MR. W. A. PURVES.

When failing health compelled Mr. Hodges to tender his resignation, it was felt that the Council had a difficult task to face in securing the services of one who could worthily follow such an ideal Headmaster. Their choice fell on Mr. Purves, and, as members of the Council have frequently told us on Speech Days, they have never had cause to regret their decision, for under his guidance the School has made remarkable progress and developed in many directions.

At Oxford, Mr. Purves was a scholar of his College (Queen's) and won distinction in the football field and on the river. After a short term as classical master at Ruthven School, North Wales, he was appointed Senior Assistant Master at Townsville Grammar School, and had the good fortune to be associated for nine years with Mr. Hodges, who was then Headmaster—in itself a liberal education. From Townsville he went as Senior Classical Master to the Church of England Grammar School, Melbourne, resigning this position two years later to become Headmaster of Toowoomba Grammar School, which he raised to the position of the largest residential Grammar School in Queensland. Thus, when in 1910 he came to us, Mr. Purves had had a wide educational experience and had seen the cities of many boys, and knew "their tricks and their manners."

This knowledge he has ungrudgingly devoted to the interests of the School, which during his term of office almost doubled in numbers, and added greatly both to its buildings and its institutions. The most important addition was the Chapel, so earnestly desired by both his predecessors, and so dear to Mr. Hodges' heart, and this Mr. Purves had the good fortune to see completed and in active use.

The most notable School buildings were the additional storey to the Class Room block, made possible by the generosity of Sir Samuel McCaughey; the Blackwood Memorial Laboratory, and the new dormitories in the School House. Many other changes have been necessitated by the increased attendance, while the purchase and development of the Sports Ground at Northbridge, with its latest improvement—the Mothers' Pavilion—will always be associated with his name.

Thanks to Mr. Russell Sinclair, the Boat Club is now comfortably housed up the river, and in this and many other instances in which parents have so generously shown their goodwill to the School, we feel that we owe much to our late Headmaster. Parents know his devotion to his pupils, and how unsparingly he gave of his best for their highest interests, and their gratitude took such pleasing forms as we have mentioned.

Of all these improvements which have added so much to the efficiency and comfort of the School, both at work and at play, Mr. Purves may most justly say "quorum pars magna fn." Many changes in educational matters took place during the period of his headmastership, the most notable, perhaps, being the disappearance of our old familiar friends the Senior and Junior, and the institution of the Intermediate and Leaving Certificate examinations, and the introduction of compulsory military service. But the war was, of course, the event which overshadowed all others, and while it made the life of a headmaster—always an exacting one—still more strenuous; it enabled those who were privileged to live through those trying times with him to see how sincere was his interest in all the boys who had gone from the School, whether of his own time or not, and how deeply he felt the oft-recurring losses we had to mourn. For all the sufferers by the war, he showed his sympathy in that best and rarest form—personal sacrifice and service; and we feel sure that our neighbours in Graythwaite will ever keep him in kindly remembrance for his many acts of goodness towards them.

When in his report at the Speech Day in 1912, he referred to the establishment of Duntroon and the Naval College, and, expressing the hope that the School would provide many candidates for them, said:—“If sacrifice is called for, none should be more ready to offer than the boys of a Church of England Grammar School,” he little thought, we imagine, how soon the call would come and how nobly it would be answered. Those war days were sad ones for all of us, but they enabled those associated with him to see and admire many fine qualities in Mr.

Purves, and to find that the ready sympathy he had always shown in time of trouble with his boys and his colleagues was of far wider range and higher quality than they had ever imagined.

As an educationalist, Mr. Purves has made his mark, but the School will always feel grateful to him, not only for his professional acquirements, but for his worthy ideals and the great and good influence he had upon its life in all its phases, and on its behalf we desire to express the hope that his health may be completely restored, and that many happy years may be granted to Mrs. Purves and himself to enjoy the leisure they have so thoroughly deserved.

The Rev. W. G. Hilliard, M.A., has been elected by the Standing Committee of the Diocese of Sydney as member of the School Council, vice the Rev. J. H. Maclean resigned.

We are pleased to welcome on the staff this term Mr. B. G. Davey, A.F.I.A., who has been for nine years assistant master at Geelong Grammar School.

The date of the annual Confirmation in the Chapel by the Archbishop has been fixed for October 25. Those who wish to be confirmed are asked to send in their names as early as possible.

In a letter received by the Headmaster from Mr. E. I. Robson (our first Headmaster), he wishes us to correct a statement appearing in our last issue to the effect that he holds the position of Director of Agriculture in England. It is true, he says, that he holds a position in that department, but in humbler capacity than that of Director.

Mr. Hixson was the first to see the possibility of raising the necessary funds, and the Boat-shed is now paid for—and the Mothers' Pavilion soon will be—shows what faith and enthusiasm can do. The shed, including the fine dormitory, was the contribution of Mr. Russell Sinclair, who also supplied the plans and supervised the construction. It is well that the boys of the School, both of to-day and of the future, should know to whom they are indebted for the advantages and pleasures they enjoy.

The School has to thank Mr. G. B. S. White (O.B.) for the gift of those splendid gates that adorn the entrance to the Memorial Sports Grounds. This is another evidence of the interest that Mr. White (who, by the way, is Honorary Secretary to the Council) has always displayed in all matters pertaining to the advancement of the School. We have also to thank Mr. H. H. I. Massie, who designed the gates and supervised their erection.

In the dining room of the School Boat-shed, at Gladesville, has been placed a small tablet on which is recorded the fact that the ground on which the shed is built and the accessories, the staging, the pontoon, the beds, the dining room and kitchen were paid for out of donations received by Mr. F. W. Hixson. It will serve also as an acknowledgment of the generosity of the many friends of the School to whom we are indebted for our splendid Boatshed.

