We extract the following from a letter received from Mr. J. F. Fitzhardinge, O.B.:—"I enclose cheque for £5/5/- for Torch-Bearer prizes of one guinea per annum. Would it be convenient to pay this amount into a Savings Bank account, in the hope that I might add a little to it, and perhaps the boys later on might keep the prize going in perpetuity?" Since receipt of the above we have received an additional guinea from Mr. Fitzhardinge, "so as not to break into the nucleus of five guineas," which he hopes will be added to later on by others. We thank Mr. Fitzhardinge for his generosity and for the interest he takes in our paper, and hope that his action will be an example for others to copy.

L. G. Melville, whom we congratulated in our last issue on his gaining first-class honours in Economics and on his winning Professor Irvine's prize for Economics, has recently been appointed lecturer at the University in Insurance Mathematics. A note on his career will be found in the Old Boys' section of this issue.

The Killara Dance on June 16th, arranged by Mrs. Cox and ladies on the North Shore line for the Memorial Playing Fields, realised the sum of £61/10/1. Our thanks are due to those ladies for the success which attended their efforts.

The following were omitted from the account of the last Swimming Carnival. The Headmaster's Cup, won by C. S. Stuart; the Under 16 Championship, won by D. A. Wilson; the name of S. J. Wilkinson was wrongly given as the winner of the 50 yds. Championship under 14, the winner being M. E. Humfress.

Wednesday, 26th July, the afternoon of the St. Joseph's match, was kept as a half-holiday in honour of

P. W. Smythe-King, who has been awarded the University Scholarship for Law.

We congratulate L. C. Hutchinson, O.B., and, sometime member of our staff, on his return to Sydney, and on his admission to practise at the New South Wales Bar.

The School desires to thank Mr. Warburton for his generous gift of an ammeter for the Laboratory.

We congratulate L. L. Barr on his appointment as Senior Prefect.

J. D. Gaden has been awarded the J. F. Fitzhardinge Torch-Bearer prize for this year. We are sorry that the competition has not been keener; and we hope for an improvement in this respect in the future.

We have received an article entitled "Think of that," and signed T. R. Ford, but consider it unsuitable for Torch-Bearer.

A SCHOOL'S REMINISCENCES.

"And sometimes their memory equals their reality,
And sometimes they are not to be recalled."
—Thomas.

Every big public school is full of reminiscence; on every desk, in every room, on every playing-field and in fact in the whole atmosphere of the school there is some vague power which brings back to us, in the twinkling of an eye, pictures and fond remembrances of those who have climbed the ladder of school life alongside us.

We start at the bottom and visit the lowest classroom, and we smile as we enter again the familiar door to see once more the well-remembered blackboard and the ancient desks carved with names innumerable, though for the most part obscure. But here and there we light upon a name which seems to arouse within us all our long dormant memories; "the picture of the mind revolves again," and we experience a second time all those petty joys and sorrows, all those hopes and disappointments which came to us when we just plunged into the bewildering world of school life. Here is a name rudely scrawled upon the desk, now half-effaced by the activities of successive generations. But what a wealth of memories does that ill-written name conjure up! As we gaze upon it there comes to our minds scenes of every branch of school life—of mighty deeds upon the football field, of superhuman feats with bat or ball, of wrath of long-suffering masters, and of intense hero-worship. And so we proceed, lingering over every classroom, seeing again their familiar relics and thus living once more those past years so regretfully left behind.

From the classrooms we repair to the playing fields, the scene of many a youthful joy and many a hard fought battle. We recall our first game of football—how we were bewildered by the novelty of it all, how we plunged with might and main into the scrums, and last but not least, we recall the praises or ratings bestowed upon us for our various deeds or misdeeds during the game. It is then that we realise that there above all was laid the foundation of our future career; there popularity was won or lost; there championships were made and character developed.

Having drunk our fill of the delights of the playing field, we pass on to the chapel, silent and restful in its "dim religious light." Here we grow sad and thoughtful, for there before us in long array stand the memorials of a glorious band of heroes who went forth to give their lives for us. Perhaps many of us never saw these heroes as school-mates—they were before our time—yet we realise what nobility of character must have been theirs. Some of them, no doubt, were not distinguished in sport, and so did not achieve any great amount of popularity or fame, and so left the School to be soon forgotten. But what glory is theirs now! How revered are their names! Even though speakers innumerable should constantly tell us of the glory of these heroes' deeds, yet will we not tire of them. There is something far deeper, far more glorious in their service than any deed upon the playing field. So they shall live a glorious "life in death," holding forth unto later generations the torch of dazzling brightness. May they bear it equally well.

Yet some are not to be recalled, and these are they who, making no mark, having no name upon the scroll of fame passed upon the School to be swallowed up by a world of oblivion. But who knows? Doubtless they continue to carry on their torch of life, though it may be only a tiny beacon in a darkening world.

CHAPEL NOTES.

Addresses have been given this term by the Rev. H. Linton, A.B.M. (2), the Rev. H. N. Baker (open Sunday), the Headmaster, and Mr. J. Lee Pulling.

On July 16 there was no service, so that the boarders could have an opportunity of attending Christ Church, where the new Rector gave his first address to the parishioners.

The electric light has now been fixed, and it will be possible in the future to have evening services.

The panelling has been completed on the south side, and this adds greatly to the beauty of the chapel.

The organ will, so the contractors promise, be ready to be played on Speech Day. The panelling in connection with it is already in the chapel.

The tablet, the gift of his friends at Albury, in memory of Hereward Goodwin Cummings, who was killed in a motor accident during the Christmas vacation, has been placed on the south side.

The order for the Hodges memorial window, to be placed in the Sanctuary, has been given to Mr. Norman Carter, who designed the other windows. The subject will be St. Peter and St. Paul. There will be a tablet in the chancel to mark the place where the body rested when it was brought to the chapel.

Confirmation will be given by His Grace the Archbishop on Wednesday, October 25, at 2.15 p.m.

The following donations have been received for the East Window since our last issue: Helen Edith Clarke, £2/2/-; Margaret Edith Buck, £1; Mr. and Mrs. Thomson, £5/5/-. The fund now amounts to £216/14/9.

The following have been baptized: On May 7, Helen Edith Clarke, and on July 8 Margaret Edith Buck.

LIBRARY NOTES.

The Memorial Library has been fortunate in receiving from Mrs. C. H. Hodges a splendid set of medals, University sporting prizes of the late Mr. Hodges. This valuable gift is greatly appreciated, and should act as a great incentive to present and future boys of the school. The medals were all gained while Mr. Hodges was at Oxford. In all there are six heavy silver discs. Four are from the Oxford University Athletic Club: 1, Throwing cricket ball, 120 yards (1874); 2, putting the weight, 35ft. 3in. (1875); 3, putting the weight, 36ft. (1876); 4, throwing cricket ball, 118 yards (1876). A fifth is for putting the weight, 36ft. 6in., gained at the Oxford and Cambridge Athletic Sports in 1876; and the sixth was given by the Oxford University Boat Club for rowing in the Oxford University Eight-oared Trial Race. The medals are set in a frame shaped like a shield, and are now hung in the Library Memorial Hall. A silver plate is being prepared with the events engraved on it, and will be hung with the shield.

The committee have pleasure in thanking H. G. Pritchard, O.B., for the gift of a valuable set of boys' fiction, by Ballantyne, Ellis, Kingston, Strang, and Douglas. Such gifts are very welcome, and add greatly to the value of our already valuable collection.

REFLECTIONS.

We had camped for the night on shore, and were now in a canvas canoe on Woy Woy Bay. The sun had not yet risen, but it was light enough to see, and the eastern horizon was full of a dull gold colour, which was gradually getting brighter and brighter. Its reflection, strange to say, became brighter still, as if the water had cleansed the gold and removed all its impurities, which made it so dull in the sky; the waves, moreover, mixed this reflection with that of some beautiful red clouds, which contrasted with it with great effect. The whole sky promised a beautiful sunrise, but a few small clouds crept over the sky in the east and rather disappointed us in our expectations; however, we soon saw such an unusual sight that we felt quite reconciled to our loss.

