year. This scholarship is awarded to a student of three years' standing for the prosecution of study and research in some branch of science, with a view of developing the manufactures and industries of his country.

In our last issue the Cup for the best athlete under sixteen was stated to have been given by Major Donald Smith, in mistake for Mr. Eric Smith (O.B.U.), who has given it for several years.

We welcome on the Staff this term Messrs. H. L. McLoskey, B.A., Syd., A.S. Sams, B.A., Syd.; E. J. Clinch, B.A., Syd.; and W. S. Hool, Syd. Uni.; and we bid farewell to Messrs. Gibson and Eddy who have resigned their positions on the Staff. Before their departure they were presented by the Headmaster on behalf of the Staff with small tokens of the esteem in which they were held by their colleagues.

THE JAMES BLACKWOOD MEMORIAL LABORATORIES.

The new laboratories have now been completed, and the members of the Science side of the school are able to do their work in a way which makes the memories of past years seem like an unpleasant dream. Two fully equipped laboratories, one for chemistry and one for physics, take the place of the old combined laboratory and classroom; each one contains six benches which will accommodate six boys at each with room to spare. The benches are fitted with lockers and drawers, and four gas taps are on the top of each. In the chemistry laboratory the benches each have, in addition to the gas fittings, a large porcelain sink in the centre with water-tap above. Numerous cupboards provide plenty of room for apparatus, and the large fume-chambers allay the apprehension which non-scientific members of the community always feel with regard to chemical fumes. In the physics room we are able to have a great deal of the apparatus for mechanics, etc., fitted up permanently, so that the maximum amount of work may be done in the minimum of time, and the same remarks apply to many experiments in the other branches of the subjects.

We are very proud of our new laboratories; may we never forget all that they represent.

THE CHAPEL.

Open Sunday was on March 13, when the address was given by the Bishop of Bathurst. During the service he dedicated tablets in memory of Alan Alexander Wilson Walker, William Douglas Wilson Walker, Frank Taylor, John Clegg Taylor, Oliver Clegg Taylor, John Butler Wood, and Throsby Morrell.

Addresses have been given this term by the acting-Chaplain, the Headmaster, Mr. J. L. Pulling, Rev. F. W. Harvey (Bush Church Aid Society), Mr. J. O. Harris (Anzac Sunday), Mr. H. H. Dixon (Anzac Day).

The Anniversary Sunday will be on May 1st. The Archbishop as usual will take the early Celebration at 8 a.m. and preach at the 10.45 a.m. service.

With regard to the East Window, which is to be a memorial to all Old Boys who volunteered for the war, the acting-Chaplain has written to Mr. M. J. Dawson, an Old Boy, who is in touch with the leading artists in England, to obtain an estimate of the probable cost.

Confirmation will be given by the Archbishop on November 3rd. Classes will start early next term.

On Anzac Day there was a crowded chapel at 9.30 a.m. The service consisted of a celebration of the Holy Communion, the celebrant being the Rev. R. E. Freeth, assisted by the acting-chaplain. There were 97 communicants. The address was given by Mr. H. H. Dixon. On the previous day (Anzac Sunday) the address was given by Mr. J. O. R. Harris. On both occasions there was a commemoration of the fallen, especially of our 127 Old Boys, who had given their lives for their King and country.

MEMORIAL GROUNDS.

April 1st, 1921.

At the last Annual General Meeting it was decided to proceed with the preparation of further playing fields at Northbridge. Since then the work has advanced considerably, and the levelling of two more cricket or three football grounds is now well on the way to completion. When these grounds are finished, which will be before the end of this year, the Memorial Grounds will include the Main Oval, two full-sized grounds and three tennis courts. The tennis courts are completed and so will be no further expense to the Grounds' Committee. The tender accepted for the levelling of the remainder of the ground was £1640, including the cost of fencing. Besides levelling, the ground has to be grassed and water must be laid on. The work is, in consequence, a very costly one, but the Committee has every confidence in the numerous supporters of the School and its playing fields and feel certain that they will respond to this appeal for funds to enable each generation whose lot brings them under the care of the School to obtain the best that can be gained from a Great Public School training, to develop to true manhood and become good citizens. It is in their sport that the boys learn the meaning of fellowship.