As the result of examination in General Knowledge held last December, prizes have been awarded to J. K. Fletcher i., J. C. Johnston ii., and R. R. White ii.

School singing—the equivalent of what is known outside the School as Community singing—was introduced at the beginning of the Term. It takes place on Wednesday at one o'clock in the Hall. There is, of course, a fairly large field of popular songs to work on, including our School song, but there is still room for more songs, especially written for the School. We hope that boys, or Old Boys with any musical or poetical talent, will take this hint and make an effort to supply our wants in this respect.

We congratulate the following Old Boys for their success at the University in recent examinations:—J. H. Todhunter gained the George Allen Scholarship for Mathematics and High Distinction in the Engineering School; F. C. S. Stephen, the Wigram Allen Scholarship for General Proficiency and the Pitt Cobbett Prize for Constitutional Law in the Intermediate LL.B. Exam.; P. H. King; the University Medal and First Class Honours in the final LL.B. Examination; F. R. Louat, the Morven K. Nolan Prize for Political Science in the Intermediate LL.B. Examination.

THE CHAPEL.

The electric light has now been installed, so that it is possible to hold evening services. From the start of term Mattins has been said at 10.45 a.m., but no address. Evening service, with an address, is at 8 p.m. Owing to the completion of the organ a short recital is given after Evening-song. Addresses have been given this term by the Headmaster, the Rev. D. Davies, the Warden of St.

Paul's, Professor Holme, Mr. J. L. Pulling, and Mr. R. J. O. Harris. On April 15 the address will be given by the Rev. R. E. Freeth, on April 22 by the Lord Bishop of Bathurst; and on May 6 (School Anniversary Sunday) by His Grace the Archbishop of Sydney. This will be open Sunday, and the address will be given at Mattins at 10.45 a.m. The Archbishop will also administer the early Celebration at 8 a.m. On Anzac Day, April 25, the address will be given by Professor Sir Edgeworth David at 10 a.m.

"The 'Hodges' window,' of which description is given in an article on the chapel's windows, has been placed on the north side of the sanctuary. A tablet has also been placed in one of the Chancel steps in memory of the late Rev. Percival J. Sharp. The inscription consists of the words, "Blessed are the pure in heart."

The date for the annual Confirmation has been fixed for Thursday, October 25th, at 2.15 p.m. Names of candidates should be given in not later than the first week in next term.

The Chapel Windows.

Owing to the large number of new boys, it is thought desirable to give a short account of the Chapel windows. With the exception of the one recently placed in the Sanctuary—the Hodges' window, all are memorials to old boys killed in the war of 1914-18, and all have been designed by Mr. Norman Carter.

The Council's scheme is based upon the supreme fact of Christian belief in the Redemption. This will be treated in the great east window. Those in the nave represent emblems of service and self-sacrifice in the lives of the saints most associated with the allied nations and the struggle to defend modern civilisation. The west window will depict the most significant episode from the Saviour's boyhood when Joseph and Mary sought Him in the Temple.

The first window, next to the Vestry, on the north side, is in memory of Dr. Brian Pockley, the first Australian killed in the war (September 11, 1914). The subject is St. Luke, as the Beloved Physician, attending a wounded soldier. On the left side a wounded native is reclining, awaiting attention, and intended to connect the general idea with the Rabaul expedition. The figure of St. George is introduced because it symbolises the military side of Dr. Brian Pockley's profession. St. George's banner bears the Red Cross.

The second window in the north side, the "Milton window" (Private R. C. Milton) represents the conversion of St. Hubert. He was of good family, and was fond of the light side of life. One day when hunting a stag a cross suddenly appeared between the antlers, and a voice was heard to say, "Hubert, unless thou turnest to the Lord and leadest a holy life thou shalt go down quickly into hell." When he asked what he should do he was instructed to go and see Lambert, Bishop of Maastricht. The interview between the two is represented in the window. St. Hubert entered holy orders, and became first Bishop of Liege, and thirty-first Bishop of Maastricht. He is the patron Saint of Belgium.

The Black window (Lieut. R. Black, M.C.) represents St. Paul as apostle of the Gentiles, as a sort of Patron Saint to our allies amongst coloured people, and is in the act of blessing a young armoured warrior before going into battle. "Fight the good fight," St. Paul's words, are used as a text. The treatment of the subject was suggested by His Grace the Archbishop.

The subject of the "Wilson window" (Capt. J. S. Wilson), the last on the north side, is St. David Patron Saint of Wales, converting wild Welsh tribes to the Christian faith. He was of noble descent, his father being Prince Sandda. By consent of tradition, St. David is known as one of the "seven chosen champions of Christendom," who have guided and guarded the destinies of the nations of which they were the Patron saints. He is usually represented—as in the window—standing on a hill, which was miraculously raised under him while preaching, and with a dove on his shoulder.

The bottom window on the south side, near the west entrance, is in memory of Major R. R. Brown, M.C., and represents St. Patrick, Patron Saint of Ireland. The incident depicted is as follows: On Easter Day in full episcopal robes, with mitre and crozier, St. Patrick proceeded with his missionary band to the Hill of Slane and lighted the Paschal Fire on the summit. This was against the royal command of Leoghaire, the Ard Righ, or supreme monarch of Ireland, for the Druids had told him that if any fire was lighted before their own sacrificial fire it would never be extinguished. Leoghaire is seen on the right hand panel with Druids and men-at-arms interviewing St. Patrick, who is in the left-hand panel. The result of the interview was that the king gave his consent to the preaching of the Gospel throughout Ireland. With St. Patrick is the youth Benen, or Benignus, bearing the book of the Gospels. He was the son of the chieftain, Secsen. Benen had been so captivated with the Gospel doctrines that he became St. Patrick's inseparable companion, and afterwards was one of the Comhards, or successors, to St. Patrick in Armagh.