After paddling along for about twenty minutes we reached a mud flat covered with small bushes, through gaps in which the high bank of the creek was visible. The water was so clear that all the bushes were faultlessly represented upside down hanging on to the roots of those above, and the curious part of it was that the bank of the creek, which was about fifty yards away, appeared in the picture too, and of course had to be fifty yards back, underneath the mud-flat, so that it looked as if there was an enormous cave under the bushes, with the blue sky for a floor, a forest of stalactite-like mangrove bushes for a roof, and terminated by a wall of trees and shrubs.

The effect was weird, to say the least of it, but we saw something still stranger soon after, when a train went by, for it just looked as if there was another train steaming along underneath the real one, hanging on in some mysterious manner to the bottom of the embankment. At a casual look at the carriages it seemed as if there was another line at the foot of the embankment, with another train travelling along it; but a glance at the engine, with the smoke pouring out of a funnel in the wrong place, immediately upset this idea, and it seemed that the only explanation must be that some magnetic force was fastening the wheels to the rails.

Soon after, we came to another mud-flat. Nothing but the long narrow grass stems was visible above the water which looked as if they stopped where they began. The place where the water really was looked like an empty space except for the grass—the reflection of the upper part of the stalks looking like the lower part of the grass itself. This was growing so closely together that it hid the reflection of the sky in most places, and the water was so perfectly clear and calm that the illusion was complete, for reality and unreality combined to make a picture which would have defied the greatest artist that ever lived to reproduce. There seems nothing striking in saying that the grass and trees were green and the sky was the brightest blue, but the colours and reflections so intermingled that the scene was one never to be forgotten.

THE POCKLEY MEMORIAL.

A welcome addition has been made to the Memorial Sports Ground by the fountain which Dr. F. Antill orates and endeavour to hand down undimmed the torch they bore so nobly.

Pockley has presented in memory of his two sons, B. C. A. Pockley and J. G. A. Pockley, who fell in the war. Both were boys of a type the School is proud to have produced, and we trust that all who benefit by Dr. Pockley's generous gift will always remember those whom it commem-

The memorial is in the shape of a rough obelisk mounted on a high pedestal. The upper portion is of rough trachyte, with a polished slab bearing the inscription. The pedestal is of dressed trachyte of conventional design, with a small polished area in the centre carrying a second inscription. The upper inscription reads as follows:—

In memory of
Brian Colden Antill
Pockley,
Capt., A.A.M.C.
Killed in Action near Beta Paka,
German New Guinea, 11th Sept., 1914,
Aged 23 years,
and
John Graham Antill
Pockley,
Lieut. 33rd. Batt., A.I.F.,
Killed in Action,
Near Villers Bretonneux, France,
30th March, 1918,
Aged 25 years.

The lower inscription bears the design of a burning torch and the words:—

“From falling hands
To you we throw the torch;
Be yours to hold it high.”

SPEECH DAY.

The function in connection with prize-giving, which was attended by a large assembly of parents and friends of the School, took place on the afternoon of Thursday, August 31st. The ceremony, which was preceded by a short service in the Chapel, was held, as for many years past, in a marquee erected in the School grounds, whereby we were once more reminded of that long-felt want—a School Hall, which we hope may materialise in the not too distant future.

His Grace the Archbishop discharged a double duty as Chairman of the meeting and distributor of prizes. He spoke feelingly of the loss the School was about to suffer through the resignation of the Headmaster. The work done by Mr. Purves, he went on, during the past twelve and a half years, would be looked back upon as an era in the School's history. The School had practically doubled itself during Mr. Purves' term, and the blue ribands of intellectual life had fallen to boys in the School.

Professor E. R. Holme, in proposing a vote of thanks to the Chairman, said that he was a member of the Council which had the task of finding a Headmaster to fill the place of the late Mr. Hodges. Mr. Purves was selected, and they had never regretted their choice.

The Headmaster then presented his annual report as follows:—

The Intermediate exam. was passed by 46 boys, of whom Holmes, with six "A" passes, and Ford with five, were the best; in the Leaving Certificate examination there were thirty-two passes, in which were included the following distinctions:—Todhunter and Blake were respectively placed first and second in the first class in Physics; Todhunter also obtained a first class in Mathematics, and Howard a first class in Modern History.

The School records with much pleasure that P. W. Smyth-King was placed first in the University Law examination, and was awarded the Law Scholarship; that E. K. Burke passed the final examination as Bachelor of Economics, and was awarded the Wilfrid E. Johnson prize for his essay on "Causes of Unemployment in N.S.W."; that L. G. Melville was placed first in the first class at the second year examination in the same school, and has been appointed University Lecturer in Insurance Mathematics; that H. V. Jaques has been re-elected to the Legislative Assembly; that Stephen Jones has been admitted to Holy Orders; that L. C. Hutchinson, after taking the Degrees of B.A., and LL.B. at Cambridge, has been admitted to the Bar of N.S.W.; and that Julian Simpson has been appointed Administrator of British Nigeria.

It may sometimes be thought, from the amount of space given to games in most school reports, that these are valued above their deserts; the explanation is that a school's principal cause of existence is education, and this is taken for granted, and the results of a year's work may be expressed in a few short sentences. But if a school has any claim to the title "great," it must do something much more than train boys to pass examinations; for this wider purpose, amongst other factors, games count for a good deal, for in them the combative, competitive and self-assertive instincts, we are told by psychologists, are sublimated, a consummation surely devoutly to be wished. Our fathers said much the same thing, only we understood what they meant, when they told us to run ourselves out rather than our partners, and to get up at once, and smiling, after being brought down within a foot of the touch-line.

The shooting teams went into camp with Major Harris during last Michaelmas holidays, and the first team again won the Premiership, and further contributed one half of the team chosen to represent the combined Great Public Schools in their match. (which they won) against the University. The second team also shot well and gained second place in their competition. The first cricket eleven won all matches during the second half of last year, and three out of four in the first part of this year, a result which would have been better still if the team had distributed their vast aggregate of nearly fifteen hundred runs in such a way that the Newington match might have had its fair proportion. The second eleven are so far unbeaten for this year, and in the second half of last season divided the Premiership with Newington and St. Joseph's. In football provision was made this season for all boys who wished it, to have one practice or one game a week, and in all but a few cases to have both practice and the game. These arrangements were not carried out in their entirety chiefly owing to the weather and to alterations in the dates made by the authorities controlling the G.P.S. fixtures, but even with these drawbacks, we have had more boys than ever before playing football, a result which has been due to careful organisation, to the hard work of captains of teams, and particularly to the help given by senior boys in refereeing junior games. Although the first fifteen suffered so heavily from casualties that their early promise was not fulfilled, they stuck to their work and lost no match which it was within their power to win. The G.P.S. Regatta, as usual, produced good racing; in the finals one of our fours was first, and one second, and the eight only lost a magnificent race to Sydney Grammar School by a matter of inches; no doubt many faults might be found with the crew, beginning with the lack of weight, but they had a dash and a drive that came close to equalling a better crew, of whom, as of all crews from the same shed, a moribund official may be allowed to use the words, "good at need." Mr. Ramsay added one more year of service to his long list, giving up all his spare time and all his skill; our indebtedness to him has long gone beyond the possibility of calculation and grows every year. We noted with pleasure that four of his old boys had places in the University eight. Not many months after the race our flags were half-masted in respect to W. H. Savigny; and in sympathy with the school that had beaten us, rowing in a boat bearing his name.

Since last Speech Day, the School has lost by death three who were faithful servants and loyal friends, Percival Sharp, C. B. Fidler, and Charles Henry Hodges. May I quote, as I quoted on my first Speech Day at this School, words from The Torch-Bearer referring to Mr. Hodges at the time of his resignation: He "has been endowed for his work with a commanding presence, high attainments, and keen insight into and sympathy with human nature. But the influence he has exercised over parents, masters and boys has been due to the inestimable quality, or rather combination of qualities, that may be best described as personal charm. This has been a more powerful agent than sterner qualities would have been in securing for him the enthusiastic service of his staff, the devoted affection of the boys and the friendship and respect of parents. His presence has been a rebuke to meanness and littleness, and his character an incentive to high endeavour." His colleagues and his old boys, and many boys of later generations too know that these are true words, nor could anything be added to make them a more fitting farewell to the best friend

I ever had. One of the Chancel windows is being put in to his memory, and a stone bearing a simple and beautiful inscription, will mark the spot where the coffin lay in the Chancel "as if brought at last to his home"; for though it was written that he was never to see the Chapel, yet he and Mrs. Hodges had always known that a Chapel was the School's great need, and founded the movement which enabled the Council in due time to raise the splendid building which is now being enriched with gifts and memorials as each year goes by. Of these memorials the greatest is the organ in memory of J. G. A. Pockley, which you will have noticed is now practically completed. I have made many promises about it in the past which have not been kept, but it is safe to say that another month's work will at last see it finished. On Tuesday the Bishop of Goulburn dedicated the beautiful and useful fountain given to the Memorial Grounds by Dr. Antill Pockley, in memory of his two soldier sons, Old Boys of the School, who fell in the war, helping to found a great tradition and to serve a noble cause.