“To set the cause above renown,
To love the game beyond the prize.”

Every boy is expected to take an active part in sport and the School in turn does its best to give each boy a fair number of games. To carry this out properly at least five grounds are needed. Two of these we already possess, the School

Ground and the Main Oval at North-bridge, and two more are under construction as shown in the plan.

Contributions may be sent to the Hon. Treasurer, H. E. McIntosh, Esq., 32 Elizabeth Street, Sydney, or to the Hon. Secretaries at the School.

THE DRAMATIC ENTERTAINMENT.

A comedy entitled 'The New Boy' was produced at the Coliseum Theatre on Friday evening, Dec. 3rd—the week before breaking up, too late for the last issue of "Torch-bearer." "The New Boy" was probably familiar to many of the older members of the audience, having been performed by the Dramatic Society about ten or twelve years ago. With its school setting and pedagogic atmosphere it is bound to make its appeal to school boys, which it undoubtedly did on this occasion. The interest of the play attaches to the adventure of a newly-married man, who by an extraordinary chain of circumstances finds himself enrolled as a boarder in the Birchgrove School. The indignities to which the new boy is subjected proved irresistibly funny when applied to a married man whose wife is on the premises. The part of Felix Roach, who schemed to become the heir of old Dr. Candy, was admirable played by Mr. Pulling, who by the way took the same part in the previous production. Mr. Pulling did not go through his part by merely reciting the words of the author; it may be said that he created the part. He evolved a character which combined with the address and cunning of a Macchiavelli, the unction of a Chadband and the cleverness of a chevalier d'industrie. Miss Pulling, the daughter of Felix, and a counterfoil to her scheming father, played her part of "ingenue" in her usual dainty and piquant manner. George Blackwood as Mrs. Rennick, 'the widow with a husband,' and mother of the new boy played the part to perfection, with none of the coarseness of the masquerader, but, on the contrary, with all the feminine graces and "nuances" of speech and gesture—a distinctly clever impersonation. Firth Fraser, in the double character of husband and new boy, proved himself equal to the task, and romped through his part with a realism which showed that he had not forgotten his own schooldays. Mr. Barton, as Dr. Candy, the headmaster, acted his part with dignity and restraint. The role of the irate and implacable bucolic who disturbed the calm serenity of the headmaster's study, was picturesquely portrayed by Joek McKenzie. Mr. H. Walters, in the soubrette part of Susan the maid, achieved an excellent first appearance, and acted with a confidence that gave promise for the future. As Bullock Major, Noel Macintosh gave an admirable display of that truculence and callousness which is often associated with the initiation of the new boy. R. A. Gilfillan, as the French Master, gave an effective representation of the stage Frenchman, while R. C. Shields, as guardian of peace, filled the part admirably.

An orchestra, organised by Mr. Walmsley, including several Old Boys (to whom our thanks are due for giving up so much of their time to practices) played several pieces which were much appreciated, and added considerably to the success of the entertainment.

The net proceeds, amounting to £50, were appropriated for the benefit of the School Sports Club, which was in need of funds at the time.

LIBRARY NOTES.

A considerable amount of work has been done in the Library during the term. All books have been catalogued, and some re-classified. The bookshelves which were fixed, too, have been made adjustable, a change which has conduced to better classification of books.

These and other changes have proved somewhat costly. As a consequence, the new books bought during the term are very few.

The Committee have been fortunate, however, in receiving donations of books from several boys, old boys, and masters. One noteworthy gift was that of the brothers Edgar and Rupert Palmer—Old Boys—who donated the following books:—"Life of Dr. Arnold," "Chatham," "Henry

VII., "Warwick the Kingmaker," "Life of General Gordon," "Queen Elizabeth," "Oliver Cromwell," "The Mother State," "Tact," "Push and Principle," "The Cruise of the Snowbird," "The Attie Guest," "Lavender and Old Lace," "Innocents Abroad," "Boy's Own Treasury," "Old Rose and Silver," "Freckles," and "Pip and Co."

