THE "A. B. S. WHITE SCHOLARSHIP."

In December last Mr. A. B. S. White presented to the School a cheque for £1,000 for the purpose of founding a Scholarship, to be awarded to the best all-round boy in the School, in or about his last School year. At the first meeting of the new year, the Council accepted the gift by the following resolution:—

That the Council thankfully accept Mr. A. B. S. White's most generous gift of £1,000 to found a Scholarship for general worth of character and proficiency in work and studies among senior boys, at the same time expressing its sense of the deep obligation under which the School has been and is for his sustained devotion and unique service to it, in official and private capacities, for many years past.

The "Torch-Bearer" publishes the resolution in full, because nothing could so well express the feeling with which the School regards Mr. White's gift. Generous though it is, it is only one of a long series of actions which have characterised his association with the School.

Mr. White joined the School at the beginning of 1893, and passed on to the University in 1898. His School career was one of all-round distinction. He was Head of the School, and winner of the VI. Form Prize. He was a member of the Football Team and of the Second Crew. It is almost unnecessary to say that for several years he was the School's best cricketer and Captain of the XI. After leaving School he played for the State, and even now, thirty years later, it is our normal expectation that he will secure top score in the Old Boys' match. He was first made a Prefect in 1895, and was Senior Prefect in 1897.

For many years, Mr. White's chief hobby has been his keen interest in various institutions with which he has been associated. He is a Fellow of St. Paul's College, and a Director (at one time Chairman of Directors) of the University Club. However, his chief interest has been his old School. For over twenty years he has been a member of the Council, and he has always been one of the most energetic members of the Old Boys' Union. In 1928, the O.B.U. paid him its highest honour by electing him President. The large increase in activity which has occurred during the past two years is as much due to his personality as to the energy which he has displayed in organisation.

The foundation of the Scholarship is associated with his Presidency of the O.B.U. We value it for that reason, and for the very real purpose which it will serve as a stimulus to all-round efficiency and merit. However, it is not too much to say that we value it the more because it will link the name of A. B. S. White for all time with the School for which he has already done so much.

The conditions governing the award of the "A. B. S. White Scholarship" have been approved in the following form :—

1. The selection shall be made by a Committee consisting of—

The President of the O.B.U.,
A nominee of the Council,
The Headmaster.

2. The selection shall be made from boys who satisfy the following conditions :

(a) They must have been enrolled in the School at least two years prior to the year of award.

(b) They must be over 16 and under 19 on January 1 of the year of award.

- (c) They must be members of the VI. Form.
3. The award shall be made to the boy who is judged to be of highest standard in respect of the following qualities :
- (a) Ability and attainment in School work.
 - (b) Fondness for and success in games.
 - (c) Moral character.
 - (d) Personality, leadership, and influence over others.
4. The holder may not at the same time hold any other School Scholarship.
5. Awards shall be made as early as possible in the first term of each year.

The annual value of the Scholarship will be for the present £45. Any surplus of interest over this amount will be allowed to accumulate from year to year with a view to subsequent possible extension of the foundation.

The Committee of Selection met on Friday, February 28, and selected as the first holder—

T. T. HALSTEAD.

SOME CHANGES.

At its first full meeting this year, the "Torch-Bearer" Committee discussed almost every aspect of the "Torch-Bearer," and decided on some changes in its appearance and make-up.

For the sake of uniformity, we left the shape unchanged. We decided, however, to alter the cover, because the old one was undistinguished to say the least. We have taken the table of contents off the cover and put it inside. The new cover has the badge in colour. The design of the badge has been taken from those printed for the Old Boys' Union. It is a curious fact that no one seems to be quite certain of some of the details of the badge. The mitre is shown white in older badges, gold in more recent ones. The scroll for the motto is sometimes white, sometimes gold. The form in which the badge granted as colours appears on blazer pockets depends on the tailor. The printed and sculptured versions have their own variations. In these circumstances we feel armed against criticism.

We hope that an improved appearance may assist the flow of original contributions. There were several submitted for this issue, but they were not thought good enough.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Few changes on the staff have to be recorded. At the end of the year, Mr. Vaughan left to take charge of Ashfield Preparatory School. New members of the staff are Mr. G. A. Fisher, B.A., B.Sc. (Q.), who comes to us from Armidale; and Mr. S. C. Begbie, an Old Boy, who has taken up work at the Preparatory School.

On February 7, E. J. Eastaugh and F. Munro were appointed Prefects, and G. C. Cullis-Hill, R. E. Makinson, H. W. Robinson, P. W. Swift, and E. A. Utz were appointed Sub-Prefects. On March 28, N. I. Falk, J. S. Kessell, N. L. Newman, G. L. Newton, R. G. Row, and J. M. Scott were appointed Sub-Prefects.

T. T. Halstead is Senior Prefect this year. As a Senior Prefect's duties have of recent years become more and more exacting, the Headmaster decided to institute a new office, that of Second Prefect. D. M. MacDermott is the first to hold this position.

The Scholarships this year have been awarded as follows:—A. B. S. White Scholarship, T. T. Halstead; Old Boys' Union Scholarships, D. M. MacDermott and R. E. Makinson; Council Senior Scholarship, A. V. Nunn; Open Entrance Scholarship, J. C. Paynter; Council Junior Scholarships, H. F. Weston and K. G. Smith; Open Scholarship, D. G. Hoskins.

CHAPEL NOTES.

Addresses in Chapel were given by the Headmaster, the Rev. N. A'B. Backhouse, and the Rev. C. T. Debenham. Dr. Grattan Guinness, who is on his way to China as a medical missionary, also gave an address to the School on Friday, February 28.

o o o o

On Palm Sunday, Mr. Clement Williams sang the solo, "The First Palm Sunday." During the service the congregation sang "The Story of the Cross."

Open Sunday has been fixed for May 4. The preacher will be Dr. P. A. Micklem, of St. James', Sydney.

The following baptisms have taken place in the Chapel:—

Nov. 15, 1929—Bernard Ralston Huxtable.
Dec. 29, 1929—John Radford Goddard.

SPEECH DAY.

The Speech Day ceremony of 1929 was held in the new Dining Hall, which had been brought sufficiently towards completion some days before. A large number of parents and other friends of the School were present. His Excellency the Governor was the guest of honour. The guard of honour, under the command of Captain E. Mander Jones, was complimented on its smartness. As usual, the guard was drawn up on the lawn. After the inspection there was a short Chapel service. The ceremony in the new Hall followed. Copies of the Headmaster's report had been printed and distributed, so the Headmaster did not read the report, but confined himself to explanation and comment. The Archbishop then called on the Governor to distribute the prizes. After the presentation of prizes his Excellency gave a short address. At the conclusion of proceedings the guests were entertained at afternoon tea.

The following was the Headmaster's report :—

Your Excellency,
My Lord Archbishop,
Ladies and Gentlemen,—

On behalf of the School, I extend to your Excellency a most cordial welcome. We value highly the honour of your presence.

It is a great pleasure to be able to welcome our friends this year for the first time in the new Hall. We have had a few anxious weeks, wondering whether it would be completed in time. We hope that you will overlook the untidiness which is inevitable while building operations are in progress; of the extent of these operations I shall have more to say later.

I have the honour to submit my report of the activities of the School for the past year. The School has been quite full during the year, with, of course, the small variation from term to term, due to fortuitous and unforeseen circumstances. We opened in February with 667 boys, of whom 202 were boarders. This is the greatest number that we have had so far, although for some years past the applications have exceeded the number of vacancies. The demand for places in 1930 is much greater than usual: at the time of my last count, the day boys' applications were about 40 per cent. more, and the boarders' 15 per cent. more than at the corresponding time last year. No more day boys can be taken for 1930, and only a very few boarders in odd remaining places. I dwell on these facts in order specially to emphasise the need for early enrolment. I have done so before, but I still receive applications from old boys and parents of old boys after the lists have been closed. In such cases, my own disappointment in being compelled to refuse those who have a strong relation to the School is no less than theirs. It may be realised further that the number of vacancies in the middle forms is always small, as they are precluded by promotions. The best opportunity for entrance to the School is, therefore, available while a boy is still young enough for the Preparatory School. In normal circumstances, I confidently recommend enrolment at an early age, for I have no doubt as to the efficiency of the work done in this part of the School. It may be interesting to record the fact that the total number on the roll for the year, including those who were enrolled for part of the year only, is 682.

I always approach with misgiving the task of compiling the report. It is easy to recite a series of results of examinations and games, but it is impossible to give a true and complete idea of the year's work of a large school. Furthermore, it is impossible to avoid placing undue emphasis upon the phases of work which are more easily described. What we have done is of far less importance than how, and in what spirit, we have done it.