To all the old boys who served the Northbridge Grounds are one great memorial, and the many friends, to whom the School ought to be for ever grateful, who so unweariedly help by organisation and by gifts, have all this one end in view. Parents who weathered the gale at Northbridge on Tuesday saw what great progress has been made with the new area, and in particular the giant foundations of the Mothers' Stand. It must seem to you that there is little breathing space between the various appeals that are launched in the School's name, but a fair provision of games for every boy in the School, and incidentally, some comfort for parents and friends attending our matches is a worthy object in itself, and all the more so as it is a part of a memorial. After Northbridge, the next great memorial to all the Old Boys who served is to be the East window in the Chapel; the fund for this is now nearly half-way towards completion; it receives various gifts from time to time and a steady and unflinching supply from the baptismal and marriage fees received by Mr. Davies. A proportion of the funds raised by fêtes and other entertainments has been given to the School Boat Club, which has now a complete equipment in Looking Glass Bay, for in addition to the Eric Sinclair Memorial Boat Shed, given some time ago in full by Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sinclair, there has since been acquired by the services of Mr. Sinclair, Mr. Hixson and many generous friends, a dining-room and kitchen with complete outfits, so that the club now possesses everything needed to house its fleet and its crews in comfort.

I wish to thank with much appreciation the founders of the many permanent prizes and the donors of prizes from year to year. The number of permanent prizes is now a large one, worthy of the School; it is necessary, however, to keep the needs of schools like this before the public, for it is sometimes thought that they own great endowments. This is far from being the case, indeed the total endowments of this school are inconsiderable, and it is hoped that in time the practice of generous giving to Church schools will become customary as it is in America, and to a large extent in Victoria. We have had one splendid benefaction in the McCaughey bequest, and the Walter and Eliza Hall Trust have at all times helped us generously. But the School has at least two urgent needs, the building of a great hall where weekly assemblies may be held as well as yearly speech days, and further, the establishment of an assistant masters' pension fund. The salaries of assistant masters were not in the past large enough to allow them to provide their own retiring allowances, and there is no fund at present from which these allowances can be drawn. There is no better cause to which rich men and men of ordinary means could devote sums according to their ability, when they are arranging the bequests which they propose to leave behind them.

My period of service to this School has been made happy by the loyalty of my colleagues, the friendship of many past and present boys, the consideration of parents, and above all, by the support and sympathy of my council. For all these blessings I can find no words to express the gratitude I feel. My wife and I count our years here amongst the happiest of our lives, and no one knows so well as ourselves that the School has done for us far more than we shall ever be able to repay.

In addition to the Archbishop, there were present on the platform the Honorable R. J. Black, M.L.C., His Honor Judge Backhouse, Professor E. R. Holme, Dr. Prescott (Headmaster, Newington College), the Ven. Archdeacon Davies, the Rev. H. N. Baker, the Rev. J. H. Maclean, the Rev. G. A. Chambers, General Finn, C.B., the Rev. C. Charlton, Mr. R. W. Carey, Mr. A. F. Robinson, Mr. F. W. Hixson, Mr. Keith Williams.

After the ceremony tea was served as usual on the lawn.

A great black wall of mountain rising up high into the sky above stretched level as a plateau across the picture, gloomy and impassable to everything save the eagle's flight, its massive and forbidding face appearing to be the end of all progress and to say more plainly than words: "Thus far shalt thou go, but no farther." This "long line of cliff breaking had left a chasm," a gap through which the setting sun poured the most wondrous rays—but who can describe the glory of the setting sun? It seemed as if behind that great wall lay an enchanted land, a land of gold and crimson, of glory and happy days, to be reached only by this gap in the huge wall. On the left side of the gap the wall ended in the shape of a blacksmith's anvil, its outline clearly defined, but on the opposite side the end of the wall was so enveloped in the sunset glory as to resemble the glowing end of a burning log.

Straight in front of this gap extended a range of mountains about half as high as the walls, its ridge a succession of rugged crests, not pointed but curving and undulating like small leaves with serrated edge. But the serrated edge of these mountains was of the purest gold—a touch as it were of the glory that lay beyond.

Away to the right, at the end of the mountainous range, there rose towering black against the sky, a

It may be that the upper portion of the picture so strongly drew the eye, fascinated it and held it, that it scarcely took in the foreground; perhaps the eye was dulled by the haze that rested upon the land. At any rate, I noted no more than that on the way to the mountain, in front of the gap, there were houses and trees and many people.

Then I heard a voice saying: "Yonder is the land of enchantment, which all young men and maidens strive to reach, and to which there is but one way, for all must travel along the same road to the gap in the great wall. But the way is not to be won by ease or sloth—the mountain over which the road leads can only be ascended by years of toil and effort. The golden rim of the summit is a light to cheer and guide the weary traveller, for without hope none would overcome the difficulties and hardships. The great, dark, towering castle is the abode of the evil ones who are ever on the watch to tempt the traveller from the path and lure him to destruction. But whosoever shall strive and persevere to the end shall reach those golden crests and see all the glories that lie before him, and the road that leads gently down into the enchanted land."

The voice ceased, and slowly and imperceptibly the picture began to fade, and lo! in a few moments the Land of Enchantment was folded beneath the wings of night.

BIG GAME SHOOTING IN THE HIMALAYAS.

In March, in the low-lying stations on the North-west Frontier in India, the summer approaches with great rapidity and the coal scuttle is put away and the punkah produced almost on the same day. In March, 1919, I was stationed in Bannu, at the entrance to the Tochi Valley, one of the smaller trade routes into Afghanistan. We had just completed our tour of duty at Miranshah, a lonely fort forty miles up the valley, and about seven miles from the Afghan border.

All regiments serving on the frontier have one month's privilege leave added to the usual two, so; as the leave season was just about to open, "privilege" leave was the prevailing topic of conversation in our mess. Knowing well that "a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush," I applied for the first leave period and with success.

On the 25th the first batch left for Srinagar. Bruce, Jones, Shepherd and myself all jammed ourselves into a carriage on the Bannu-Kalabagh express, had all our luggage thrown in after us, and saw our Gurkha orderlies, with their kit, into a servant's carriage next door.

We crossed the Indus in a large steam ferry, and boarded the broad-gauge train for Rawal Pindi, which deposited us there the following morning. We had then to engage cars to take us to Srinagar, a journey of 196 miles through some of the most beautiful scenery in the world.

The white road rising some 5,000 feet in thirty miles winds with acute hairpin bends up a deep, wide valley, through pine forests, with distant snow-clad ranges rising in the background. It then drops 4,000 feet in twenty-three miles, and runs along the Ghelum River, a rushing torrent. The road is cut out of the side of the mountains, and at places there is a sheer drop to the river; at others it is tunnelled through the basalt spurs running down to the river. A hundred miles of this gradual ascent brings us to the Kashmir Plain, which is a large oval, forty miles by sixty, intensely cultivated, and surrounded by high snow-clad ranges. Srinagar is situated on the side furthest from the entrance, and we arrived there on the evening of the second day after leaving Rawal Pindi and repaired to our house-boat.

Everyone lives in a house-boat in Srinagar. The city is intersected by canals, and the Ghelum runs through the centre of it. We did all our travelling in Srinagar by the river or canals in a shikara. A shikara is a kind of large canoe, with a square well in the centre for passengers, and accommodation in the stern for four paddling coolies. The shikara and crew are supplied as an extra to the house-boat for 4d. a day. Bruce and I occupied one boat, as we intended to travel up the river for two days before setting out on our shoot.

We intended to be away just over two months, so large quantities of stores had to be collected.