In the "Richardson window" (Capt. R. N. Richardson and Capt. L. L. Richardson, M.C.), which comes next on the south side, the incident depicted is taken from the life of St. Andrew, as described in the poems of Cynewulf. St. Andrew was told by the Almighty to go to the land of the Mermedonian folk and release St. Matthew, who was held prisoner there. He was rebuked when he said it was impossible to do so in the three days allotted to him. He was bidden to go to the sea-shore and there embark on a ship he would find. This he did, and in the window is represented speaking to Christ, though he did not recognise Him, being in the garb of the captain of the ship. St. Andrew is asked to "pay toll at the appointed rate," but on confessing that he had not the means the "captain" consented to take him without payment. After many incidents the mission was fulfilled.

Then comes the "Last window" (Gnr. L. W. G. Last), which represents St. Gregory as patron saint of Italy, interviewing one of the merchants who brought over the young Angles. His remark of "Angles, not Angles," is the incident represented.

The last window on the south side is that in memory of Lieut. J. A. Thompson, who fell at Bapaume on October 18, 1916. The emblem of his self-sacrifice is found in the devotion of St. Denis, Patron Saint of France, who converted the barbarians of Gaul, and became first Bishop of Paris, and was martyred. The window represents St. Denis, attended by Eleutherius and Rusticus, preaching to converts. The figure of the young warrior who stands by to protect the little band of believers is emblematic of the lusty and valiant youth which, without pretensions to saintliness, lives and dies in honour of the faith, among whose great attributes are justice and mercy, as well as courage.

The first section of the panelling on the south side is in memory of Lieut. C. V. McCulloch, and that on the north is in memory of Second-

Lieut. K. Taylor. The second section on the south side is in memory of the late Wilfrid Law Docker, for many years accountant to the School; while that on the north side is in memory of Mary Ida Howard Purves.

In the Sanctuary, the flag on the left is in memory of Capt. J. S. Wilson, and that on the right in memory of Second-Lieut. E. R. Sinclair, M.C. The sword was that carried by Lieut.-Col. F. D. W. Oatley during his campaigns.

The "Hodges window," on the north side of the Sanctuary, represents St. Paul and St. Peter. The St. Paul portion represents him as described in the last verses of the 21st chapter of the Acts, and in the first verses of the 22nd chapter, where he says to his captor, "I beseech thee to suffer me to speak unto the people." He then describes the main incidents of his life, leading up to the well-known incident at Damascus. The St. Peter panel represents him at the moment when our Lord said to him, after the incident of the miraculous draught of fishes, "Simon, fear not, from henceforth thou shalt catch men" (St. Luke v. 10). The conventional shaft of light descending upon him is intended to convey the spiritual nature of his conversion.

The following have been baptised since our last issue:—Resmond Randal Carey, Judith Gordon Sayers, Peter Gordon Sayers.

The Chapel Committee desire to thank Mrs. Walmsley for her kindness in renovating the cassocks and surplices for members of the choir.

The Hon. Treasurer for the Chapel Fund begs to acknowledge, with many thanks, the following donations to the East End memorial window, to be erected in memory of all Old Boys who volunteered for the great war:—G. P. Blake, £2/2/-; "Q," £2; E. A. D. R. Hill, £3/3/-; Resmond Randal Carey, £3/3/-; Judith Gordon and Peter Gordon Sayers, £2/2/-; R. G. H. Walmsley, £1/1/-; His Honour Judge Backhouse, £25 (second donation). The amount to the credit of the Window Fund, as per Savings Bank pass-book, is now £265/17/3. The estimated cost is about £500.

The Pockley Memorial Organ.

The fine instrument presented by Mrs. John Graham Antill Pockley in memory of her husband, Lieut. Pockley, who was killed in France on March 20, 1918, is now finished except for the Open Diapason on the pedal organ. The organ should be of untold value in assisting hearty singing in our services; indeed, considerable improvement has been noticeable already. It is up-to-date in all respects, and possesses a fine tone, which will improve in the course of a year or two. The following details should be of interest:—

Specification of Great Organ.

THE PASSION PLAY OF OBERAMMERGAU.

The following letter has been received from George Blackwood, writing from London:—

I have just come back from the Continent, where I saw a performance of the "Passion Play," and I thought you might like to hear about it.

In the year 1633 a contagious disease raged in the neighbouring districts of the Ammer Valley. In the general distress the community made a solemn vow to represent the Passion of the world's Saviour every ten years in grateful veneration of Him. Not another person died of the disease, though many lay ill of it, and in the following year (1634), in order to fulfil the vow, the Passion of Christ was played for the first time, and from 1680 was performed every tenth year, and since then the community of Oberammergau have faithfully fulfilled the vow of their forefathers.

The theatre holds four thousand people, and the seats are arranged in straight rows on a gradual slope upwards from the stage. The stage is uncovered, and the surrounding country serves as a background. In the centre stands a covered stage, in which the interiors, tableaux, and all scenes requiring special scenery are acted. While it is not in use curtains are drawn across the entrance. On either side of this covered stage is a street, and on the extreme right and left of the stage stand two houses, one belonging to Pilate and the other to Annas.

Punctually on the stroke of eight, the orchestra, composed of fifty men, commences, and the chorus of twenty-one men and twenty-one women enter from either side and take up their position in a straight line across the stage. An old man with a white flowing beard and clad in white robes takes the part of the choragus, intoning the various parts that are not sung by the chorus. The chorus make their exit after the Prologue and a song of praise, and the curtain rises on the entry into Jerusalem, amid the shouts and exultations of the throngs of people gradually filling the whole stage; while our Lord is shown driving out of the temple the money-changers and those that buy and sell.