The Public Examination results of 1928 were of very fair standard. The Leaving Certificate results were, as anticipated, greater in number, but lower in quality, than those of recent years; the Intermediate passes were distinctly good. Thirty-six boys gained the Leaving Certificate, but there were no boys of scholarship standard, and the excellent record of the past five years was not maintained in this respect. Bradfield's pass, containing honours in four subjects, was highly creditable. Eighty-four boys passed the Intermediate, representing 84 per cent. of candidates—a high percentage in view of the varied sources from which our boys come. The general standard of passes was high, the "A" Form obtaining an average pass of better than three A's.

The examinations which have just been held are likely to yield somewhat better results in the Leaving Certificate, but not such good Intermediate results. We can scarcely hope for scholarships, but the general level of Leaving candidates is better; outside the "A" Form, the general level of Intermediate candidates is lower. Concerning the work of the remainder of the School, nothing very worthy of note is to be reported. The general keenness has been satisfactory, and the standard of previous years has been maintained, but, I think, not exceeded.

Next year we propose to introduce a class in German at the Lower Fourth Standard. It will thus be possible for boys to take English, Latin, French, and Mathematics, either History or Science, and, as optional subjects, either Greek or German. I do not recommend that boys of less than average ability should take Greek or German, and propose to provide for small classes in each.

In the course of arranging to introduce German, we have scrutinised our curriculum once more, but, having regard to the needs of the vast majority, I do not think that it would be possible to make a better arrangement of subjects. Opinions differ as to the ideal curriculum, but there is wide agreement on certain main principles. It must be borne in mind that the purpose of school education is the development of the intellectual quality of the individual pupil. I am quite satisfied that a school which seeks to turn out boys with sound intellectual resource, as well as earning capacity, must pin its faith to a threefold curriculum involving study of the mother tongue, of a foreign language or languages, and of mathematics and science. Our scheme follows these lines, and offers to boys of varying ability the opportunity to strengthen the side on which their interest lies. The opposition of history and science may seem unfortunate, but apart from the fact that it seems to be inevitable, I do not think that much is lost by it. While a boy is immature, if he has not the right kind of ability, history tends to rely too much on memory, on reproduction of second-hand opinions, and upon generalisations which a boy has not the experience to make. For such a boy, the exact thinking demanded by science is a very suitable training. Nothing quite takes the place of the type of mental discipline given by Latin and Greek. I hope that there may not be lacking a steady stream of boys who are anxious to take, and are encouraged to take, the latter subject.

The School continues to receive good reports of its Old Boys. Of the more recent ones, J. C. Jaeger is achieving further mathematical successes at Cambridge; L. F. Fitzhardinge is completing a most creditable classical course at Sydney before proceeding to Oxford; T. J. Dunbabin, after brilliant results in his first year at Sydney, is now at Oxford; T. G. Melville was recently appointed to the Chair of Economics in the University of Adelaide. In a different sphere, Captain L. H. Holden and Dr. G. R. Hamilton brought honour to the School by their remarkable fight, in the course of which they found the "Southern Cross."

The record in sport for the year has been mediocre in so far as results of first teams are concerned, but I certainly do not think that the School sport is in anything but a most healthy condition. The football team had a most disappointing season, and obtained results much below those which their enthusiasm, and that of their coaches, deserved. The crew and the athletic teams each obtained fourth place, the shooting team fifth, and the cricket team second place. Yet it is my firm opinion that the objects which games are designed to serve have been achieved in greater measure than usual during the year. There has been a very real team spirit throughout the various teams, in good and in bad fortune, and I am quite sure that this year's captains have as much cause for pride as if they had been successful in their various competitions. Their keenness has been reflected in the lower teams, and here the record is one of unusual success.

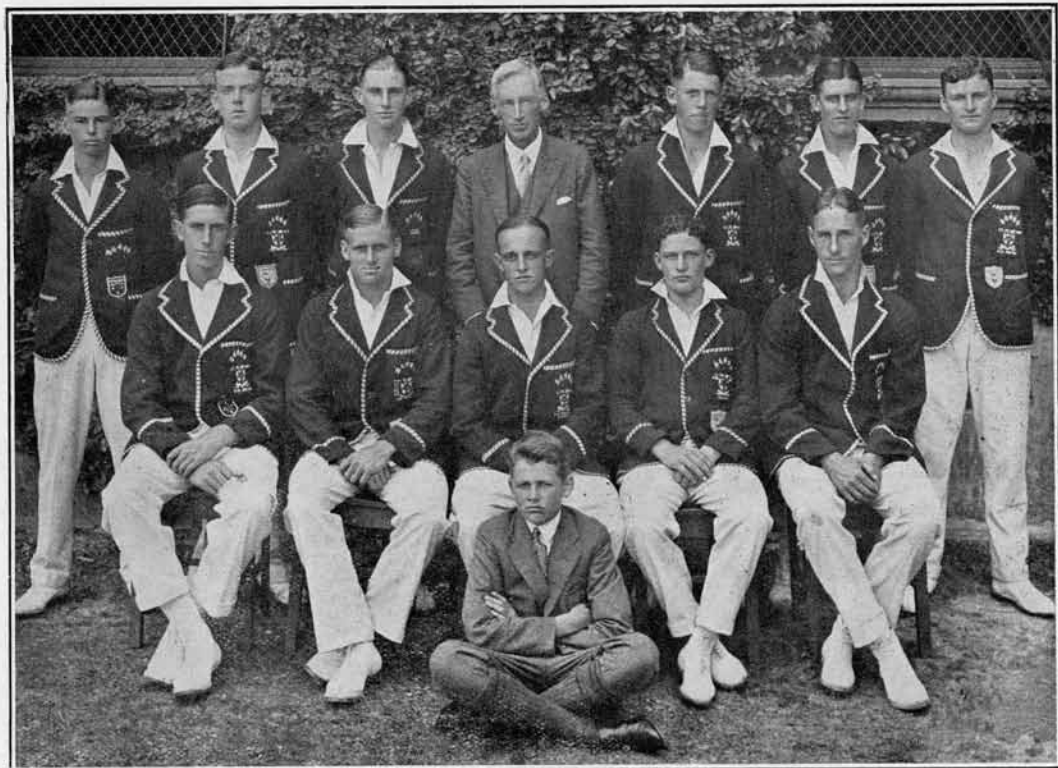

We approached this year's rowing season with a keen desire to repeat the performances of last year, and although we were doomed to disappointment, I really think that the event should give us cause for pride. The broad circumstances are well known. On the day before the heats a very mild form of influenza affected some of the boys; had it occurred at a less critical time it would have been of little consequence. In the heats all crews were affected, the second four most of all. The first four qualified for the final, and the eight, although three of its members were by no means well, rowed very comfortably into second place. No row was attempted before the Saturday, and it was eventually decided that stroke and seven could not row. No praise can be too lavish for the attitude of the crews at this time. Anyone knows that stroke and seven are the vital members of a crew, and I think that it will be admitted that the circumstances gave ample excuse for despondency. It is a mild statement of the fact to say that throughout the last few days the camp was as cheery as ever, and as determined to do well, whatever the handicap. To make matters worse, Saturday was a most severe day, and the crew had the most exposed position. In the morning an attempt was made to boat the rearranged crew, but the weather was too bad to do anything. The first four rowed with a substitute, and performed splendidly, reaching third place. The eight also exceeded the wildest hopes; most of us would have been full of praise had they maintained our representation without faltering; however, they were well in the race in spite of their exposed position, and only dropped into last place in the last few hundred yards. To the uninitiated, this account may not carry full conviction; I can only say that the coaches concerned will always look back with pride upon their association with boys who could fight such good losing fights. The third and fourth fours suffered from the reorganisation of the higher crews; their race was postponed from the Saturday in consequence of the bad weather. The fourth four had a comfortable win. For next year, very few of this year's crews are available, but work has gone forward this term, and crews are emerging from new material.

The football season, as I have said, was very disappointing to the first team. Of the seven Competition matches, only one was won. It would, however, be less than fair to coaches and boys to withhold praise of their efforts. The team lacked size and ability, but were by no means lacking in keenness, or in the team spirit, which is the great feature of Rugby football. Their games against Newington and Grammar were particularly good. The second and third fifteens were awarded their respective Competitions. It is only fair to say that, had infectious diseases not invaded some of the Schools, this might not have been the case. Both teams, however, performed consistently and with admirable enthusiasm, and were entirely worthy of the places which they were awarded. The fourth fifteen won six of its matches, lost two, and drew one. The junior teams were unbeaten during the season.