My camp consisted of one shikari (professional hunter), two Gurkha orderlies, one chota (under) shikari, one tiffin coolie, one Dak coolie (post runner), one cook, one cook's off-sider, four tents for their protection, one tent, one camp bed, and one camp table and chair for myself; also two months' supply of flour, rice, tea, sugar, jam, porridge, cocoa, and assorted tinned meats and fruit; grass for snow-shoes, rifles and ammunition, and warm bedding and clothes.

We spent a week in collecting these stores, as we were in no hurry and were training for the climbing which was to come.

We left Srinagar on May 3 in our house-boat, which was towed by coolies, and had a very pleasant trip to Islamabad, forty miles up the river, arriving after dark the next day.

The real work began there. We were up and had our kit loaded on small mountain ponies by 6.30 a.m., and set out for the foothills.

Here we collected coolies from the surrounding villages, as the going was too rough to take ponies any further. We required about forty coolies in all, and had some difficulty in procuring enough to see us over the pass. A coolie carries from 60 lbs. to 80 lbs ten, to fourteen miles a day for 6d.

We managed the pass 11,600 feet without mishap, and arrived at Inshin at midday, which is in the Wardwan Valley, and here Bruce proceeded down the valley while I went up to a village called Mangil, which was to be my headquarters for some time.

I pitched camp and rested for one day while my shikari went off with some villagers to pick up the ibex feeding-grounds. I spent the next day watching a herd of ibex, but there were no shootable heads, so I did not take a shot. At about 5 p.m. we decided to return to camp, which was about two miles away, 3,000 feet below us. My Gurkha orderly, Dilu Thapa, my shikari, and I began to descend a re-entrant on the mountain side, while the chota shikari kept level with us on the ridge running parallel. We had only just got going when the chota shikari made violent signs to us to come up to him. I took cover behind a rock, and lay down, and the shikari lay beside me, and pointed out a snow leopard about eighty yards away, walking slowly across the snow. My first shot hit him through the hindquarters, and my second got him in the head, but ran round the skull instead of penetrating. The leopard then bounded towards us about twenty yards and disappeared under the snow into a cave. We went to the spot where he had disappeared, and could hear him swearing and spitting under the snow, but could not get a decent shot to finish him off.

We dug a hole through snow right above him in order to get a better sight. The first attempt I made to fire through the hole nearly ended in disaster, as just as I was about to fire the snow gave way under my feet, and I tobogganed 50 feet down the slope, narrowly escaping coming to close quarters with the leopard, as I missed the hole only by inches.

I picked myself up, and clambered back to the hole. This time I was not going to make a mistake, so I made the following arrangements:—The chota shikari made himself firm by grasping with his right hand a stout sapling that grew a little distance above the hole; with his left he grasped the back of the shikari's coat, and he in his turn hung on to the belt of my coat, and I despatched the wounded animal with a lethal bullet through the heart.

I was very lucky to run across so rare an animal on my first day out. I have met officers who have spent their leave year after year hunting the snow leopard without success.

We quickly skinned the leopard and got back to camp after dark, but without anything worse than a few tumbles over rocks, or slips in the snow.

My mail arrived in camp next day, and amongst it was a telegram saying war had broken out with Afghanistan, and I was to return at once.

I sent my heavy kit off for Islamabad straight away, and kept back a light camp to clear the way for Bruce, who was two days further out than I.

I moved back to Instin early next morning, and then pushed on up towards the Margwan Pass. I decided to camp at 10,000 feet that night, as Bruce might overtake me. At 2 p.m. a villager reported some ibex about half a mile away, so we set out in that direction.

The shikari went on ahead, and the villager, Dilu Thapa, and myself followed a few minutes behind him. We clambered along the side of the hill for some time through the snow, and finally came upon a fairly broad nulla, in which there were patches of green grass.

Dilu and I were deposited behind a tree, and cautioned not to move while the coolie crept forward. Presently he returned, and signed to us to follow, which I did as quietly as possible, and after some 200 yards I spotted the shikari behind a tree on the edge of a cliff.

I crept up to him, and he pointed out an old ibex standing on the opposite side of the nulla, apparently asleep. I overestimated the range, setting my sights at 300, and missed first shot. Second shot I aimed off, and broke his front leg. He lay down, and my fourth shot settled the matter.

It was quite a good head, the horns being 39½ in. by 11 in.

Bruce did not arrive into camp until the following morning, when we recrossed the pass in a blizzard, and then made our way back to Bannu as quickly as possible.

In June, 1920, the Afghan War being over, and things more or less normal, I decided to continue my interrupted shoot.

I arrived in Mangil on June 17, where I was going to leave my heavy stores and push on to the foot of the Nun Kun Mountains, the highest of which is 23,000 feet.

I crossed a pass known as Snow Bridge, and was about to proceed into the Zurge Nulla, which runs up to Mount Nun Kun, when I heard that some one was there before me. This necessitated three days' uncomfortable camping at 11,000 ft., while I found out how long he proposed to stop, etc.

As time was scarce, I took a small tent and couple of blankets, and crossed a range of hills between 14,000 feet and 15,000 feet into Garmasal Nulla, and struck red bear tracks. We followed them up one morning, and were pretty hot on the trail when we came to a small cliff. The shikari went up first, and then the coolie. I was just clambering up when I heard a scuffle, and in trying to get up quickly, broke a bush

I was holding on to, and was left suspended on the edge of the cliff. The coolie pulled me up, and I saw a red bear going, all out, about 400 yards away. I took a pot shot, but missed.

What had happened was the shikari was examining some very fresh tracks, and did not notice a small cave entrance. The bear rushed out of the cave, and the shikari hit him over the head with his stick. The bear promptly rolled about 500 feet down the hill and bolted. This is a common trick amongst red bear when escaping danger. The next day I heard that the Zurge Nulla was empty, so made my way there with all speed. My first week was unsuccessful, but there were plenty of tracks about, so I kept up a constant search.

One morning I was sitting in the bed of the nulla watching an ibex which was in an inaccessible place, but might move to easier ground at any time, when three brown bears were seen about 300 feet above us on the opposite side of the nulla to the ibex. They were feeding quietly in the grass, and the wind was blowing down the nulla. We crept up on the leeward side of the bears to within eighty yards of them, and I decided to take a shot. I had a .355 Mannlicher-Schauner repeating rifle, and my shikari carried a 12-bore double-barrelled gun loaded with lethal in case of a jamb, etc. I missed my first shot, but got the biggest bear through the neck with the second, and her son through the shoulder with the third. The third bear made off amongst the rocks, and sat down just out of range. The mother must have seen us as I was shooting the second bear, for she came at us rather menacingly, but very groggy on her feet. I got her through the head with the fourth shot, and killed the second bear with the fifth.

After this two or three days were spent in curing the skins temporarily for the trip to Srinagar, and preparing for a five days' march to Kishtewar in search of Tehr and Gorel. The former being a mountain goat, and the latter a type of antelope.

During "off days" of this kind I was in the habit of taking my Gurkha orderlies marmot shooting. The marmot is a small animal of the same species as the prairie dog, a family of four or five occupying each set of burrows, and very seldom stray more than twenty yards from the entrance. They are very timid and at the same time very curious, which, by the way, is generally their downfall.

On the approach of man the whole family disappear in the burrow except one, who sits up and screeches shrilly until one gets within twenty-five yards of him, when he, too disappears after his family.

After a lapse of five or ten minutes a small head will appear, and if anyone is still close he again disappears for some time.

If one shoots from a long range the skin is spoilt by the bullet, and instantaneous death is not certain. A wounded marmot invariably gets into its burrow before the hunter can get him. For this reason I always used a shot-gun at close range in the following manner:—

My orderly and I would walk straight toward a burrow until the last marmot had taken cover. My orderly would then retrace his steps and sit down some forty yards away, while I circled round and lay down about fifteen yards in the rear of the burrow. When the marmot's head appeared the orderly waved a stick slowly from side to side, and caught the marmot's attention. The marmot would then sit up and screech at him, and I had an easy shot. After I had tried this method I never lost a wounded marmot.

We moved to Kishtewar, and were camped near a village which was being annoyed by a black bear. The black bear is the "grizzly" of the Himlayas, being almost as large as the American brown bear, and, although not so savage, a very nasty customer if cornered or wounded.