The first tableau shows the sons of Jacob conspiring against Joseph, and the scene is explained by the chorus, as it is in all the tableaux. After the tableau taken from the Old Testament comes the similar one from the New Testament, in which the High Priests and Scribes take counsel together how they may get our Lord into their power. This scene is a long one, and is followed by the scene of the parting at Bethany, preceded by a tableau showing the departure of Tobias from his home. It was exquisitely played with deep feeling, and the old Swiss lady next to me sighed aloud and wept copiously. I shall never forget the tenderness with which the player of Mary Magdalene wiped the feet of our Lord with her long fair hair.

The story moves on until we come to the Last Supper, which is preceded by two tableaux—one, the manna in the wilderness, and the other the grapes brought by the spies from Canaan. The Last Supper was another most impressive scene, and the acting of Judas was very fine. After the Last Supper there is a tableau showing Joseph sold by his brethren, as a prelude to the scene where Judas promises to deliver his Master into the hands of the Pharisees for thirty pieces of silver, leading up to the betrayal of our Lord with a kiss. The scene of the Garden of Gethsemane closes the first half of the Passion Play about the hour of mid-day.

At two o'clock the play continues, opening with the scene in which our Lord is brought before Annas. Then follows a tableau of the innocent Naboth condemned to death by false witnesses, which serves as an introduction to the scene in which Christ is condemned to death by the High Council to whom Judas comes repentant, and in a scene of great emotion returns the pieces of silver he has received as a reward; after which we see him, filled with the utmost despair before a tree, "Here accursed life will I end thee. On this tree will hang the most wretched fruit."

Samson being made sport of by the Philistines, introduces the scene in Herod's Hall, leading up to the second appearance before Pilate, who proposes the choosing between Christ and Barabbas. A double chorus, in which the people sing behind the scenes, alternates with this chorus, and finally Pilate shows the scourged and crowned Christ to the people who demand the release of Barabbas while Pilate's position is endangered by threats. He gives Barabbas his freedom and Christ is condemned to death.

A tableau of Isaac bearing the wood up Mount Moriah precedes the way to the Cross, when our Lord is met by His Mother, and Simon of Cyrene is chosen to bear the Cross. The Prologue before Calvary is sung by the chorus attired in black cloaks, and the scene of the Crucifixion can never be forgotten by anyone who has seen the play. It is so wonderfully realistic, and the pathos of the words, "Eloi! Eloi! Lama Sabachthani," is intense.

The Resurrection was most beautifully portrayed, and especially impressive were the closing words of Mary Magdalene, "O would I that I could send my voice throughout the world, that the mountains and rocks, sky and earth would give back its echo, "Allelujah! He is risen!" And the curtains fall on a tableau of our Lord ascending into Heaven.

It is a wonderful production in every way. The acting is excellent throughout, and the whole play is free from the crudities one might expect from such a production produced entirely, as it is, by the peasants of the village of Oberammergau. Anton Lang, who plays the part of our Lord, has played the part three times—in 1900, 1910, and in the present production, and it is a most remarkable performance. He is a most unassuming man to meet; I think he is a potter by profession. His brother Alois plays the part of Nathaniël, and is also a most natural man in his home, where he has some exquisite pieces of his own carving. The character of Judas is wonderfully portrayed and commands a great deal of sympathy. Robert Louis Stevenson's thoughts on the character of Judas are much the same as those adopted by the authors of the Passion Play. The players of Mary the Mother, and Mary Magdalene are exquisite both in speech and acting.

People of every nation surround you at a performance, many take refreshments, and one old man near me had a knife in one hand and a loaf of bread in the other while the tears streaming down his cheeks mingled with the bread in his hand.

THE IDEAL SPORTSMAN.

Following the signing of the Armistice, many sports meetings were held by the British troops in the various war areas. At the end of April, 1919, the athletic championships were held at Aldershot, called the Inter-Theatre of War Tournament. For this event men were brought from almost every part of the world where British forces were operating, but there were very few Australians in the lists.

Amongst the prizes offered was a cup for the non-commissioned officer or man who, on the votes of all competitors (about 400), approached most closely the ideal sportsman. The donor, in presenting the cups, made the following statement:—

“I decided to present the cup to the non-commissioned officer or man among all in the inter-theatre of war teams who, in the opinion of the men themselves, was considered the best sportsman. The conditions drawn up by Colonel Campbell—no one knows better what is required of a sportsman—are excellent. I will read them, because I would like the world to know what the army thinks a real good sportsman should be.

The conditions were:—

1. He must play the game for the sake of the game.
2. He must play for his side and not for himself.
3. He must be a good loser and a good winner. He must be modest in victory and generous in defeat.
4. He must accept all decisions in proper spirit.
5. He must be chivalrous towards a defeated opponent.
6. He must be unselfish and always ready to help others in every possible way to become proficient in sport.
7. He must be a cheerful comrade.

“The winner was Harold Hardwick, the present Departmental Supervisor of Swimming.

ROWING.

Following up the work done during the third term of last year, twenty-five boys went into Christmas camp at the Sinclair shed on January 29. Ideal weather prevailed, and the eight and four fours were ultimately boated before the end of camp. Various changes have been made in these crews since their selection, their seating at present being as follows:—

Eight.—(Bow) Vivers, (2) Pennefather, (3) Ralph, (4) Lloyd, (5) Whatmore, (6) Lane, (7) Hill, (str.) Owen, (cox) Johnson.

First Four.—(Bow) Cowlshaw,

(2) Hipsley, (3) Litchfield, (str.) Robinson, (cox) Read.

Second Four.—(Bow) Jones, (2) Best, (3) Macoun, (str.) Walton, (cox) Ward.

During the term our old friend and coach, Allan Ramsay, relinquished the coaching of the Eight, and handed it over to the Headmaster. The crew will be on the light side, but is fairly well together at present. They went into their new racing boat on Monday, April 9, and found little difficulty in sitting her. The crew is inclined to be very stiff and sluggish, but is now fast waking up. At times they show signs of very good pace. A great deal of improvement is to be expected before the race.