The cricket season, which has just concluded, has been eminently successful. The first team played fourteen matches, and of these won ten, lost three, and drew one, the draw being a somewhat fortunate escape. They occupy second place in the Competition to St. Ignatius' College, whom we congratulate most cordially. The team was a young one, and did not strike good batting form in the early part of the season. Latterly, however, they have made several good scores. The second team has also been very successful. They had lost one match only before the final match of the season. They then suffered one of those collapses which are said to make cricket so delightfully uncertain, but which are sometimes exasperating at the moment. They occupy second place. The third and lower teams have been very successful. The teams from the 3rd XI. to the 8th XI. have played altogether during the year 61 matches against other schools. In some cases they play teams higher than themselves; for example, our fourths may play the thirds of a smaller school. Of these 61 matches, 44 have been won, and 16 lost. The junior cricket is well organised, thanks to the devoted interest of the coaches, and promises to yield a supply of good players in the future.

The athletic season was an unusually busy one. There are nowadays not two meetings, but five, namely, a challenge match in April against Newington, our School sports, the Preparatory School sports, a challenge match against the University, and a combined sports. The amount of organisation involved is heavy. This year it was rewarded by results, which, if not brilliant, were extremely creditable. The senior team had no gifted performers, and was not expected to do very well. However, points were gained in every senior event, and, in competition, almost every boy did better than his previous best in practice. As a result, the School occupied fourth place, within quite a close distance of the winners. The junior team was a good one, and was beaten only by five-sixths of a point. The total of points won by the seniors and juniors together exceeded the total of any other school.

The rifle team shot very well in practice, and the general standard was better than that of last year, when we won a comfortable victory. In the matches they failed to reproduce their practice form, partly, perhaps, as a result of the intervention of a military camp between the practice and the matches. Their match total was only about 30 points behind last year's in a total of over 1,100, and was very close to the School's best in the past. Nevertheless, they obtained only fifth place. The shooting of some of the other teams was exceptional this year, particularly that of The King's School. In military matches, held in the following week, the team showed much improved form, and was first among the schools represented. The second team was little inferior to the first, and won its competition.

A large number of boys have played tennis, and teams have played in various events. Among these the most important was the annual match with S.G.S. for the "Fairwater Cup," which we won comfortably. The team has reached a very good standard in both senior and junior sections. We again acknowledge the kind hospitality of Lady Fairfax; thanks to her, the boys had not only keen tennis under splendid conditions, but also a most enjoyable day's entertainment. The various School tournaments have been keenly contested.

The swimming carnival was held in March, and the boxing tournament a few days ago. In view of the fact that other games go on throughout the year in almost uninterrupted sequence, it is hard to find a good time for these events. As a consequence, the master and boys undertake their organisation under difficulty, but they do the work very efficiently. Both events were highly successful.

The House Competitions have been responsible for the usual keen contests. Slight alterations in the conditions of the competition were made, and the point score placed on a more equitable basis than hitherto. School House has had a successful year, winning rowing, athletics, shooting, cricket, and tying with Barry in football. Hodges won the swimming. The Simpson Cup for the premier House goes to School House. At times when the organisation of School sport has been questioned, the House system has been subjected to criticism. It has been held that it interferes with the training of School teams, and no doubt there was justification for this view at the time when the firsts and seconds took part in House games. Under the present organisation, there is no doubt that the system provides most beneficial competition for all grades of boys, and particularly the younger ones. Any question seems to be completely answered this year by the exceptional success of junior teams in all sports against other schools.

Notes on games would not be complete without a full recognition of the work of the masters who have been responsible for organisation and coaching. The School is most happy at present in the possession of a staff which devotes itself wholeheartedly to activities outside the class room. It would be futile to attempt to give an idea of the disinterested work done by masters engaged in sport, but I give my assurance that it is very heavy indeed. The majority of the work is voluntarily undertaken, and is sustained by a clear realisation of its value. I have already said that the year has been remarkable for strong team spirit. The atmosphere generally in respect of School activities has been good, and games have played the part in the development of character which they are designed to play. Prefects and senior boys have contributed greatly to this, but a large measure of the inspiration has come from the masters. They consistently take the view that a game is an opportunity for the development of more than mere athletic prowess. Such a view is, of course, the sole justification for our extensive sporting activities, but I feel that this year a more emphatic reference to it than ever is fitting.

The Preparatory School is, in my opinion, in a most healthy condition, thanks to Mr. Walmsley and his staff. It is undoubtedly the keenest portion of the School in all its activities. The class room work, as a whole, is quite up to the standard of previous years. In games the record has been exceedingly good, particularly when one takes into consideration the fact that the average age is much less than that of other preparatory schools. This is of most effect in football and athletics. However, in each of these sports the first teams obtained third place among the associated schools. The cricket team won the Competition, and the junior athletic team was also successful. In cricket the three teams lost only four out of about 26 games. In football, they lost eight matches out of 21. This record speaks for itself. Physical culture is a regular daily feature, and the enthusiasm of the boys is almost as great as that of the Sergeant-Major who instructs them. Their display at their own sports meeting was again deserving of high praise. A concert was given by them this term, and was enjoyed greatly by those who attended.

In spite of the inroads of epidemic diseases, the health of boarders has been very good. The chief trouble was an outbreak of scarlet fever in second term. It was mild in individual cases, but, nevertheless, such an attack always causes anxiety. Specialist advice was sought immediately after the first case was recognised, and the disease was confined within extremely narrow bounds. It entirely disappeared in the one term, and for this we may count ourselves fortunate. A few cases of measles and mumps also occurred, but the spread of both was checked by immediate isolation and careful supervision. Influenza and colds were far less prevalent than in recent years. The term which has just passed has been an exceedingly good one in all the Houses.

Open Sunday has, as usual, been held once in each term, and on each occasion we have been glad to welcome large numbers of our friends. We are grateful to Canon Begbie and the Bishops of Bathurst and Goulburn for the inspiring addresses which they gave. I blame myself that I did not secure and publish more widely the splendid address of the Bishop of Bathurst. I have heard no more deeply impressive exposition of the ideals for which the School stands, and I hope and believe that the memory of it will be treasured by the boys who heard it. The Confirmation Service was held in October; the preparation was very carefully undertaken by the Chaplain, and the service itself was dignified and impressive. There need be no misgiving as to the serious thought given by those concerned to this very important matter. It is our earnest hope that the influence of the experience of Confirmation may be a very real and lasting one. May I take this opportunity—the only one readily available—of asking that parents also give serious thought to the subject, now and in future years? The Confirmation of day boys in the School Chapel is very willingly undertaken by the School, and it can be undertaken with confidence under conditions which provide a constant daily inspiration. But if the vision which I believe comes to many boys is to be other than transitory, they must receive encouragement to take a real part in the life of the Church away from the School. Services, conveying the special message of each day, were held, as usual, on Anzac Day and Armistice Day. At the former service, the East Window was dedicated by his Grace the Archbishop; we are grateful to him for the inspiring address which he delivered.

The services of a school should be dignified by good singing, good music, and good reading, and it is essential that they should be the services of the whole congregation. They are the worship of the whole community rendered to God, and, therefore, every boy must be encouraged to take his part, and he must take pride in doing so. The whole School should make the responses and repeat certain prayers, and the psalms and hymns may be sung with as much vigour and heartiness as are consistent with true reverence. It has been our constant endeavour to give effect to these ideas, and I think that we have attained a good measure of success. There are some who think that the fact that a Chapel service is part of the daily routine may make the act of worship a commonplace. This has not been my experience, and I believe that the sense of beauty and power which comes to many in the course of this very routine is the greatest gift which the School makes to its members.

No School fête was held this year—in some ways an advantage, in others a disadvantage. We have managed to continue the improvements at Northbridge from our own resources, and so did not feel the need to call upon the very good friends who have always been so ready to come to our aid. The lifting of the big load involved in the organisation of a fête has been thoroughly appreciated by us within the School. However, the fêtes served a much more useful purpose than the mere raising of money, in that they assembled friends of the School with a common interest. We have had three dances during the year, one at the end of each term, centred about the Boat Club, Football Club, and Cricket Club respectively. These have been profitable, thanks to the kind help of many parents, to whom we now offer our thanks. But they have served other purposes of equal value; they have, to some degree, brought parents together, and have also been a useful instruction in good social behaviour to the boys. I look forward to their continuance. The money arising from the dances was applied mostly to the purchase of a new School 'bus. I need not now dwell upon the valuable purpose which the 'bus serves. A few years ago we thought it was a luxury. It has so revolutionised the transport difficulty in the rowing and football seasons that we now consider it a necessity. Many parents and friends gave us most kind help towards the purchase; we thank them heartily, especially Mr. and Mrs. Mellrath, who gave us a cheque of most generous proportions to enable us to finalise the matter.