I had got my Tehr and Gorel, and had ten days to spare, so I decided to get him if possible.

I sat up one night in a corn-field, and haunted his favourite feeding-grounds morning and evening for three days without seeing anything except tracks.

The fourth day I spotted him some two hundred yards away feeding on berries, but was unfortunately "up wind," and he made off before I could get any closer.

Two days later I had a disagreement with my shikari as to the best spot to wait for him, and lost him again, for we saw him pass within fifty yards of the spot the shikari had chosen. One evening a couple of days later we were moving in single file up towards the first place I had seen him when a coolie shouted, "Baloo," the Hindustani for a bear, and we saw him going full speed down the nulla. He must have kept quite still while we passed, and then bolted.

He disappeared into the jungle, and from the crashing, made up the other side. I followed him, but kept well up in order to meet him from above, and because the wind was blowing up the nulla. I did not bother about making a noise, as bears are almost deaf, and can only see a little way. They rely entirely on their sense of smell for warning of danger.

The shikari and I got well up the other side of the nulla, and on rounding a large rock ran right into the bear sitting on his haunches sniffing the breeze for our position. I dropped on one knee and shot him through the heart before the bear had seen us.

This ended an extraordinary lucky shoot. The only piece of bad luck was during my trip back the monsoon broke and I arrived in Simnagar some eight days later very nearly drowned.

ATHLETIC SPORTS MEETING, 1922.

The thirty-first Annual Meeting took place on the Northbridge Memorial Grounds, on Tuesday, August 29th. Notwithstanding a strong gale from the south-west, which covered everything and everybody with dust, the meeting proved quite a success. There was a very good attendance of friends and Old Boys, and great interest was taken in the competitions, that for the high jump under 16 being particularly interesting, S. M. Smith winning with a School record of 5 ft. 4 in., while D. A. Warden jumped 5 ft. 3 in., and H. S. Doyle 5 ft. 2½ in. Another record was broken by a putt of 41 ft. 3 in., by H. Pannifex.

The Senior Challenge Shield and Headmaster's Cup was won by H. Pannifex (37 pts.), O. C. Crossman being runner-up with 30 pts. Crossman was particularly unfortunate, for he had to compete without training owing to an accident to his foot. The Junior Challenge Shield and Mr. Randal W. Carey's Cup was won by D. A. Warden, with 21 pts.; S. M. Smith and C. S. Stuart being equal for second place, with 12 pts. each. Mr. J. P. Hardy's Cup for the best athlete under 14 was won by H. R. Blacklow (9 pts.).

The officials were as follows:—

The Committee desire to thank the officials and the following for cups and donations to the Prize Fund:—The Headmaster, Randal W. Carey Esq., J. P. Hardy Esq., Old Boys' Union, "Q," Mrs. E. M. Cowlishaw and Mrs. Donald Smith. Also they beg to thank Mrs. Purves for kindly distributing the prizes.

Selections were played during the afternoon by the Returned Soldiers' Band. Before the distribution of prizes the Bishop of Goulburn dedicated the memorial fountain erected by Dr. Antil Pockley in memory of his sons, Brian and Jack. In his address the Bishop paid a warm tribute to the character of the two Old Boys of the School and urged the School to follow the example set by them. He added that although the School was not founded long enough to have the traditions of other great public schools, there were the lives of such young men as these who would ever point the way of duty, and their example would of itself stand as a tradition which could not be separated as the history of the School was unfolded.

D. DAVIES,
(for Hon. Treasurer.)

RIFLE-SHOOTING.

Regular practice has taken place on Saturday mornings, and about 22 boys have been selected from which two fairly good teams should be obtained. The survivors of last year's teams have been shooting in very poor form, but the annual "camp" at Coogee, which will begin on September 11, will no doubt remedy their temporary lack of form.

A match was fired against University R.C. at 600 yds., and won by the latter by 6 points.

The House Match resulted in a win for Robson by 21 points from Barry, who came second.

The weather has not been very favourable for trying out beginners, as so many of the Saturdays have been cold and gusty, with fishtail westerlies.

FOOTBALL.

The football season of 1922 has come and gone, and in giving this short review of it we cannot but admit that it has been a very successful year; for there are many things to be taken into consideration in such a matter, and few will deny that in all points save one the football of the School during the season just over compares at least not unfavourably with that of any season in the past. The one point to which we refer is what is called "fortune of war"; and we may admit that a little more of the bad than of the good has fallen to our lot in regard to "casualties," and this has affected considerably our position in the G.P.S. Competition. But good luck is, according to someone, ever the handmaiden of skill; perhaps we shall find this to be true in the future.

We hoped that of those playing in the 1st XV of 1921 we should have six or seven as a good nucleus for our 1922 team, but Gregory and Braddock left before the season started, and McWilliam retired just after it started. The men that filled their places, however, have done excellent work and made us feel their absence less than appeared probable.

The absence of Crossman and Coote, our two centres, was a very serious matter, as centre three-quarters have very responsible positions, and their work with the halves requires more skill and practice than that of any other two on the field. Individually they were good, and together they formed a powerful means of attack, which would have stood us in good stead. The frequent changes necessitated by uncertainty in this matter militated strongly against those who replaced them, and Lane and Warden are to be congratulated upon their efforts to cope with the difficulty of stopping the formidable back divisions which caused our downfall on two occasions.

In all other respects, as we have said, we can congratulate ourselves on a very successful season, and look forward with confidence to the future, when those who have learnt the game in House matches and junior teams will carry on with more success—they cannot do so with more keenness and good spirit—the competitions in which the School engages with other G.P.S. teams. That they will be able to do so is due very largely to the interest which those now playing in the G.P.S. matches have taken in their own House competitions and training; and as long as this spirit is maintained, the chief aim of playing football, or any other game, is achieved.

One of the chief features of the teams playing was the improvement made in tackling. Effective tackling—not merely grabbing an opponent round the neck, or pushing him over—distinguishes a good Rugby player from a mediocre man, as it calls for condition, judgment and, last but not least, courage. In the earlier games there were signs of inability to appreciate this fact, and for this the nature of our grounds was largely responsible; at all events, the forward tackling in most of the later matches was of a very high quality, and shows that on the new ground, which gives promise of being fairly well grassed, and likely to be available for next year, we should have no difficulty in keeping up to our standards of the past.

As the details published below show, the House competitions have gone on all through the season. More boys have played than in any previous year, and many of the matches have been productive of quite close and exciting finishes.

The House practices formed an innovation which has quite justified itself, and next year such practices might be taken instead of House matches at the end of the first term so as to enable the House Football Committees to pick their teams with more experience to guide them.

Those responsible for the running of these practices know how keen the captains are in this matter, and we should like again to urge all those who wish to play to make more effort not to miss the regular practice.

We should like here to thank Mr. Brooks for his kindness in offering once again an Honour Cap, to be awarded by the committee to the one who was considered to have been of best all-round service to the team; and to congratulate Greive on having been the one to whom the cap was awarded. Also, we desire to congratulate those of our team who were picked for the All Schools' teams: Greive (half-back, and capt. of the 1st XV. All Schools v. G.P.S. Old Boys, and half-back in the match against United Services); Ward (1st XV. against Old Boys and in 2nd XV. against United Services) and Heggaton (2nd XV. against United Service); Hyndes (Reserve against United Services), Manchee, Stokes and Furner (All Schools 2nd Grade v. Combined Grammar Schools).

In regard to the All Schools' 2nd Grade, we should like to say that there seems to be grave danger of too many of these combined fixtures being arranged; the teams selected for them are very rarely the best teams that can be picked, and unless a system of selection can be devised which will obtain teams having a significance as fully representative of the Association, the matches would be better left unplayed.

We take this opportunity of congratulating S.G.S. on their fine performance in winning all their matches in the G.P.S. Competition this year.

The following awards have been made by the General Sports Committee of the School for this year:—

Honour Cap (for most valuable services to the team), presented by E. E. Brooks, Esq., M. Greive.

Honour Cap for best Back—M. Greive.

Honour Cap for best Forward—V. D. Heggaton.

MEMBERS OF 1st XV.

M. Greive (11-10).—(All Schools' 1st XV., 1922, twice, Capt. once.) Half and Captain; works the scrum very well, and fed his backs unflinchingly; sound and unselfish in attack and imperturbable in defence. As leader on the field is among the best the School has had.