The First Four is a powerful crew, averaging 10 st. 6lb., and promise to do very well. Slight irregularities in timing, recovery, and swing are making the boat somewhat unsteady at present, but these are partly due to the increase of the rating. By the time of the race it is expected that the crew will be much smoother, and, as they have already developed a firm beginning, followed by a hand-swing and leg drive, they should do very well.

The Second Four is rather light, averaging only 10 st., but is fairly strong, and should have no difficulty in coming to a good standard by the time of the race. They were later in getting together than the other crews, and as a consequence have not reached a very advanced stage. Their work during the first three days of camp has been entirely satisfactory. They have developed a good, firm grip at the catch, and a hard drive with body and legs, which is sending the boat along at a satisfactory speed. The recovery is not yet quite smart enough, but is smooth and easy, and the crew should have no difficulty in obtaining the required rate of striking. They are much in advance of last year's second four at a corresponding stage, and, barring accidents, can reasonably be expected to give a good account of themselves in the race.

It is to be regretted that Cliff and Wakefield had to drop out of the crews at an early stage owing to illness. They would both have been very useful men to have had. The Boat Club express their thanks to Messrs. Burrell and Byth, who have been coaching the third and fourth years respectively, and have provided thereby an efficient reserve for the other crews to call upon in case of need.

We wish to acknowledge, with many thanks, the receipt of the flag to be carried on the bow of the eight, presented by Miss C. Oberlin Harris.

Allan Ramsay.

In 1891, when for the first time an S.C.E.G.S. crew appeared on the river at St. Ignatius Regatta, and defeated the Riverview crew by many lengths, an interested spectator was

Mr. Allan Ramsay. From that time he identified himself with the School Boat Club, and for some years had a hand in the preparation of all our crews. He was a member of the famous North Shore Eight, stroked by Mr. F. Moore, and filled a seat in the N.S.W. Eight in the Inter-State Championship. In 1903, when the School Boat Club was at a very low ebb, Mr. Ramsay took charge of the crew, and for over twenty years in succession he has devoted himself to the arduous task of preparing our crews for the annual regatta. He has borne defeat with equanimity. He has won magnificent victories, notably that in the first race for Eights, in which the stroke, Paul Voss, overtook the fine St. Joseph's crew, coached by Roger Fitzhardinge, at Putney, and beat them by a canvass. But Mr. Ramsay has taught all the boys who came under him many things besides rowing, and there was not one who was not a better man from the daily association with him, and who does not remember with gratitude and pleasure all that Mr. Ramsay did for him. Mr. Ramsay has made an indelible mark in the history of the School Boat Club, and, although we cannot adequately express our gratitude for a lifelong devotion to the School, we hope he will have for years to come the knowledge that his name stands high in the memory of old C.E.G.S. boys scattered over a considerable portion of Australia.

We trust that he will be long spared to enjoy his well-earned rest from coaching. We know that his interest in the School and in its rowing will not diminish in the coming years. In conclusion, we, the School, past and present, recognise that Mr. Ramsay has been animated by the spirit inspired by the School motto: Tradit lampada vitai.

Boat Club Dance.

The Boat Club held a very successful dance on the evening of Friday, April 6, in the Warringah Hall, Neutral Bay. The hall was decorated with festoons of blue and white, doorways being marked by crossed oars brought from the shed for the purpose. The attendance numbered about 240, which filled the hall comfortably without overcrowding, suitable music being contributed by Powell's orchestra.

The assistance of a committee of ladies was invoked, with a view to obtaining donations of cake, sandwiches, etc., towards the supper. This committee worked so successfully, and was backed up so well, that they were able to sell a quantity of surplus material after the dance, thereby adding to the financial success of the function. By this means expenses were kept down to a minimum, and at the time of writing over £60 has been realised as net profit.

The Committee desires to thank, through these columns, all those who contributed to the supper, and particularly Mesdames Robson, Tiley, Russell, Sinclair, Freeth, Walton, Merrett, Cowlshaw, Burrell, and Misses Warden and Grindrod, for their generous donations, and their work in preparing the supper at the hall on the morning of the dance. Messrs. Cliff and Walton are heartily thanked for the use of their cars and time on the morning of the dance.

The success of the function has been such as to make all concerned with running it look forward to the possibility of another similar function in other years.

The office-bearers were: H. S. Lloyd, captain, boats; Chairman of Committee and M.C.; J. G. Hill, Hon. Sec.; W. G. Whatmore, Hon. Treasurer; G. M. Pennefather and N. W. Owen.

CADET CORPS.

During the term members of the citizen forces and the senior quota have received regular instruction in the Lewis gun.

An examination for N.C.O.'s was held, resulting as follows:—Passed for sergeant: R. T. Cowlshaw, G. M. Pennefather, R. B. Roberts, B. M. Salmon. Passed for corporal: J. H. Byers, R. N. Cadwallader, D. R. Denne, A. E. Dixon, S. Griffith, N. B. Hudson, H. S. Lloyd, G. Lane, F. W. Merewether, E. T. Robinson, E. M. Swire, G. M. Taylor, and E. D. Thane.

On March 24 the School put a team in for the drill competition in the annual military sports, held at the Sports Ground. Owing to rowers and cricketers being unavailable, our choice was somewhat restricted, but a good team was got together, and by keen daily practice, assisted by much valuable assistance from the A.O., both in drilling and clothing them, they reached a high standard, and succeeded in winning the State Championship. The following is an extract from a letter of congratulation received from Major-General Brand, the Divisional Commander:—

The Divisional Commander will be glad if you will convey to the officer commanding, instructors, and members of the detachment which won the Drill Competition on Saturday last his appreciation of the high standard obtained.

The example set to other units augurs well for future competitions of a similar nature. Besides bringing credit to Area 17B and 17th Battalion, the members of this team maintained the standard of excellence always associated with the Sydney Church of England Grammar School. One of the judges remarked, "It was the best-drilled unit he had seen for many years."