Old Boys' functions held during the year have attracted much larger attendances than in recent years. The chief gatherings were the dinner in April, the dance and the tea in October. On each occasion the accommodation was taxed to the limit. It has been particularly pleasant to note the presence of many men who were at School in the early days. The President and Committee of the Union are to be congratulated upon the result of their efforts towards the success of these functions. I sincerely hope that as years go by the various reunions will be more and more largely attended. I suspect that Old Boys sometimes fail to realise that, by attending the dinner and similar functions, they are not merely taking part in a very pleasant reunion, but are also doing a real service to the School. The School consists not only of the present boys and masters, but is an ever-widening community, sharing a common tradition. I hope that Old Boys who may read this report will make it their business to encourage others to maintain, through the Union, an active membership of the School. I am happy to say that Mr. A. B. S. White is still President of the Union, having been re-elected in October. His personal activity has contributed greatly to the success of the year's proceedings. I know that it is his hope that next year's dinner will break all attendance records. He looks for, and,

I feel sure, will receive hearty co-operation from all sections of the School, past and present. The Club has continued to prosper under its new President, Dr. Guy Pockley, as it did under Mr. Williams. Its value is, I think, fully appreciated, particularly by the younger Old Boys.

During the year a start was made towards the improvement of the School buildings. The development of a scheme has presented very great difficulty. We possess buildings which, although subject to many disadvantages, are too solid and valuable to be replaced. Although the School is financially in a sound condition, it has a strictly limited purse. The problem, therefore, has been to make the greatest possible use of existing buildings, but at the same time to plan for a distant future. I think that I may say that the general scheme which the Council now has in mind is one about which they have no misgiving, and that it promises to provide a satisfactory solution of what at first appeared to be a Chinese puzzle. Not the least of our difficulties was the need to find a plan which would not interfere to an impossible extent with the current work of the School. The first move was the purchase of "Elsmere," the house on the southern side of the Chapel. This is now being remodelled, and will soon be ready for occupation. At the beginning of next term Hodges House will reassemble in it, incidentally with increased numbers. Thus the five Houses will be in a group, and all will be within a stone's throw of the main School buildings. This in itself is a most important forward move. The second step was the construction of the building in which we are now assembled. This hall is to be the School dining hall. It will not serve as a regular School assembly hall, but will be used for important School gatherings until we are in a position to build an independent hall. It will very comfortably seat 300 at tables. The remainder of the building will be occupied by modern kitchens and by domestic quarters. I have no doubt that it will be agreed that the building is one of which we may be proud. Its completion will leave the way clear for a remodelling of the School House. The planning of this has reached an advanced stage, and it should be possible to put the work in hand within a few months. In the plan, considerable use has been made of the present building, but the lay-out has been altered so as to present the advantages of a modern building. I do not care to proceed further at present with a description of the scheme which is in mind, but can give a confident assurance that the Council is endeavouring to mould a far-sighted and comprehensive policy. The plans for the immediate future can be financed from the revenue of the School, but the full project cannot be achieved as soon as we should wish without a further increase in our resources. It does not seem too much to hope that the work which we are striving to do may soon lead public-spirited citizens to lend us their aid.

The training of the School detachment of cadets and citizen forces has been a feature of the year's work. The standard achieved has been commendable. This is evidenced by a repetition of our success in winning the Kirby Shield for drill at the annual military sports. Great trouble has been taken to impart interest to the training by introducing Lewis Gun and other specialist instruction. A Lewis Gun shoot was carried out last Friday. We do not fail to appreciate the efforts of the masters who are in charge of this important work, nor do we forget what we owe to the School Sergeant-Major for his enthusiasm. At the moment the position for the future in respect of military training is not quite clear. It is the intention of the headmasters to establish a battalion of volunteer cadets early next year in the schools. I see no reason why this should not be done, especially now that assistance is promised by the Government towards the provision of arms and equipment. I ask parents to reinforce the view which I have expressed to the boys, that it is their duty to give a clear lead in any voluntary scheme for national defence. There exists here a very practical means of putting into effect our ideal of service. The volunteer corps which existed before compulsory training was introduced were a great credit to the schools, and were a great source of fun to their members. We look forward to their re-establishment on similar lines.

The prefects this year have fully maintained the good record of those of the last few years. They have been alive to their varied responsibilities, and have displayed from time to time an initiative which has been of great value to the School. They deserve great praise for their part in maintaining the tone of the School at a level which I believe to be high. Led by a Senior Prefect of unusual zeal, they have been alert throughout the year, and have not waited for a lead when work was to be done.

They are responsible for reorganisation of the formal machinery for the regulation of games and of such activities as are the concern of boys. At their instance the old General Sports Committee has ceased to exist, and has been replaced by a general School Committee, which is far better fitted to legislate. I am afraid that our hopes in respect of this Committee may be difficult to realise in practice. It is the general desire that boys should have the larger say in affairs which concern them. However, the adequate working of a large committee depends upon its meeting at regular, though not necessarily frequent, intervals. The School programme is so very full nowadays that, as a general rule, a meeting time cannot be found without interfering with some activity of considerable importance. I hope that in the new year we may be able to solve this difficulty, and to give the general School Committee the part in School affairs which it may well take.

The staff has suffered little change recently in proportion to its size. The appointment of Mr. J. R. O. Harris to the Headmastership of the Hutchins School, Hobart, in May, was a severe loss, though we rejoiced with him in his well-merited promotion. Mr. Harris was a devoted master of the School for twenty-five years, including a period spent at the War, in which he served with gallantry and distinction. His services to the School covered so wide a range that it is impossible to do them justice. In the class room he is gifted and painstaking; he is a competent cricket coach and rifle shot. The School owes the foundation of the House system to him, though this was only one of the many tasks of organisation which he handled. Military training, in his hands, was carried out with such efficiency and discipline as to make it an invaluable School activity. To all his work he brought the full vigour of his personality, and an energy which seldom flagged. We look forward to a continuance of the success and happiness which Mrs. Harris and he are enjoying in their new sphere. We welcomed in his place Mr. J. F. E. Monckton, M.A., a graduate of Caius College, Cambridge. Next year the staff will be augmented by the appointment of Mr. G. A. Fisher, B.A., B.Sc., from the Armidale School. Mr. Fisher is a graduate of Queensland University, and, in addition to considerable teaching experience, will bring a wide knowledge of Rugby football and athletics. Mr. Vaughan leaves the Preparatory School at the end of this year to take charge of the Ashfield Preparatory School. He will be replaced by a well-known Old Boy in the person of Mr. Campbell Begbie.

The prize list this year includes two further endowed prizes, the "R. S. Reid Memorial Prize" and the "Alan Ludowici Memorial Prize." We acknowledge the gifts with the more appreciation because we are glad to have the names of these Old Boys perpetuated in the School. Acknowledgment is also made of help towards the prize fund, both in the form of direct gifts for special prizes and of gifts for the general purpose of the fund. A large body of friends have also contributed to other purposes during the year, for example, to the sports prize fund. I take this opportunity of assuring all who have helped us in these and in other ways that they have not only made the financial wheels run more smoothly, but have given us a very heartening encouragement in our work.

In conclusion, I express to the members of Council the thanks of our School not only for wise guidance of its policy, but for the sympathy and friendliness which characterise their attitude. I particularly thank our President, his Grace the Archbishop, for his readiness at all times to devote thought to our problems, and for the encouragement of his presence on this and many other occasions.

LIBRARY NOTES.

Books at the Library this term were, as usual, in good demand, not only from among the new works of fiction, but also from the more literary type.

Detective stories and modern plays seem, respectively, to be the most popular, and considerable use has been made of the reference books on the shelves on all subjects from Roman History to Economics.

Many apparently do not realise the breadth of knowledge at one's reach in the Library, including as it does all kinds of sport, science, and almost everything up to communism. There is also a good selection of new fiction of a respectable type.

While many of the periodicals received are popular, we have endeavoured for a long time—but so far unsuccessfully—to get some additional new ones of more general interest, and to delete several unread, uninteresting papers. The "Graphic" and the "Illustrated London News" are, of course, still the most popular.

Would anyone knowing the present whereabouts of volume 5 of the "Cambridge History of English Literature" please report to the Library Committee?

The following is a list of a few of the more important books received this term:—"Parkin on Cricket"; "Harmsworth's Universal History"; "Lands and Peoples," seven volumes; "Industry in England" (Gibbins); "England in the Later Middle Ages" (Vickers); "England under the Hanoverians" (Robertson); "England before the Norman Conquest" (Oman); "England under the Normans and Angevins" (Davis); "Studies in the Napoleonic Wars" (Oman); "Studies in Literature," third series (Quiller Couch); "The Personality of Napoleon" (Holland Rose); "The Development of the European Nations" (Holland Rose); "Landmarks in English Industrial History" (Townsend Warner); "The Good Companions" (Priestley); "The Mercury Story Book"; and "Novels by Jules Verne."