V. D. Heggaton (10-0).—All Schools 2nd XV. 1922). Front row forward, left-hook; tireless worker, always on the ball; on the light side for this work; not available during early part of the season; clever dribbler; tackles unmistakably and with good judgment.

N. R. Cadwallader (10-0).—Breakaway forward. A little light, but makes up by his skill in dribbling, following on and tackling; occasionally liable to get-away too soon. Handles the ball well himself and always ready to pass, has done very well in his first season with the team.

J. P. Coote (9-7).—Typical inner centre: light but clever; did excellent work in attack; handles ball very well; had not very many opportunities to show his skill. Could have done excellent work with

O. C. Crossman (9-2).—Centre three-quarter, more particular outer: is easily among the best of the backs of the G.P.S. this year. Skilful in any phase of three-quarter play, and most effective tackler.

H. M. Hardy (11-10).—Lock in back row: handicapped by leg trouble, has improved in play but should be more effective in getting the ball at line-out.

H. R. Hyndes (11-4).—(Reserve for all Schools, 1922). Second row forward: a very useful, hard-working forward, and with another year's weight and skill added should be most serviceable next year. Very fine tackle, follows on well and liable at any moment to score.

G. Lane (11-5).—Five-eight: a little uncertain both in attack and defence; unable to learn thoroughly the duties of this position owing to casualties in team; occasionally did excellent work.

T. M. Scott (10-2).—Right-hook in front row: very capable forward but a little on light side; follows on excellently, handles and passes well, and has done his full share of work in front, and shone out in many rushes.

H. Pannifex (11-7).—Wing three-quarter; fine tackler in the open; his keenness in following up tends to get him out of position; should use better judgment in throwing out of touch; good scoring man occasionally.

C. D. Ward (10-0).—(All Schools 1st XV. v. Old Boys, 2nd XV v. United Services). Characteristic break-away forward: excellent in this position; good in line-out; always on the ball and ready to attack.

E. J. White (11-12).—Second row forward: a little slow at first, but improved considerably, particularly in open and handling; more effective at ruck work than at line-out; should use his weight more economically.

W. Carter (10-12).—Full-back occasionally: very keen player; should learn to time his tackles more accurately; liable to allow his opponent to get him in bad position. Fielded well, kicked with great skill under the new conditions.

E. Laurie (10-2).—Played five-eight and full-back: a little slow for either of these, but the change from one position to the other is very largely responsible for this; very sound defensive player at five-eight, and with more experience should do well.

A. L. Turner (11-6).—Centre front row: came in half way through the season, and justified his selection. Good worker and fine follow-on and tackler; lacked the experience necessary to compete against his "opposite number," but should do very well later on.

C. V. Walker (10-6).—Wing three-quarter: young and lacks experience; very willing, but is liable to hesitate too long. Excellent tackler in the open, but must learn to think quickly in attack. With another year's weight and training should make valuable scoring man.

D. A. Warden (9-0).—Played outer-centre for many of the matches, and considering his age and weight did remarkably well; fast and should be accurate in handling; always on the watch, and quick to take every opportunity that presents itself. He tackles very well, and with the heavy men opposed to him he could not be expected to do more.

The following matches were played during the season:—

v. Old Boys.—Won, 14—3. Tries by Crossman (2), Coote (2). Crossman converted one.

v. S.G.S.—Lost, 15—14. Tries by Pannifex, Hardy ii and Crossman (2). One converted by Crossman.

v. N.C.—Lost, 12—8. Tries by Greive and Hardy. Greive converted one.

v. T.K.S.—Won, 36—11. Tries by Crossman (4), Pannifex (2), C. V. Walker (2), and Ward. Greive kicked one penalty and converted three tries.

v. S.J.C.—Lost, 9—6. Tries by Lane and Pannifex.

v. St. Paul's College.—Lost, 5—3. Penalty goal by Greive.

v. S.G.S.—Lost, 18—3. Penalty goal by Greive.

v. T.A.S.

Played at Northbridge on Wednesday, July 5. Lost, 5—14.

For a time after kick-off the game was very even, up and down the field, followed by Armidale pressing, relief being afforded to us for off-side in scrum work. Handling by both sides was rather poor, the ball being frequently knocked on, and from one of these Greive marked and found touch. From the line-out Armidale secured, but kicked too hard. Arnott marked, and had a shot at goal, but the Armidale forwards blocked it. Three free kicks in succession against us gained considerable ground for Armidale, but Laurie, taking well, kicked down, and Armidale forced. Following up the drop out, the ball was gained by them, and a good piece of passing, in which both forwards and backs shared, ended in Mofatt scoring, but the kick at goal failed. (Armidale, 3—0.) A free kick to each side in succession for illegal work in scrum led to our possessing, and Arnott almost scored, but dropped the ball, and Armidale forced. Our backs were failing to reach their men, but the score was unaltered at half-time. (3—0.)

Just after resuming, Armidale marked, and shortly afterwards gained an easy try, Moffat simply running away from the field. He converted the kick, making the score 8—0; and this was quickly followed by another clever piece of intercepting by Moffatt. He then beat our full back, and passing to Stewart, the latter scored, but the kick failed. (11—0.)

Our forwards were working very well, as also were the Armidale pack, but we lacked the scoring power possessed by their back division, who outplayed us in this respect, Moffatt and Stacy shining out. The latter scored shortly after Stewart, but again the kick failed. (14—0.) A lot of loose forward play followed, and Carter seemed to be improving in his play, stopping several attacks and sending the ball back. Armidale returned one of his kicks rather short, and Salmon securing, ran, but was blocked, and tried unsuccessfully for a field goal. Shortly before full time Greive scored, and converting the kick, the game finished 14—5 against us.

v. S.H.S.—At Northbridge, Saturday, July 8. Lost, 8—12. Referee: Capt. L. J. Hempton.

This match was, unfortunately, not reported in detail, but sufficient record was kept to enable us to bemoan the very poor football shown by our back division. Time and again the ball came out, only to land "in the air." This is not to depreciate S.H.S. side, for they certainly thoroughly deserved their win—the first they have made for some time, and we heartily congratulate them, even though the victory gained was at our own expense. Newton was a great source of strength to S.H.S., and he was well backed up by the centres.

v. N.C.—At Stanmore, July 15. Draw, 6—6.

Team.—Backs: Laurie, Pannifex, Crossman, Coote, Walker, Lane, Greive. Forwards: Heggaton, Turner, Scott, White, Hyndes, Ward, Hardy, and Cadwallader.

This match, though set down for Northbridge, was played at Stanmore on account of the condition of the former ground. A little rain fell, sufficient to make the ball rather slippery, but it interfered very little with the ground. We kicked off, but the ball was brought back and a scrum given. Following this, we pressed, and Pannifex, from a pass out, made a good run, which ended without result. From a free N.C. sent the ball down the field, but Crossman cleared well. Another penalty against us for "feet up" was returned by Coote, but Andrews passed out, and N.C. pressed hard. Good attack and defence by both sides took the play up and down for some time, when N.C. marked close to our goal, but the kick failed, and Greive returned well. Again a penalty kick gave N.C. a shot at goal, which also failed, the ball being returned well by Crossman. Forward rushes by both sides resulted in Greive sending out through the centres, and Pannifex, who almost got over, but another mark enabled Gemmell, who was playing excellent football, both in taking, tackling, and kicking, to send it back, to be returned again by a good piece of dribbling, from which Scott secured, and passing to Hyndes, enabled the latter to score. A comparatively easy kick was unsuccessful. (3—0.)

For the rest of the first half the game was very fast and exciting, both sides making desperate efforts to score, but good tackling by both forwards and backs of each team prevented tries being registered for some time, but eventually N.C. scored, and the whistle went. (3—3.)

On re-starting the ball was returned well by Greive, but, Hardy being off-side, a penalty enabled N.C. to clear, and they pressed us hard, but were sent back again by a penalty kick for off-side. Gemmell marked the ball, and then a quick pass out enabled Pannifox to make a good run and score. Greive kicked an excellent goal, which, however, we could not count, as one of the N.C. forwards had touched the ball, and the score was 6 to 3 in our favour. After kick-off, Crossman secured, and by a brilliant run almost enabled Walker to score, but N.C. returned with a good forward rush, and narrowly missed kicking a goal from a penalty. Again they pressed, but our forwards all playing well, and headed by Cadwallader and White, brought the ball down at the toe. A line-out followed, but resulted, as was usually the case, in nothing definite. A little later another penalty enabled Whiteman to kick a good goal, making the score 6-6.