To them and all other donors the Committee give thanks.

It is a tradition in some schools that every boy on leaving school donates at least one book to the school library. This is worthy of imitation.

Blackwood I. has been appointed sub-Librarian, vice Macintosh, now an old boy. A word of praise must be given to the latter for the painstaking manner in which he carried out his task.

CRICKET.

1st Eleven

At present the School stands second in the competition after winning three matches and losing one—against Sydney Grammar School. The team was essentially a dry-wicket side, and strange enough, only once was the wicket a really dry one. Generally the batting was aggressive and interesting, and with the exception of the Grammar match, the team played up to form.

The competition opened with the score of 550 runs against St. Ignatius' College—the largest total compiled by the School for many years. Boazman's innings of 212 was a very fine one, full of sparkle, and showed a batsman of the greatest promise; he has been unfortunate in not having another innings on a good wicket. Salmon has settled down into a very sound batsman, and has strengthened his on-side play.

The bowling has been good. Barr has improved considerably as a slow bowler, and has kept his length and gained control over his "bosie." Harris also bowled well, keeping a very accurate length, especially in the High School match.

Many of the team are very young, which gives good hope for the future. The fielding has been good, especially Rawling's work in the outfield. McIntosh has improved considerably behind the wickets.

COMPETITION MATCHES.

v. St. Ignatius'

Played at Northbridge, on Saturday, February 26, and won by 406 runs on the first innings.

The wicket was hard, and the day very hot. Boazman won the toss, and Tyrrell and Pile opened the innings. The third wicket fell at 88, and at lunch time the score stood at 3 for 203; Boazman and Salmon had then put on 115 runs. After lunch, the partnership continued unbroken and both batsmen quickly ran to the century. At 115, Salmon was caught in slips, and four wickets were down for 370. He had played a faultless innings, and with Boazman had added 282 runs for the fourth wicket.

Shortly after the partnership had been broken, Boazman reached his double century, but 12 runs later was caught at deep mid-on. His innings, which included thirty fours, was a magnificent one. He was missed at 55, but from then till his total of 212 was made, he did not give the slightest chance. His batting after lunch was faultless and brilliant, varied with the most powerful drives and perfectly timed "cuts" and "hooks."

Byers made his first appearance in G.P.S. cricket, and batted very soundly for 69 not out. A nervous and young player, he has not yet gained confidence, which largely accounts for his failures later in the term. He is a left-hander of much promise, but takes risks on the on-side before he is set. Grieve (29) and Rawling (26) both batted well. Grieve is the steadier of the two batsmen, but is still rather cramped; Rawling gives promise of a very forcing player, but is still too anxious to score.

The innings closed for 550 runs.

For St. Ignatius Morrissey bowled very well with 3 for 84, but gained little support from the fieldsmen. He kept a good length and was never severely punished. Early in the game, Cobcroft bowled some very good slows, and before lunch was decidedly dangerous; his leg-breaks were well pitched, and off his first six overs only 21 runs were scored.

The game was continued twelve days later, when St. Ignatius replied with 144 runs. Of these 92 were scored by Sullivan. After being missed at cover-point, early in his innings, he batted very well indeed, and was unfortunate in not obtaining the few more runs to make his century. A left-hander, he is versatile and promising.

For the School, Boazman bowled with the most success, getting 4 wickets for 21 runs off 12 overs with 2 maidens. Barr, (4 for 75) did not bowl at his best, but was unlucky in not having Sullivan's wicket very early. It was off his howling the catch was missed—a chance that was costly to the extent of 80 runs.

v. Sydney High School.

Commenced at Northbridge on March 5, and finished some days later, owing to rain. Won by 5 runs on 1st innings.