We hope that by next term we will have completed a recataloguing of the books; this will necessitate the closing of the Library for a short period.

The Library Committee has now a full quota of members, and has done very good work this year.

AN EVENING AT THE BOYS' CLUB.

The Boys' Club was started at Holy Trinity Parish, Miller's Point, early in the term, under the guidance of Mr. Backhouse.

On the second night of the Club, about twelve boys were seen to emerge from McMahon's Point wharf, Circular Quay, bearing cricket bats, pads, stumps, footballs of various shapes and descriptions, with many other signs, suggesting a combination of the "Waratahs" and the Australian XI, and causing many inquisitive glances to be thrown in their direction. After an uneventful walk through Argyle Cut, the troupe arrived at its destination, Holy Trinity Church. Round the entrance was grouped a number of small boys, who raised cries of "Here they come!" at the approach of the School group. Immediately they wished to help themselves, but this was not desired by those in authority. The hall is about 70 feet by 25 feet, and contains a stage, and behind this a room where ping-pong, bobs, and various table games are played. On entering, two of the Shore boys were allotted to the door to collect a penny from each boy as he entered, which goes to pay for lighting the hall and replacing (on an average) one window per week. The remainder divested themselves of coats, straw hats, and rolled up their sleeves, preparing for a warm couple of hours. These boys also get out the table games, boxing gloves, and erect the ping-pong table. Two boys are allotted to boxing, one to quoits, one to ping-pong, one to table games, and the remainder are appointed to the hall. Here their time is spent in organising games, such as "tunnel ball," "French and English," "dog and a bone," "fish and the net," and other indoor games. This continues for nearly the whole evening, the small boys moving round from boxing to ping-pong, from ping-pong to the hall, and so on. The final game in the hall is generally "cock fighting," when the school fellows take the small boys on their backs and a lively and very warm twenty minutes ensue, during which quite a few shirts are torn, which, however, are sewn up and worn again the next Friday. One of the most notable things there is the hardness of the boys; their ages range from about seven to twelve, and the floor is made of good, solid hardwood. Some of the little chaps fall terribly hard, and very often, yet they just jump up and continue their game as though nothing had happened.

At about 8.40 the boys are all called into the hall, and after Mr. Backhouse has said a few words to them, everybody says the Lord's Prayer and then departs for home.

All the school fellows who have been there always wish to go again.

In fact, they appear to enjoy themselves as much as the small boys, and it certainly opens their eyes to life under very different conditions from those to which they are accustomed.

D. M. MacDERMOTT.

The Rev. C. Wilder Clarke, Rector of Holy Trinity, Miller's Point, has written to Mr. Backhouse to express his appreciation of the work which the School is doing there. He writes:—

"The influence is already marked, and is particularly noticeable by the attitude of the boys in the street. Indeed, the atmosphere of the place in this respect is changed, and I attribute it largely to the influence of the School. The lads are impressed with the manly sportsmen who are interested enough to come to them once a week and are showing signs of finding their ideal and example in these young men."

CHRISTMAS CAMP.

On January 21, 1930, the rowing sheds came to life again with the influx of some twenty-seven live boys from all parts of the State of New South Wales ready to make the most of the best looked forward to weeks of their holidays.

Mr. J. B. Burrell and Mr. Mander Jones were in charge—with extra duties such as catching "louts" and burglars. Camp started quietly, the crew of the eight remaining unchanged; the several fours were very carefully selected by Mr. Burrell and Mr. Mander Jones, the boys being given every chance by them to show their worth.

Right from the start the spirit at the sheds showed up as being true to Shore traditions—where there is a job to be done, get to it cheerfully.

On the third evening nineteen boys were initiated, and made full Camp members, the ceremony of initiation being carried through very thoroughly by the various members of last year's Camp.

The cream of the proceedings, as far as old members were concerned, came when the special christening ceremony was enacted; but the new boys failed to show any real interest in this carefully prepared function. (They are not altogether to be blamed for this.)

The School 'bus was of great use, and many interesting trips in it are expected during Easter Camp.

A few little incidents of Camp are perhaps worthy of special note—as when one evening Mr. Mander Jones experienced great difficulty in getting into bed. Why, no one ever knew! An amazing phenomenon was witnessed by all Camp members, namely, the remarkable facility suddenly evinced by jelly fish for flying a short distance through the air at high speeds. Then some great brain tried to calculate the modulus of elasticity of glass on a headlight of the 'bus; the only result—one great disaster.

Pleasure boats can testify to warm welcome and kind treatment.

To conclude, that most important part of the rowing sheds—the kitchen—was again queened over by the able Mrs. Callaghan, and her firmness of manner was once more in evidence.

The Camp was voted a huge success, and every one went home very fit.

ROWING.

Immediately after the House Regatta, tentative crews were boated with a view to selecting the boys for Christmas Camp. An eight had been rowing since October, and most of the places in it were filled definitely. The field was thus clear for the selection of the fours. The task of selection has, however, been unusually difficult this year. Only four boys of the regular crews of last year remain with us. The eight itself contains a number of boys who were not considered last year, and the fours are accordingly drawn from entirely fresh material. The selection of the latter is usually completed during the Christmas Camp. This year it has only been possible to settle them down finally about six weeks before the race. There are, however, six very satisfactory crews, which, we have every reason to hope, will make a creditable showing in the Regatta.

The Christmas Camp was a most enjoyable holiday. The weather was good, and very useful ground work was done. It has been necessary to confine the junior crews to Berry's Bay, in which the conditions are now anything but satisfactory. The traffic has increased so much that decent water can seldom be obtained. However, thanks to the 'bus, we can now do all our work with the eight and two fours on the river. This has proved an enormous advantage.

Writing more than a month before the race, it would be absurd to give any serious criticism of the crews. However, some note may be useful for comparison with future years. The eight is so far quite good, and, on occasions, very good. Their stamina seems to be all that one could wish: they have a sound foundation of leg work, but they are not consistently steady. Lack of experience is their shortcoming, and this, of course, is hard to remedy. It is hard to learn to row in one year, and no less than four of the crew are trying to do this. They have proved very apt, and on one could wish for a more willing and keen team. However, a little efficient experience with a good crew is better than a great deal of coaching. In occasional pieces of work they have shown signs of pace quite up to the standard of any previous year. The two fours, like the eight, are rather light, but they are doing very sound work, and, at the time of writing, they are quite sufficiently well advanced. All crews may be expected to do well, and, win or lose, they will certainly look back with a great deal of pleasure on their training experience.

The crews and weights are as follows:—

Eight.—(Bow) P. W. Swift, 9.13; (2) A. T. Muston, 11.6; (3) J. B. Vivers, 11.3; (4) F. Munro, 12.4; (5) C. R. Sinclair, 11.9; (6) H. C. Munsie, 10.13; (7) E. J. Eastaugh, 10.2; (stroke) J. St. V. Welch, 10.10; (cox) J. H. Cooper. Coach, Mr. L. C. Robson.

First Four.—(Bow) F. L. Harris, 10.1; (2) J. H. Goldfinch, 10.1; (3) G. W. Smith, 10.7; (stroke) J. D. Flashman, 10.4; (cox) P. W. Read, 6.13. Coach, Mr. J. B. Burrell.

Second Four.—(Bow) G. F. Walker, 10.1; (2) D. O. N. Bourke, 10.4; (3) J. S. Lane, 10.5; (stroke) F. H. Ifould, 10.10; (cox) J. D. MacMaster, 6.10. Coach, Mr. E. Mander Jones.

Mr. Martin and Mr. Robinson are coaching the junior crews, and have been doing work which will have its full effect. This work does not receive much limelight, but cannot be sufficiently appreciated.

We have to acknowledge much help of various kinds this year. Mr. Sinclair has given us a copy of a pencil drawing of Mr. E. I. Robson, who was the founder of our rowing tradition during his Head-mastership. Mrs. Mander Jones has given us fruit and jam; and Mr. Horace Muston has not only given us fruit, but has defrayed the cost of certain very useful additions to the shed. Ian MacDonald has brought us books and gramophone records; Mr. Read has again given us help with his launch; and Miss Ducker very kindly has supervised the fumigation of the blankets and mattresses. Dr. N. D. Royle has done us a great service by filming the eight, partly in slow motion; and Mr. Hall has lent us his projector. We are very grateful to these ladies and gentlemen. Rex Cowlishaw also is doing his annual task of assembling Old Boys' crews to row in company with the eight; he has for several years been a great friend to us.