Generally speaking, the score indicated the merits of the game, as there was little to choose between the teams' play, the outstanding feature being Gemmell's work at full-back, his good judgment nullifying most of our attempts. There were far too many penalties against both sides—the result to a great extent of over-keenness on the part of the forwards.

v. St. Ignatius' College.—At North-bridge, Saturday, July 22. Won, 14-13.

Team.—Same as the previous match, except that Coote came in to inner centre and Warden played in place of Crossman.

Shortly after kick-off a penalty was awarded to us for off-side pass. We did not gain much, as S.I.C. returned well, but our backs, taking the ball, fumbled rather badly, and the game hung in the middle of the field for a time with a succession of scrums. We forced the ball back by rushes, but Heggaton being off-side enabled S.I.C. to clear. Again we attacked, but the ball was cleverly forced. From the drop-out Walker secured, and Lane, racing down with him, took the pass and scored, but the kick was unsuccessful. (3-0).

Each side was playing with great dash, Cadwallader and Ward sharing in some good dribbling, repeated by O'Dea and two other S.I.C. forwards, and the game went up and down, the backs of both sides not using the line as well as might be, until a mark and a penalty were given to us in quick succession, and from the latter Greive kicked a good goal. (6-0.) Shortly after the kick-off we were penalised for several forwards waiting too close to Duff when taking one of our returns, and the ball went out near our own line. Line-out was snapped up by S.I.C. half-back, who ran on, and Shields scored, but no goal resulted. (6-3.) The game continued very even until Coote cleverly intercepted a pass between five-eight and Morrissey, and, running well, scored, but the kick failed. (9-3.)

Both sides resumed play, very hard and fine dribbling, rushing, stopping, and returning continued, until a penalty was given against us for breach of rule in scrum (apparently), and Morrissey tried at goal, but failed, and Greives cleared out 25 with a well-judged kick. S.I.C. were beating us consistently for the ball, and their half securing, passed out quickly to five-eight to Morrissey, who scored, and MacDermott kicked the goal. (9-8.) This score was unaltered at half-time.

We kicked off, and a scrum followed a knock-on. "Feet up" by S.I.C. gave us a free-kick, which was well taken by MacDermott, and a passing rush by S.I.C. ended by Coote intercepting again and scoring. This time the kick by Greive was successful, and we led by 14-8. The ball, on being kicked off, was returned to the middle owing to S.I.C. men being in front of line, and good scrum work and following on by both sides ended by Lane marking from a knock-on and finding the line with a long, low kick. We pressed hard here, but Morrissey and Campbell replied well, and the former found touch with a fine kick. The line-out that followed was of advantage to nobody until S.I.C. broke through with ball at the toe but overran. Coote here hurt his ankle, and shortly afterwards retired. Three strong attacks by S.I.C., both forwards and backs, ended in a fine try by Morrissey, and McDermott again converted. (14-13.) The game now became very fast and exciting, with very little to choose between the teams. Pressure by us was followed by an attack on our line, and the tackling on both sides was good. S.J.C. forced, and pressed us very hard, but were penalised for off-side, and Greive had an unsuccessful shot, and the game shortly after ended 14—13 in our favour.

v. S.J.C.—At Hunter's Hill, July 26.

Team.—Backs: Laurie, Pannifex, Warden, Lane, Walker, Ralston, and Greive. Forwards: Scott, Turner, Heggaton, White, Hyndes, Cadwallader, Walker, and Ward.

This match was played on the Wednesday instead of Saturday to avoid clashing with the N.Z. v. N.S.W. match. For some little time after S.J.C. kicked off the game was very even, and a good rush by us ended in Greive having a penalty kick, when he found line very well. There was considerable loose play by both sides, and we were penalised for a forward off-side.

S.J.C. kicked well, and Laurie at full-back was beaten by the ball, which bounced away from him. Connare scored, the kick being successfully taken by Farrell. (5—0.) Again S.J.C. pressed, and were awarded a penalty, which enabled them to have a shot, which was unsuccessful. Greive, who was playing very well, had a shot from a penalty against S.J.C., but did not quite reach goal. The forwards of both sides were playing very hard, and the ball went up and down the field. Some fumbling by Lane, and later by Laurie, ended in S.J.C. scoring, the kick being unsuccessful. (8—0.) Almost immediately afterwards Simmons whipped the ball out to Reilly, who was playing the best game on the field. He ran very cleverly, and scored, Rummery converting by a good goal. (13—0.)

Kicking out, we forced the ball down the line, but S.J.C. returned well, and Laurie, misjudging the ball, put us in a rather dangerous position, from which good dribbling by White saved us. From a line-out Simmons passed to O'Reilly, and he to Galli, who ran very strongly and scored. A kick at goal failed. (16—0.) Half-time.

Greive kicked off on resuming, and we pressed hard. The forwards of both sides were again working very well, and the game became very fast.

Warden marked a long kick by S.J.C., but his return was rather poor, and they pressed again; Pannifex forcing. From drop-out they again attacked strongly, and after two of our forwards had fumbled rather badly, S.J.C. scored again, and Rummery converted. (21—0.)

This was followed by a good rush by our forwards, in which Scott, Cadwallader, and Heggaton shared, the last-named doing some very fine tackling. White had a shot from a penalty, but failed, and shortly afterwards, by the best piece of combined work shown by us during the match, Lane scored. (21—3.)

S.J.C. were not to be denied, and again pressed, but we drove them back, and Greive had a try for a field goal, which S.J.C. followed up by securing another try. (24—3.) Another rush down the field was stopped by a fine tackle by Heggaton within ten yards of our line, and the ball went out shortly afterwards at full time.

v. T.K.S.—At Parramatta, Friday, August 4. Lost, 17—3.

Team.—Backs: Laurie, Pannifex, Warden, Coote, Walker, Lane, and Greive. Forwards: Heggaton, Turner, Scott, White, Hyndes, Cadwallader, Hardy, and Ward.

No detailed account to hand of this match, which was played on the Friday afternoon to avoid clashing with the international fixture, N.Z. v. N.S.W., on the Saturday afternoon. The tables were turned on us this time, and T.K.S. proved greatly superior to us in utilising chances given to their backs. We, on the other hand, failed time and again to finish off attacks initiated by a forward rush or pass out from a scrum.

v. S.G.S.—At Rushcutter's Bay, Saturday, August 12. Lost, 21—3.

Team.—Backs: Carter, Pannifex, Warden, Lane, Walker, Laurie, and Greive. Forwards: Heggaton, Turner, Scott, Hyndes, White, Ward, Hardy, and Cadwalader.

Before one of the largest crowds seen at any of our matches, S.G.S. kicked off against the wind, which was fairly strong, and made the passing rather difficult to judge. Almost at once they pressed us hard, but the defence was good, and a mark enabled Greive to find the line in S.G.S. 25. Here a penalty was given against us for "feet up" in the scrum, and Ross sent the ball well down to our lines. Both sides attacked and defended well, tackling being excellent. The handling was a little erratic, but S.G.S. pressed, and Greive cleared by a good kick. We now forced the ball back, and from a penalty for passing off the ground Greive had a shot, but did not quite get it. Again S.G.S. pressed, and we were extricated from a nasty position by an excellent tackle by Pannifex, and S.G.S. were forced out in the corner. Shortly afterwards this happened again, McCathie being forced on to the corner flag.

The drop-out was well taken by Brown, and from a short kick Lane marked and sent the ball back.

Another penalty against S.G.S. for passing off ground enabled Greive to find touch in S.G.S. 25.

From the line out S.G.S. forwards brought the ball down, and again Pannifex picked up well and stopped the rush. A penalty was awarded to us for interference, and White kicked a good goal. (3—0.)

Several scrums in quick succession, and ruck work followed, S.G.S. having the best of this, and a quick pick-up by a forward enabled Bull, of S.G.S., to score. (3—3.) Shortly after this half-time was called. The score was not nearly enough for safety for us, but though we had attacked pretty frequently, the S.G.S. defence was too solid.