The names of members of the team are as follows:—Cp. A. E. Dixon, J. M. Armstrong, C. V. Walker, T. L. Bray, A. B. Bertie, K. N. Larkin, E. D. Thane, R. N. Stuart, E. M. Swire, H. A. Shorter, N. B. Hudson, G. M. Thomas, G. F. Baker, C. W. Ritchford, D. R. Ward, D. A. Warden, W. G. Perks, N. A. Adam, P. A. Packer, H. D. Wolstenholme, F. H. Smith, S. Griffith, N. Davidson, R.

M. Bowker, D. L. Jones, J. A. Bright, T. Old, P. Woodhill. Drummer: F. Hinder. Emergencies: A. Simpson, G. E. Mason, A. R. Mutton, F. Henderson, G. S. Old, W. K. Cowlshaw.

SWIMMING CARNIVAL.

On March 26 the School held its Twenty-first Swimming Carnival at Lavender Bay Baths.

A fine day prevailed, and a crowded attendance testified to the popularity of aquatic sports. During the programme, Mr. Eve, champion diver of Australia, and Mr. Wann, runner-up, gave an interesting exhibition of diving.

In the All Schools' Teams' Race the competitors were: Sydney High School, Sydney Grammar, St. Ignatius, and the School. The race resulted in a dead heat between Grammar and ourselves.

CRICKET.

The team has been a very successful one. The School has played each member of the G.P.S. with the exception of Sydney High School, and has won five out of the six matches. In these games 1,934 runs have been scored, at an average of 32 runs per wicket, against our opponents' 1,052, at an average of 16.

Salmon has not only captained the team admirably, but compiled the extremely large total of 747 runs, at an average of 106.7, making a total of 1,183 runs for the season. His score of 225 is the largest so far compiled on the Memorial Grounds at North-bridge. He stands out as a batsman of great possibilities. Byers and Mackellar have also batted very well. The former's innings of 147 was a very fine one, with plenty of wood behind the strokes. Mackellar's wicket-keeping has also been of high standard, and his batting very sound. On two occasions he sacrificed his own innings in being run out, thinking his partner of more use to the side. Incidents such as these show the fine sportsmanship with which the game can be played, and good sportsmanship is, after all, the end of the game.

The fielding, with two exceptions, has been excellent, but one of the two exceptions lost us the only game of the term.

Both McNamara and Smith have bowled consistently well, and are worth a place in any side. The slip fielding has vastly improved. Joule is always safe, while Ralston, at times brilliant, is uncertain.

Byers, Greive, and Hyndes are sound out-fields, and our success has been greatly aided by their work.

The team has played the game and worked together under a leader who knows the game, and who never shows anxiety, a leading quality in captainship.

It is a pity that there is only one round in the competition, or that such games are not played for a day and a half, which would give a team behind on the first innings a chance of making good on the second.

COMPETITION MATCHES.

v. St. Joseph's College.—The first of the competition matches was played at Hunter's Hill on Saturday, March 3, and won by an innings and 54 runs.

Salmon won the toss, and sent St. Joseph's in on a wicket which was slightly soft, after rain.

McNamara and Smith opened the bowling, and were at once successful.

As in all the matches, Salmon changed the bowling often, with the result that no bowler was either tired or expensive. For St. Joseph's, Hamilton, although missed first ball, played a good innings, and, with Wright, made more than half the score. Wright was run out on what appeared an impossible run. The fielding was excellent, especially in the slips, where seven chances were given and all taken. With 148 to get, School opened its innings with twenty minutes to play before lunch.

At the adjournment the score stood at one wicket for 42.

After lunch the score mounted quickly. Salmon (88) batted in top form, picking the fast ones to leg, and back-cutting with great accuracy. Mackellar (47) and Cadwallader (43) also played well.

With 134 to get, St. Joseph's followed on. Meurer (50) was the only one to show much form, and their second innings closed for 80, McNamara and Smith each obtaining four wickets.

For St. Joseph's, Galli and O'Hearn were always dangerous, and bowled accurately and fast. Wright, generally a very successful bowler, seemed off his form.

v. The Scots' College, played at the Scots' College on Saturday, March 10, and won by 244 runs on the first innings.

Salmon again won the toss, and decided to bat on a good wicket. The scoring before lunch was rather slow, but afterwards runs came freely, and Salmon quickly ran to his century. The placing of his shots was accurate, especially past point and cover. At 120 he was caught and bowled from a ball which rose quickly.

Mackellar again played a good innings for 47. He is always sound, and makes very few mistakes.

Ralston (40) and McNamara (39) lost no time in getting their runs, and severely punished the bowling. The innings closed for 371 runs.

At the end of the day Scots' had lost five wickets for 99. Of these Barr scored 54 in an attractive style. He appears to have developed his defence, and also the power of his shots. Crighton Smith batted well for 20, with a fair amount of weight behind his strokes. The match was continued on Monday afternoon, but few runs were scored. The innings closed with a total of 127.

v. S.G.S., played at Rushcutter's Bay on Saturday, March 17, and lost by 10 runs on the first innings.

Beyond the close finish the game had no outstanding feature. With the exception of Byer's 33, the batting on both sides was very slow and unenterprising. Our fielding was poor, and it was here that the game was actually lost. Both sides lost a number of runs between the wickets.

v. Newington College, played at North-bridge on Saturday, March 24, and won by 147 runs on the first innings. The School won the toss, and batted on a perfect wicket. Salmon again was in excellent form, and compiled his second double century of the term. He completely mastered the very good bowling of Newington College, and he was the only one to do so. His score of 225 included thirty-four fours.

The main feature of the School innings was the last wicket partnership of Salmon and Smith, of 153 runs, of which Salmon scored 110. He had batted the whole of the innings, and his last 100 was brilliant.