SWIMMING CARNIVAL.

The 28th Annual Swimming Carnival was held on Tuesday, March 11, at the Spit Baths. Although the morning was not promising, the afternoon was fine, but the attendance, though large, was influenced by the weather.

Four schools competed in the G.P.S. Teams' Race, which provided a keen tussle between Grammar and Scots; the School was third, and Sydney High fourth. The School team comprised Muston, Richardson, Walker, and Newman. The time for the event, 1 min. 47 secs., was the best for some years; there is no official record, but it compares more than favourably with the Combined High Schools' record of 1 min. 53 secs. The House teams' races, as usual, were well fought out, and caused great enthusiasm among the spectators. The placed teams were generally very evenly matched. The Open and Under 16 teams were won by Robson, who were represented by Langby, Bourke, Walker, and Newman (Open), and Langby, Taylor, Osborne, and Betts (Under 16). The winning Hodges team (Under 14) consisted of Sturrock ii., Holmes ii., Marsh, and Farrell.

The House Cup was won by Robson with over 90 points, Barry being second in the vicinity of 60 points, and Hodges third.

There was an innovation in the Open Diving Championship, the competitors being compelled to perform one dive off the tower. Needless to say, the extra dive was much appreciated by the competitors.

The Senior Cup was won by N. L. Newman with 40 points, A. T. Muston being second with 17 points.

The results were as follows:—

All Schools 200 Yards Teams Race.—1, S.G.S.; 2, T.S.C.; 3, S.C.E.G.S. Time, 1 min. 47½ secs.

THE CADET CORPS.

Considerable energy has been expended this term in the re-formation of the School Cadet Corps. The circumstances which led up to the present position are now past history, but may be worthy of permanent record.

In November last, the Federal Government announced its decision to abolish compulsory training. It was some time, however, before a substitute scheme was announced in detail. Meanwhile, the schools were faced with a somewhat difficult position. Most of the larger schools have by now a well-defined tradition of sound cadet work, which they have preserved from the time before compulsory training became the law of the land. They were most anxious that this tradition should be maintained, and, indeed, welcomed the change in view of the greater efficiency which was likely to be attained under a voluntary system. Further, they recognised their obligation to give the lead in any voluntary scheme of national defence, and realised what a help a good cadet corps can be in the building up of the corporate discipline of a school. However, they could not make a start until they had definite information of the basis of organisation that would be approved, and of the financial aid which would be available. This information was made available by the Military Authorities as soon as might have been expected, but a break in the continuity of military work was inevitable.

In this School some work was done at the end of last year, and regular work has been done with a section of the boys this term. The idea has been to train the older boys, so that when the corps is established many may at once be able to take non-commissioned rank. The boys concerned have carried on most keenly, and are obviously determined to make a success of the corps.

The approved basis of organisation is a novel one, but one which should be very suitable for a School corps. Companies are to be about 100 strong, with a Captain in command, a Captain as second-in-command, four subalterns, and twenty-one N.C.O.'s. There will thus be ample opportunity for training in command. The financial arrangements are also perhaps as satisfactory as could be expected. Rifles, ammunition, and service equipment will be amply provided, but uniform will have to be purchased by the cadets themselves. In addition, approval has been gained for an annual camp, in which everything but rations will be provided.

It has been difficult to settle on a suitable design of uniform. Several city firms have helped, and the suggestions have been considered by a number of boys in consultation with the Headmaster and Mr. Bagot. Their eventual choice is a uniform of the following pattern:—Tunic: Khaki with blue cuffs and collar, edged with white; buttons bearing School crest. Trousers: Khaki slacks, blue stripe. Hat: A.I.F. pattern with blue puggaree with thin white stripe, and School badge in metal. Messrs. Farmer and Co. have agreed to supply the uniform at £3/15/9, including tunic, trousers, hat and boots. It should be available before the end of term.

The response to the call for volunteers has been highly satisfactory. It seems likely that we shall have two complete companies. Judging by indications at the start, there is every prospect that the corps will reach the high standard of that which we had twenty years ago, and that it will become, as it should be, one of the most enjoyable and valuable of our School activities.

RIFLE SHOOTING.

As usual, the shooting at the Miniature Range, which is the first activity of the season in this branch of School sport, has been carried on most successfully, and some very promising talent has been discovered. These trials have occupied three successive Saturday mornings, and, altogether, 140 boys have been tested.

Unfortunately, it has not been possible to hold any shoots at Chatswood Rifle Range before the end of the First Term—a practice which has always been carried out in previous years. The reason for this is that, so far, it has not been possible to procure rifles from the Military Authorities; but they shall certainly be available by the beginning of the Second Term, when shooting will begin in earnest with weekly trips to Chatswood, where a fairly accurate personnel of the teams to represent the School in the G.P.S. Premiership matches in September will be determined.

TENNIS.

The Tournament of 1929 was a signal success, not only in the number of entries, but also in the standard of the play. In the junior events, Barnes, Harding, and White showed good form. They displayed a good knowledge of the strokes and tactics of the game. Rosengarten has improved greatly.

Falk and MacDermott, although unable to give much time to the game, have made decided progress.

The winners of the events of the Tournament were :—

Singles Championship—N. Falk.
Doubles Championship—N. Falk and D. MacDermott.

Junior Singles Championship—B. Barnes.
Junior Doubles Championship—E. S. White and L. H. Smith.
Singles Handicap—S. P. Farey.
Doubles Handicap—S. P. Farey and Q. W. Pitt.
Junior Singles Handicap—D. H. Balmain.

This year the Committee decided to omit the Doubles Handicap from the programme of events, owing to the difficulty in arranging times for the matches.

The entries have reached expectations, and the play in the preliminary rounds indicates that there is talent amongst the juniors. Crutenden, Roberts, Henning, Marks,

Two matches have been played this term, one against Cranbrook, the other against The King's School juniors. In both we were beaten.

The G.P.S. Tournament is now engaging our attention. MacDermott, Falk, Barnes, White, Harding, and Oldham will represent the School in the senior division, and the junior team will be picked from Rosengarten, Cruttenden, Roberts, Henning, Marks, Bull, Kearney, and Wood i.

PREPARATORY SCHOOL SPORT.

CRICKET.

The numerous promotions to the main School at the beginning of this year left us with very few of last year's cricketers, and, as there were very few promising players among the new boys, we have so far suffered an unusually large percentage of defeats. In spite of this, the team has continued to improve in every department. Of last year's players, Travers and Ellis have done best; while the new boys furnished us with two cricketers who show great promise—Brudenell-Woods, wicketkeeper, and Cooper, a left-hand bowler, who has been the mainstay of our attack.

In the Quarter Competition, Davies "A" and "B" teams went through the season undefeated, and should have no difficulty in wresting the Championship Shield from Linton, last year's premiers.

The following table shows how the teams fared:—

	Played.	Won.	Lost.	Drew.

2nd XI. . . .	6	3	3	0

SWIMMING.

Each year the Mosman Preparatory School holds a Swimming Carnival, at which six Associated Preparatory School Championships are decided. Our School gained two firsts and two seconds. Bradhurst won the Under 12 Diving, and was second in the 50 Yards Swimming Championship; R. Hannaford was first in the Open Diving, and G. Hannaford was second in the Under 10 Diving.

At the Annual Swimming Carnival, Davies Quarter won the Swimming Championship. Their team consisted of Scholer, Hyams, Pronk i., and Selff.

CRICKET.

1st XI.

The first half of the Competition has finished, leaving the School in the lead with a margin of 1 point. As only three points separate the leading four schools, the cricket in Term III. should be most interesting.

We lost to S.H.S., drew with N.C., and won the remaining five matches somewhat easily. The team has worked together in the usual keen, unselfish way.

In the field very few catches were dropped; the ground work was patchy, but the returning vastly improved. The importance of clean, sound fielding cannot be overestimated. Two changes had to be made during the term mainly because of bad work in the field, and these changes certainly strengthened the side. Behind the stumps, Thompson showed much better form in the first matches, but latterly his work again became indifferent.

The batting is stronger than it was last year. It is getting sounder, but often we have scored far too slowly and allowed our opponents' bowling to appear almost difficult when it was really easy. At such times the timing was not good: much energy is wasted in this way, whereas watching the ball and studying the pace of the wicket would soon bring runs. Falk did splendidly for his first term in the XI.; he watches the ball very closely, while his timing and placing are good. Halstead and McCloy, as opening batsmen, did the team invaluable service on several occasions; their opening stand of 198 against S.J.C. should be long remembered. Barnes and MacDermott, too, are far more dangerous bats than last year; indeed, the latter became a very reliable and valuable fourth wicket man. White did not do as well as was expected: he has plenty of ability, and, if he will concentrate on getting a clean, straight swing and improving his foot work, he should score heavily. The rest had not many chances to show their batting powers, but they will do well in the near future.