This was the most exciting game played during the term. Boazman won the toss and sent the High School in to bat on a wet wicket, which was responsible for the fall of 4 wickets for 15. Drizzling rain then set in and play was continued on a slippery wicket until 38 runs had been scored, when the game was stopped for the day. Heavy rain fell continuously for several days and play was resumed on another wet wicket. The High School's innings closed for 92—Bain 36, and Carter 28. Carter batted soundly, but Bain was rather lucky, being missed twice before being caught in slips.

Harris (5 for 26) bowled very well for the School; he kept his length and made the best of the sticky wicket. Owing to the wet, Barr could only bowl 3 overs, obtaining 1 wicket for 5 runs. The School's innings was also rather disastrous, the total reaching only 97. Of these Grieve made 25, Tyrrell 13, and Harris 23 not out. Harris' innings was a most creditable one and went a long way towards winning the game.

For The High School, Burt bowled very well with 7 for 32. The wicket suited him and he knew how to make the best use of it. Stenning (3 for 33) also bowled very well, turning a long way from the off.

v. The King's School.

Played at Northbridge on Saturday, March 12th, and won on 1st innings by 106 runs.

Boazman again won the toss and sent Tyrrell and Pile to bat on a wicket which turned out to be treacherous. The opening pair were both disposed of without scoring. Boazman and Grieve began the score, but neither were at home, the wicket keeping very low and Ramsay coming well across from the off. Salmon batted steadily for 35, and was also beaten by the uncertainty of the wicket. Seven wickets were down for 91 when Harris and Rawling became associated in a partnership which yielded 111 runs. Both batted soundly and played the game, and it was largely due to them that the match was won. The innings closed for 220.

For The King's School Ramsay bowled well with 4 wickets for 61, obtained before lunch; later in the day he was less dangerous. Weschë did not use his bowlers to the best advantage, and allowed Harris and Rawling to become "set," and score off his change bowlers. The King's School replied with 114 runs, of which O'Connor made 34 and Walford 20. Both batsmen seemed dangerous, but were rather uncertain of the wicket.

For the School, Barr bowled very well with 6 wickets for 57 runs. He kept a perfect length and made the best use of his straight one.

The King's School fielding was good.

v. Sydney Grammar School.

Played at Rushcutter's Bay on Saturday, March 19th, and lost by 324 runs on the 1st innings.

Such a severe defeat came rather as a surprise, but three reasons may explain it. Firstly, they met a better team on the day, they had already completed three competition matches in the previous week and were very stale, and lastly, a shower of rain early in the morning made the wicket fiery.

The School lost the toss and was sent in to bat. Boazman alone showed any form—of course he is becoming an experienced batsman, and this stood to him. He batted very well under the circumstances, and his leg shots were particularly good. He threw his innings away at 19 trying to force the runs which were so badly needed.

Campbell-Jones (5 wickets for 10) bowled extremely well, and made the best possible use of the conditions. He kept an excellent length and shows great promise as a fast bowler. He also batted very well for 130, and with Datson (143) added 182 runs for the fifth wicket. Both batsmen had control of the bowling, and played most interesting cricket.

For the School, Barr (3 for 102) was the best although not the most successful bowler; off his first 13 overs only 34 runs were scored. Boazman (3 for 61), and Harris (2 for 48) were not bowling up to form, their length being too short.

2nd Eleven.

A good start for this year has been made, all matches having been won, and generally fairly easily. The team has been very keen at all times, and was well captained by Reading. The bowling was done mainly by McNamara and N. Cadwallader i; both were always to be relied on. The former learnt not to toss the ball so high, which gave less chance to batsmen to jump out to his slows. Cadwallader varied his pace well, gained a much better command of his length, and swerved naturally with a somewhat deceptive flight. Hardy improved greatly and should do well as a fast bowler. R. J. White, by reason of good bowling, excellent fielding, and improving batting, earned his promotion to the 1st XI. The side was severely handicapped in not having a wicket-keeper, Verbrugghen being unable to play. Busby filled the gap very creditably, but in all probability he will be needed as a bowler in the third term; he came on splendidly in batting. Most of the team played at least one good innings, and there did not seem to be much of a tail to wag. McNamara batted well every innings, and had extremely hard luck to miss his century against T.K.S. by a run. His batting and bowling in this match were of a high order, and it was chiefly by his efforts that we won the match. R. Cadwallader ii. is developing into a versatile batsman—his innings against S.G.S. left little to be desired. In this match White