For Newington College, Bardsley showed that he should be a really great bowler. Since our last match he has gained greater control of length at a very wise sacrifice of pace. His two wickets were obtained on perfect balls, and at no stage was his bowling loose. Jarrett bowled twenty-one overs, which is almost too many for a school boy. His bowling was erratic, but his good ball dangerous, as was shown by his five wickets. Newington opened their innings with an hour and a quarter to play. Runs came very slowly, and when stumps were drawn four wickets were down for 29, of which Bardsley had made 20. The match was continued on Tuesday afternoon, when Newington put up a great fight. The remaining six men batted all the afternoon, and brought their total to 255, a very fine performance after their unsuccessful start. Campbell (not out, 79) batted very well, and showed a variety of strokes. Newington showed that they can be a very hard team to defeat, and it needed eight bowlers to do so.

2nd XI.

Seven matches have been played this term. In a non-competition match with T.K.S. we lost by 1 run.

The previous match with them in 1922 ended exactly the same. We won three of the four competition games. Owing to the House Competition, practice at the nets was delayed a fortnight right at the beginning of the term. This was unfortunate. As soon as net practice began the team rapidly improved. There is still room for improvement in the fielding and in the bowling department. Laurie could not retain his excellent form of last year. Tyrrell should do well when he can keep a good length. A purely leg-break bowler, who maintains a good length, is far more effective than the googly bowler of most uncertain pitch. Individually, Sheather and Eagles (all round), and Goddard (batting) have come on splendidly. Eagles has acquired more scoring strokes, is at times a dangerous bowler, and always an excellent field. Shepherd promises well behind the sticks. Lawrie performed the duties of captain very well. Results as follows:—

v. St. Joseph's College.—Lost by 64 runs on first innings. St. Joseph's, 178; S.G.E.C.S., 114.

v. T.S.C.—Won by 125 runs on first innings. S.C.E.G.S., 206 (Chapman 51); T.S.C., 81 and 49 for 7 wickets (Allen 4 for 7).

v. S.G.S.—Won by 69 runs on first innings. S.G.S., 151; S.C.E.G.S., 220 (Goddard 58, Eagles 6 for 34).

v. N.C.—Won by 85 runs on first innings. N.C., 189; S.C.E.G.S., 274 (Eagles 95, Goddard 72).

MEMORIAL GROUNDS.

Since our last issue a very handsome set of gates has been erected at the main entrance to the grounds. They were presented by Mr. A. B. S. White and form a much-needed improvement to the appearance of the grounds. Mr. H. H. I. Massie was good enough to give his services gratuitously for the designing of the gates and to supervise their construction.

In accordance with a motion passed at the Annual Meeting in October, a special general meeting was held in the School Library on March 8th to receive the report of the Committee concerning the inauguration of an Old Boys' Club, and to come to a decision as to the formation thereof. There was a very good attendance, under the chairmanship of the Headmaster. After a long discussion it was resolved that an Old Boys' Union Club be formed, provided that at least 350 join at an annual subscription of £1/1/-, with an entrance fee of £1/1/-. A Committee was appointed to go fully into the details and to make enquiries as to the possibility of suitable rooms, etc. The Committee consisted of Messrs D. B. Carver, S. W. Crane, A. A. Heath, N. D. McIntosh, and Dudley Williams, with Mr. N. Y. Deane as consultant. They have not yet finished their inquiries, but the result will be posted to all members as soon as available.

At a committee meeting held on February 8th, it was resolved to hold the Annual Dinner and football match on May 4th. The arrangements for the dinner were left in the hands of Messrs. A. H. Curlewis, J. L. Pulling and Col. A. H. Moseley, and for the selection of the O.B.U XV. to Messrs. R. G. O. Harris, F. D'Arcy Hixson and L. O. Rutherford. Details of both events will be posted to all members within a few days.

On Sunday, May 6th, the School Anniversary Service will be held in the Chapel. The Archbishop will preach at the 10.45 a.m. service, and will dedicate some of the new additions to the Chapel. He will also celebrate at the early service at 8 a.m. Will Old Boys note that there is always an evening service in the Chapel on Sundays, at 8 p.m., except on the Anniversary Sunday, when the service is at 10.45 a.m., and during the boarders' week-end exacts. On April 25th (Anzac Day) the address will be given by Professor Sir Edgeworth David.

The Hon. Treasurer has received his annual donation from "Q," which he has disbursed as follows:— Chapel (Memorial window) £2; Hospital and Mission Fund, £1; Library, £1; Athletic sports, £1.

Capt. Julian Simpson writes from Nigeria:—

"I hope to pay a visit to the School in the near future; it may not be next year, but I have great hopes of doing so in 1924. I have now completed twenty-one months, and I am to be relieved towards the end of January, and I shall then sail for England for five months leave. It is possible I may not return here. I am on the regular army reserve of officers of my regiment, and can always be restored to the active list, and from there sent on to service to India, or else I can enter the Indian political service. It has for long been my fixed intention to enter English politics, and I first wish to gain some knowledge of India today. I am quite ready for a holiday. I have worked at high pressure all these months; there are no hours that may not become business hours. Re the note in the last issue of Torch-Bearer, please have it corrected. I am merely an administrative officer—one of many, and a junior at that, and though perhaps the appointment is in some ways a distinction, it pales into insignificance in comparison with that of the governorship of this great Crown colony. It is known as Nigeria—not British Nigeria. The Governor is Sir Hugh Clifford, K.C.M.G. The Governor of the Southern Province is Col. Moorhouse, D.S.O., etc., whose name may be familiar to some who come into contact with the Naval Brigade at Gallipoli.

Hodges' Memorial Fund.—The Hon. Treasurer begs to acknowledge the donation of £1/1/- from Mr. R. G. H. Walmsley.