The brunt of the bowling fell upon White and Row; they did their share with excellent results. White is gradually getting back his form of this term a year ago, while Row came on very fast and did first-rate work. Halstead was not as dangerous a bowler as last year. MacDermott and Barnes were useful at times, but Robinson, unfortunately, could not regain his 2nd XI. form. Chapman is steadily improving, and is a far better bowler than results apparently show.

The team was extraordinarily keen, and should improve on the results to date in the second half of the Competition.

v. S.I.C.—Played at Northbridge on February 22 and 26. Having won the toss, Halstead went in to bat with McCloy. The wicket was absolutely perfect, but the heat was intense. Our start was decidedly poor, the first three men going for 57. Barnes, however, was batting very solidly, and was given invaluable help by MacDermott; their fourth wicket partnership added 67. None of the remaining batsmen could stay. Barnes was out ninth wicket: he gave one chance, and towards the close of his innings scored very freely. He made his century in three hours, and displayed great patience and stamina in most trying weather. S.I.C., too, may be congratulated in keeping up to their work in the field. Moses and McManis opened for our opponents, whose start was no better than ours. Row bowled with most life for us; the others kept a fair length against batsmen who were taking no risks, but owing to the great heat the attack was lifeless. At close of play, S.I.C. was in a good position with seven wickets in hand and needing 115 to win.

When play was resumed on Wednesday the wicket, owing to rain, was in favour of the bowlers, who took advantage of it, and of the batsmen not playing the right game. Halstead took two wickets and Row one in their opening overs. Later White made use of the wicket, getting rid of three batsmen for 11 runs. The seven wickets fell in about fifty minutes for 26 runs. Thompson showed a great recovery of form behind the wickets.

v. S.H.S.—Played at Kensington Oval on March 1 and 5. Our opponents won the toss, and began batting on a very dead wicket; occasional balls shot. Cohen batted well, but Hynes was very lucky: eventually McCloy caught him splendidly in the country. At lunch two wickets were down for 134 runs. On resuming, wickets fell quickly, and six were down for 145. Then Cheetham and McLeod made a splendid stand: they took no risks, but scored off any loose balls, and brought off many good strokes. After Cheetham fell to Halstead the innings was soon over. Row bowled very well indeed; White, too, was in good form: both were unfortunate owing to our fielding, with the exception of Halstead, MacDermott and McCloy, being far below the standard we have grown accustomed to. Behind the wickets, Thompson was up to form. At 4.45 p.m. Halstead and McCloy opened for the School, and the former was promptly well taken at the wickets off the fast bowler. Barnes was uncomfortable facing Chesher's slows, and soon dragged one on to his wicket. McCloy and White were together when stumps were drawn; the former, except for one chance he gave off Chesher, was in excellent form.

On Wednesday runs came quickly, both batsmen going well. White, after twenty-five minutes' play, fell to an excellent catch. This invaluable partnership had added 72 runs. Falk followed, and another 45 runs were added, though the rate of scoring was not maintained. McCloy seemed to tire before he was out stumped; his had been an excellent innings, though he gave two chances. Falk was batting very soundly when MacDermott joined him; the latter scored quickly, making 30 out of 40 added for the fifth wicket. The others were able to do little. Falk was last out: he played splendidly, especially as it was his first innings in a Competition match, and also as it had necessarily to be of a fighting nature. S.H.S. generally deserved their win; their bowling was fairly accurate and well managed.

v. S.J.C.—Played at Hunter's Hill on March 8. Winning the toss, S.J.C. opened with Lahood and Cluff, who made a good start. Cluff was the first to go, with the score at 64. Our field was not well placed; the bowling was not as good as it should have been. White was doing best on a wicket that gave the bowlers no help. Graham joined Lahood second wicket and batted well, the score at lunch being two for 153. Lahood was good on the on side, but had given two chances at the wickets. A southerly had sprung up when play was resumed; this no doubt helped the bowlers, while the fieldsmen were in far better positions. White broke the partnership, which had added 100. The remaining seven wickets added 69, Barnes being successful at the close. Owing to the very rough state of the ground, the fielding can hardly be criticised. Halstead and McCloy began for us, the former seeming less confident than usual and uncertain in calling. Both played carefully, but gradually the runs came faster, chiefly from McCloy. Halstead began to open out, and the score mounted apace, till hopes arose that the most prolific partnership the School has had for a long time would reach the double century without the loss of a wicket. However, McCloy, with the board showing 198, returned one softly to the bowler. He began very well, but was rather quiet the latter part of his innings; the effort had been of the highest value. Meanwhile Halstead had reached his century, and was scoring freely. The light was bad when Barnes came in; still both batsmen played the right game, with the result that the required runs were obtained ten minutes before 6 o'clock. It was a particularly fine performance on the part of Halstead, who had patiently played himself right in and remained unconquered at the close.

v. T.K.S.—Played at Northbridge on March 19. No play was possible on the Saturday previous owing to rain, and the wicket was still very soft. Halstead won the toss, and decided to bat. The wicket was not at all difficult, but different from the usual. Three men were out for 17; MacDermott and White then made an invaluable stand, the latter batting well. Falk came in fifth wicket and played excellently, remaining undefeated; he saw 60 added to the total. Nicholson bowled well. The wicket was perhaps not so easy when T.K.S. began their innings, but it was not really sticky. Little resistance was offered to the bowling of Row and White, while the fielding was particularly good all round. Very fine catches were made by Falk, Halstead, and Chapman. T.K.S., being 76 runs behind, followed on, and, mainly owing to some good hitting by Terry and White, put up a higher score. White bowled better this innings, and the batsmen could do little with him : he ended up with the fine figures of 8 for 31 for the match; while Row's, of 9 for 17, were still better. Robinson bowled one good over, but was then punished. The field in certain instances was out of position, thereby materially helping to augment the score. Thompson did good work behind the sticks throughout, being particularly smart in the second innings. The match was won by an innings and 26 runs.

v. S.G.S.—Played at Northbridge on March 22 and 26. Owing to recent rain, at one end the wicket was a little patchy, and at the other easy. Halstead sent S.G.S. in to bat. White and Robinson were the opening bowlers to Neale and Selmes, who played carefully. Row relieved Robinson, and immediately Selmes was taken nicely by Thompson. The next two wickets also fell to Row, who was bowling well, and the score was 37. Storey and Cocks put on 62 for the next wicket, the former batting well and eventually returning one softly to Row, with the score at 114. The remaining five wickets added 70; Pooley, Stone, and Sheidow contributed useful scores, the latter out to a good catch by White off his own bowling. Row and White were quite the best of our bowlers. The fielding was not up to the high standard attained in the previous match. Halstead and McCloy started slowly, taking no risks and picking up many a short single. Our opponents maintained a good length most of the three hours we were batting, while their work in the field was very good; they made few mistakes and were often brilliant, and so made us earn our runs. Halstead and McCloy got over the ball well and took the score to 61, when McCloy was bowled by McGilvray. He had batted well to the over in which he got out, when he appeared to go to pieces. Barnes joined Halstead, and the scoring became slower. Barnes was not playing as well as usual, and the slowness of the wicket caused both batsmen to time the ball poorly. However, they stuck to their task, and added 72 before Barnes was out to a ball he tried to lift into the country, but did not get to. It had been a most valuable partnership. After this Halstead attempted to force the pace, and in doing so fell to a catch at the wickets. His innings once again showed his fighting qualities, and he left us in a winning position with seven wickets in hand and 31 runs needed. White and Falk played out time in a very bad light.