(94 not out) and Hardy added 138 runs for the last wicket, which must be almost a record. The results of the various matches were as follows:

HOUSE CRICKET.

Owing to bad weather and to a number of other sports fixtures, it was found impossible to complete the full programme. In fact the first House matches had to be abandoned, and there was only one round for other teams. However the competition was quite a success, as rivalry was keen and team management well carried out. One of the objects of the organisation of in-school games into Houses, is to enable boys to manage their own games. A marked advance in this direction was made.

The results were:—

A. S. Coates has been awarded the Dr. J. Osborne, R.N. Scholarship, tenable at St. Paul's College.

It was with great regret that we received news of the death of Capt. John Burns, Capt. Frank Adams, 2nd Lieut. A. C. Wood, Lieut. E. L. Witts, Norman Wallace and C. J. Tozer.

Congratulations to T. Smith who was placed proxime accessit in the first year of the School of English at Melbourne University.

A. C. Wood, after leaving school, went to England and joined Culham Theological College, with the intention of taking Holy Orders. On the outbreak of the war he joined the New Zealand Infantry and got his Commission. He spent a portion of his furlough in Sydney in 1918 and then joined his regiment in New Zealand and was killed at Le Quesnoy on November of that year.

E. L. Witts left for Gallipoli with the reinforcements of the 13th A.L.H. and remained there till the evacuation. Returning to Egypt he joined the 5th. (artillery) and went with them to France and remained with them till about six months before the Armistice. He then joined "A" Battery and was sent to England to qualify for a commission. He returned to Australia as a Lieutenant in January, 1920. At the time of his death he was in the Bank at Rockhampton. He had been suffering from his throat for some months and had undergone an operation, but he developed septic tonsillitis. He died of paralysis of the heart.

John Burns died at Cootamundra. On leaving school he entered commercial life for a long time but relinquished this in favour of pastoral pursuits. On the outbreak of the war he enlisted and served three years at Gallipoli, Egypt and Palestine. At Gallipoli he was A.D.C. to General Walker and was awarded the Gallipoli Star. Recently he took up his residence at Cootamundra, where he was interested in farming. He returned from the war in indifferent health and his death was due to a series of complications.

Frank Adams died at Orange from tubercular trouble, contracted whilst on active service in France. He practised for several years at Dubbo and only came to Orange about four months ago for health reasons. On leaving school he went to England and took his degree in Cambridge. On his return he entered the Sydney University Medical School, from whence he graduated in medicine.

Guy Windeyer who was in action in the "Thunderer" during the war has now received his commission as sub-lieutenant and has joined H.M.S. "Constance," light cruiser. He expects to be in this ship between the Bermudas and the St. Lawrence for the next two years.

It was with extreme regret that we heard of the sudden death of C. E. Murnin at Bombala on April 25th. After leaving school Murnin was a midshipman in the China Naval Contingent of 1900. He was in the South African campaign in 1901 as Lieutenant in the Colonial Light Horse. He was a member of the N.S.W. Rugby XV and captained the Australian XV. v. New Zealand in 1905. He was a member of the Wallaby team which toured the world but had to return to Australia from Naples owing to illness. Our most sincere sympathy is given to his wife and family.

N. C. Vogan, H. F. Wilson, J. F. Cunningham, L. F. Dodds, have been selected members of the University eight to row in the Inter-University boat race in June next.

The Hon. Treasurer begs to acknowledge subscriptions for the following received up to April 22nd:—