Greive kicked off, and S.G.S. forwards rushed the ball down, where Carter tackled very soundly, and the attack failed. This was followed by a similar attack being foiled by Carter forcing the man out at the corner. We secured from the line, and brought the ball down, and S.G.S. returned with a good kick, taken by Carter, who found touch well past half-way. Two penalties in succession against us for off-side resulted in very little; then two more in our favour had similar result, but from the last of these Brown, of S.G.S., secured, made a good run, and scored. (6—3.)

The weight of our opponents now began to tell, in addition to their skill, and they continually pressed us, and though we defended well, they were not to be denied, and McKenzie scored, Ross being successful this time, and the score was 11—3 against us. The S.G.S. backs now began to be more prominent, Alexander initiating the movements, and McDonald, with a clean "cut-in" scored, and Ross again kicked the goal. (16—3.) Within the next few minutes five penalties (three for us and two against) rather spoilt the game. Greive marked the ball well from a rush, and found touch with a well-judged kick, but from the line-out the ball was passed out quickly by James to Alexander, to McDonald, and a dangerous attack was only warded off by good tackling by Laurie and Greive. From some loose play Brown again secured and scored, and Ross added the extra points, making the score 21—3.

v. T.S.C.—At Northbridge, Saturday, August 19. Won, 8—6. Referee, Mr. Hay.

Team.—Same as previous week against S.G.S.

We kicked off, and ball rolled into touch. From the line-out Scott toed through, but again the ball went out, and T.S.C. forwards coming with a fine rush were stopped by a good kick by Hyndes. For some little time the game was very straggly, with poor combination by both sides, but Lane initiated a good movement, being well backed up by forwards, headed by Hyndes and Scott. This resulted in a good score by Greive, the goal being kicked by White. (5—0.) From kick-off Cadwallader took the ball, and with Turner and White rushed it on, but a penalty against Ward for off-side enabled T.S.C. to send us back again with a well-judged kick. From the line-out Lane secured and passed to Warden, who made a good rush, but failed to pass to Pannifex, and nothing resulted. Here T.S.C. forwards attacked very strongly, and, following on a penalty against us for off-side, scored, but the kick at goal was unsuccessful. (5—3.)

Very uninteresting play followed, our attempts at passing being very feeble and ineffective, while T.S.C. were very little better. Our forwards were following on well, but handling badly. T.S.C. had to force, and from the drop-out Greive made a good run down the line, but was forced out, and shortly afterwards the whistle went for half-time.

The same uninteresting play followed, but our backs and forwards were combining a little better, and a rush from half-way was stopped just on the line. T.S.C. took us by surprise at a line-out, but the ball was certainly not thrown in five yards. However, they made a good rush, and Corbett scored well. The kick was unsuccessful, and the game ended 8—6.

HOUSE FOOTBALL.

The competition this year was very closely contested. The final results were:

- 1st, Robson, 26 points.
- 2nd, School, 25 points.
- 3rd, Hodges, 20½ points.
- 4th, Barry, 10½ points.

Captains managed their teams well all through the season, and most of the matches raised considerable enthusiasm. In addition to this, only one football was lost. Thus the season has been a very successful one.

Captain Guy Pulling, who, with his wife has been spending the past three months at Bishopsgate is sailing on the Ormuz on September 19th to rejoin his regiment (2-6 Gurkhas) on the N.W. Frontier.

THE TORCH-BEARER.

Congratulations to P. W. Smyth-King on winning the University Law Scholarship.

Congratulations to L. G. Melville on being appointed Lecturer in Insurance Mathematics at the University. In our last issue it was stated that he had obtained high distinction in Economics I, together with Professor Irvine's prize. The following account of his career is taken from the Sun, of August 16:—

A lecturer at 20. This is the record created by Mr. L. G. Melville, who it was announced to-day, had been appointed lecturer in Insurance Mathematics at the University. Though Mr. Melville is not yet 21 years of age, he has done things with figures which would have made an Astronomer-Royal's mouth water. His career, up to the present, has been marked with exceptional brilliance, and the action of the University Senate in appointing such a young mathematician to the post of lecturer is more than proof of the regard in which he is held by the Faculty of Economics.

Mr. Melville began by winning the Barker Scholarship, No. 2, at the age of sixteen from the Sydney Church of England Grammar School. This enabled him to study mathematics, geology and astronomy under Professor Carslaw and others, in addition to taking an economics course. In 1921 he won the Barker Scholarship, No. 1, and was also attached to the actuarial staff of the State Superannuation Board. His record since then has been one of marked promise. Next month, Mr. Melville intends travelling to Stanthorpe with Mr. Gale, the astronomer, for the purpose of studying the approaching solar eclipse.

Captain Hugh Pulling has resigned his commission in the Indian Army. He arrived with his wife in the Marella on August 18th. He intends to reside in Australia.

The Killara Dance, on June 16, arranged by ladies of the North Shore line in aid of the Memorial Playing Fields, realised the sum of £61/10/-.

In the recent championship polo, R. O. Middleton played for Harden, H. E. A'Beckett captained the Wellington team, J. Ashton played for Goulburn Artillery, W. Litchfield was in the Cooma team (winners of the Dudley Cup), and J. H. Keys played for Muswellbrook (winners of the Garvin Cup).

H. H. I. Massie has resigned from the committee of the O.B.U. and has gone to America, where he intends remaining for six months.

Norman E. Brooks, A.C.P.A., is now a partner in the firm of Messrs Brooks & Deane, accounts and auditors.

L. C. Hutchinson, B.A., LL.B. (Camb.), whose career was sketched in the December number, has now returned to Sydney and has been admitted to the Bar of New South Wales.

Congratulations to R. C. M. Boyce, B.A., LL.B., and G. W. E. Walker B.A., LL.B., who, on June 7th, were sworn in by the Full Court as solicitors of the Supreme Court of New South Wales.

Dr. L. H. Stanton Cook, M.B., M.Ch., Sydney, who left Australia on active service in the A.I.F. in 1917, and who since his demobilisation at the conclusion of peace has been pursuing his post-graduate studies in London, has recently received the appointment of house surgeon at the Central London Ophthalmic Hospital, London. He proposes to return to Sydney in 1923.

W. S. Crane has left the Union Bank and is now on the staff of the Commonwealth Bank in Hobart. He has now the letters A.F.I.A. added to his name, having recently passed his final examination in accountancy.

On June 12 the Conjoint Board of the Royal Prince Alfred Hospital appointed the following as Resident medical Officers:—A. S. Boyd, L. B. Heath, J. Z. Huie. Drs. Chenhall and Gall have taken positions in the Royal Women's Hospital, Paddington.

P. E. Laffer has taken up the sea as a profession. He is a cadet in the A.U.S.N. Co., and when writing was on the s.s. Wyreema, which trades between Melbourne and Cairns. He says they are shifted from ship to ship during their four years cadetship.

S. H. Crawford has been selected by the Commonwealth Government line as a cadet, and is now on the way to England in the s.s. Hobsons Bay.

Dr. C. R. R. Huxtable has gone to England to specialise.

On May 18 the degree of Bachelor of Economics was conferred on Keast Burke, he being the first Old Boy to receive the degree. In his last course (Economics III), he won the Wilfrid E. Johnson prize for the best class essay, the subject chosen being "The course of unemployment in New South Wales since 1890."

F. P. Macintyre is now with the British Army of the Rhine at Cologne. He went there in October to rejoin his regiment, the 14th King's Hussars, after finishing his job in North Persia, where he had spent four years on the staff. Cologne, he writes, is one of the best stations he has ever been in, but only in summer, when there are more sports than any one man can do—polo, cricket, tennis, golf, race and show jump. The winter is bad; there is Rugby, but it is very much interfered with by frost, which is more or less continual during the winter months. Last year was very cold, and the Rhine was almost frozen over opposite the barracks—a thing unknown for a century. His two youngest brothers are still in the army, serving with their regiments in India—one in the 16th Lancers, to which he was transferred from 20th Hussars, and the other in the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders. The youngest married out there the other day, so only two of the brothers managed to remain bachelors, Peter and Alastrair (of the 16th Lancers). F.P. got an O.B.E. and four mentions during the war.

The Hon. Treasurer begs to acknowledge the following subscriptions received up to August 28:—