Congratulations to F. C. Stephen on being equal for the Wigram-Allen Scholarship for general proficiency in the subjects of Section I. of the Intermediate LL.B. examination; also for being equal in the Pitt-Corbett Prize for Constitutional Law; also for obtaining first place (equal) in Roman and Constitutional Law; to F. R. Louat on winning the Morven K. Nolan Prize for Political Science; and to J. H. Todhunter on winning the First Year Mathematical Scholarship.

Chapel. The service was taken by Mr. Davies, the acting-school chaplain. The bride and bridegroom, Gwendolyn Davies and G. P. Blaké, belonged to the school, the former being a daughter of a member of the staff, and the latter an old boy. The best man, J. N. Chesterman, was an old boy, and the bridesmaid was a sister of the bride. Mr. J. L. Pulling acted as usher, and Mr. Walmsley presided at the organ. The majority of the staff and boys were present, and the chapel was well filled. A fairly large number of old boys were also present.

Ivan F. Anderson has been appointed sales manager for the Connaught Motor Cycle Co., Birmingham. For the past three years he has been associated with the motor cycle business at Taunton. In addition to his fame as a rider of the light-weight Connaught at Taunton, he was a regular competitor in such well-known events as the six days' trial promoted by the A.C.U., the London-Exeter trial, and the open trial of the South-Western Centre. During the Easter week he was competing in the London-Land's End trial.

On December 13 an interesting wedding took place in the School

man, L. F. Dods, A. W. D'Ombrain, C. C. Finlay, R. Jeremy, R. Vallack, and J. M. Woods.

Our sincere sympathy goes to J. G. Windeyer in his accident. He was caught by the threshing machine, and sustained such injuries to his leg that we are told it was necessary to amputate.

A. M. Welsh has been elected captain of the Sydney University Rifle Team.

G. W. E. Walker has been admitted into partnership with his father, Mr. F. W. Walker, and they intend to carry on the business as solicitors under the name of F. W. Walker and Son, at the Builders' Exchange, 12 Castlereagh Street, Sydney.

[Since writing the above, we have received news of Mr. Walker's death, and we sincerely sympathise with the family in their sad loss.]

At Moree last Christmas the Honorary Treasurer met or heard of a large number of old boys who were settled in the neighbourhood. Among them were Bevan, Brama, Bucknell, Coates, Hobson, Hobbes, Lillyman, R. Lomax, Loder (two), Manchee, Meynink, Moses, Penfold, Moodie, Schultz, St. John, Ophir Taylor, Thompson, Trennery, Zlotkowski, Williams (two). With so many about it would be a very easy matter to hold some kind of function at the same date and time as the annual dinner in Sydney. Will someone take it in hand? A suggestion was made that the annual gathering in Sydney should take place during the spring meeting, as it would give an opportunity for several country members to be present. This will be brought before the committee in time for arrangements to be made for the next annual.

R. L. Brodie writes:—

"I am in the Northern Territory. I have rather a decent job with a mica mining company, as their chief grader and cutter. The mines are in the Harts Ranges, about 120 miles from Alice Springs, our nearest town. We get our stores and mail out every month by camel team, which on its return takes the mica already packed in cases for the home and overseas markets.

"It is rather a long but interesting trip from Sydney. The train from Adelaide to Oodnadatta, the head of the line, leaves the former place every fortnight, and takes three days to reach its destination, nearly 700 miles. From there to Alice Springs, a distance of 350 miles, is done by camels, and takes eleven days. There is a fortnightly camel mail between Oodnadatta and Alice Springs, by which I travelled. The teams with stores take considerably longer—a month or more. At Alice Springs I met the mine's team of camels. I was lucky and secured a horse to ride, as one gets very fed up with the camels day after day. It took nine days to get out to the mines, but I was travelling slow, as I had to keep with the team.

"We are camped in tents on the side of Mt. Palmer, a fairly high mountain somewhere about 3,000 feet, I think.

"Things are only in their infancy yet, but there are great possibilities for the company, and incidentally for ourselves."

J. K. Shirley writes:—

"Thought that you would be interested to hear that I have returned from my three years' study travel abroad.

"First, I went to U.S.A., and worked in several of the large architects' offices, and then went on to the University of Pennsylvania, and took the special course in architecture, for which I gained their professional certificate. On completing my course at the University, I went over to England, and spent some eight weeks visiting the principal Cathedral cities, which proved most interesting as well as instructive. After England I went to France for about a month, and finished up with two and a half months in Italy, studying the beautiful monuments and works of art.

While in England I had the pleasure of meeting Neddic Haes (O.B.), and also was in touch with Norman (Gus.) Waterhouse, although, unfortunately, I could not get to see him, as on my return to London from the north he had left the same day for Birmingham.

"Things looked much more prosperous in Europe than I anticipated, and I had some rather exciting times in Rome during the Facisti rising. It is my intention to now start in practice as an architect for myself, and I have taken an office in the Daily Telegraph Building."

G. A. N. Woodecock, en route to Cuba, writes on December 19:—

"At the end of September an engineering firm interested in sugar clarification asked me if I would make a short visit to British Guiana for them, and then do some work in Cuba on a new installation. The trip seemed too good to waste, so a small wedding was arranged, which took place on October 9, a few hours after my sister arrived from England, and next day we set sail for the Spanish Main, or thereabouts. We had a great trip down, and an interesting though hot stay of a couple of weeks in Georgetown. On the way home my wife unfortunately developed a slight fever, which necessitated an extra couple of weeks in Trinidad. However, we had a good trip north, which landed us in New York in good shape. I had to leave for Cuba again in a week. I was extremely sorry to miss meeting Hugh Massie, who met one of my brothers-in-law, who tried to arrange a meeting. I have no desire to spend the rest of my days in the tropics, but hope some day to land a job that will keep me out of them, except for occasional trips. I am looking forward to visiting Australia with my wife."