Resuming on Wednesday, batsmen and bowlers had difficulty in keeping their feet, as rain had fallen. White slipped in attempting the first run, and was run out. Falk and MacDermott took no risks, and carried our total to the required number. It took us one hour to make the runs owing partly to the condition of the ground, but mainly because of the fielding, which was excellent to the end.

v. T.S.C.—Played at Bellevue Hill on March 29. The wicket was soft, but T.S.C., having won the toss, decided to bat. The cricket was slow. At the end of the first hour the total was 29 for three wickets. The wicket did not suit the bowlers, of whom White alone looked dangerous. Dick played an invaluable innings for his side, and he received useful help from Rankin, Martel, and Walker. When we went in the wicket had rolled out easy. Our usual pair carried the score to 118 before McCloy, owing to some misunderstanding, was run out; he had batted very well, and should not have allowed himself to be run out, as a fieldsmen fumbled and the return was delayed. Halstead was not in form, and out of his score 29 came in singles. White went to a swinger first ball. Barnes and Falk carried the total well ahead of the T.S.C. score before Barnes went to a good catch near the boundary. Falk, in spite of giving two chances, played a good innings, in which he showed improvement in several strokes. MacDermott and Row were both going well when play ceased. The runs came at slightly better than even time.

v. N.C.—Played at Northbridge on Wednesday, April 9. The previous Saturday rain prevented all play. Winning the toss, Halstead opened with McCloy, who played on in the second over. Barnes was obviously out of form, but White and Halstead carried the score to 60, when the latter went after a very slow innings. Soon afterwards White, when apparently set, was caught off a weak stroke. Falk and MacDermott then saved our unfavourable position, though they found it hard to score from fair and steady bowling. They both fell in trying to force the pace, as time was limited; they added runs quickly towards the end, and, altogether, it was a splendid effort on their part. Newington, seeing there was little chance of passing our total in slightly over two hours, played safe, while our attack on the whole did not worry them very much. Barnes and MacDermott bowled best, the latter in quite his best form this term. A catch taken off Row's first ball might have made a big difference. Stewart played a good and most invaluable innings for his side.

2nd XI.

The 2nd XI. has had a most successful term. The match against The King's School, winners of the Seconds Competition for some years, was not played on account of rain, but otherwise all matches were won by comfortable margins. The team was exceptionally keen, and improved very greatly throughout the term.

In fielding, this team was probably weaker than last year's, although in later matches the standard became quite good. Against Newington it was first class. Kierath, Litchfield, Hunt, and Roberts were the best in this department. In the earlier matches Higgs showed great promise as a wicketkeeper, and gave nothing away. Latterly he lost interest in wicketkeeping, and did not perform nearly so well. The team generally, and Roberts's bowling figures particularly, suffered from his lapse.

In batting, Higgs was by far the most stylish and most successful member of the team. He was most consistent in giving us a good start, and made more than twice as many runs as anyone else. The batting strength, however, lay in its consistency. Every member of the team had an average of more than 11, and all were liable to make runs. Hunt batted very well in the last two matches. Cullis-Hill was solid and consistent, and probably improved more during the term than any other member. Litchfield's form in matches was a little disappointing, but he is sure to make runs again next term. Roberts was a successful tail-ender, making 42 runs for one dismissal. His batting is improving.

The brunt of the bowling was borne by Harding and Roberts; the first named is very dangerous with a new ball, which he swings considerably. He took 21 wickets during the term, and Roberts secured 19. Roberts bowled with more judgment than last year, but is better suited by harder wickets than we usually got this term. Kierath and Hunt were occasionally useful as bowlers, while Butcher is promising.

As captain, Litchfield did well; he is becoming famous for his tossing. In three terms as captain, he has lost only one toss.

HOUSE COMPETITIONS.

The results for 1929 were as follows:—

Ronald Harris Cup (Swimming)—Hodges.

C. H. Hodges Cup (Rowing)—School.

P. A. Hardy Cup (Cricket)—School.

Noel McIntosh Cup (Football)—Barry and School.

Parrett Cup (Boxing)—School.

The Shooting and Athletics were also won by School.

School House thus won the Brian Simpson Memorial Cup for the best sports House, scoring 57 points. Barry gained 32, Hodges 23, and Robson 19 points.

HOUSE CRICKET COMPETITION.

Wet weather prevented more than one round from being played, but the Competition was carried out with enthusiasm.

Owing to the large number of boys playing House cricket, a seventh team had to be formed, and even then some teams' lists contained twenty names.

In the grades, Barry won the 1st Competition, Hodges and School the 2nds, Hodges the 3rds, Robson the 4ths, School the 5ths, Barry and Hodges the 6ths, and Robson the 7ths.

A win in the 1sts gains 10 points; 2nds; 8; 3rds and 4ths, 6; 5ths and 6ths, 4; and 7ths, 2.

Total scores for the term were:—Barry, 70; Robson, 60; School, 56; Hodges, 54—showing that the Houses were fairly well matched.

1sts.

Robson beat Barry by 142 to 126. For Barry: Mitchell ii. 26 and 3 wickets. For Robson: Midlane 48, Flatt 39 and 3 wickets.

School beat Hodges by an innings and 1 run. For School: Wenden 50, Lightfoot 35, Carey 38 and 9 wickets, Butcher 7 wickets. For Hodges: Bull 28; Godden 4 wickets, Sturrock 3 wickets.

Barry beat School by 180 to 91. For Barry: Martin 100 (retired), Pengilly 20 and 3 wickets. For School: Sheaffe 50; Carey 6 wickets.

Robson beat School by 239 to 109. For Robson: Midlane 64, Cohen 83, Bourke 36 and 3 wickets, Langby 4 wickets. For School: Hicks 40, Sheaffe 15; Alexander 3 wickets.

Barry beat Hodges by 2 for 136 to 82. For Barry: Oldham 63 n.o., Balmain 46 n.o.; Mitchell, Innes and Jones 3 wickets each. For Hodges: Chinnery 25, Locke 19.

Robson beat Hodges by 150 to 94. For Robson: McWilliam 53 n.o., Braund 35; Terry 5 wickets. For Hodges: Buchanan 45; Sturrock, Godden and Keene 2 wickets each.

2nds.

School beat Robson by 139 to 51. For School: Lyttle 45, Marshall 35; Sheaffe iv. 7 wickets, Smith 3 wickets. For Robson: Blundell 18.

Barry beat School by 47 runs. For Barry: A. B. Mitchell 31 n.o., Balmain 26 and 3 wickets, Bucknell 3 wickets. For School: Lyttle 22 n.o., Morse 12; Smith 5 wickets, Sheaffe 3 wickets.

Hodges beat Robson by 200 to 145. For Hodges: Gosling ii. 102, Fox 24; Cohen 3 wickets, Marr 6 wickets in second innings. For Robson: Wilkinson 33.

Robson beat Barry by 89 and 64 to 82 and 6 for 48. For Robson: Turner 17. Taylor and Noss 15 each; Turner 4 wickets, Osbourne and Pronk 3 wickets each. For Barry: Prior 18 n.o., Petherick 14 and 4 wickets, Hardy ii. 4 wickets, Coventry 3 wickets.

School beat Hodges by 239 to 93. For School: Hicks and Thomas 61 each, Kessell 45; Smith 9 wickets. For Hodges: Gosling ii. 37, Singer 18; Thomson 4 wickets, Adams 3 wickets.

OLD BOYS' UNION NOTES.

W. A. and J. Bishop sailed in February by the "Otranto" for a tour of the Continent in general and Norway in particular. Jesse, who had just finished his fourth year Law Exams., did not wait to hear the results.

o o o o

Marsden Campbell, State backstroke champion, has been showing excellent form this season, annexing, inter alia, the Northern Suburbs backstroke championship.

o o o o

J. T. Newman is jaekerooing with A. J. Studdy at "Glencoe," Bogga-bri.

G. V. Scammell is to be married shortly.

o o o o

The Sydney University crew for the Oxford and Cambridge Cup, to be rowed in Perth in June next, includes Dick Dibbs and A. D. Hudson.

o o o o

J. M. W. Love, LL.B., is now a non-practicing barrister in the State Crown Solicitor's Department.

o o o o

L. L. G. Kesterton, recently returned from the other side, is now in practice as a public accountant. Edwards & Kesterton is the firm, at 14 Spring Street, Sydney.

The sympathies of the Union go to G. B. Hetherington, who was critically injured in a 'plane smash. He is now progressing very favourably.

o o o o

Brian Byrne, appointed at last annual Club meeting to the Committee, was married recently to Miss Enid Gurney. Russell Turner was the groom's right hand man for the ceremony.

o o o o

Dr. N. A. Walker is now at the Royal Prince Alfred Hospital.

o o o o

Talking of degrees and diplomas, C. G. Cowdroy passed his final Accountancy to win the L.I.C.A. (Chartered).

o o o o

The Union offers its sympathies to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wright-Jackson, whose son, Captain Basil Jackson, died suddenly, cutting short a brilliant career at the age of 36.

Basil, born in Sydney in 1894, was educated at Treleven Prep. School at Wahroonga, and at the School. Apprenticed to the Aberdeen Line, he was fourth officer when he transferred to the B.I.S.N. Co. At 21 years of age he became a lieutenant in the Royal Indian Marine, and was with that force when the Royal Navy took over at the commencement of the War. As a first lieutenant he was detailed to the India Station, and later was appointed Admiralty officer on the Persian oil-fields, where he served until 1919. Peace saw him in England, where he met Miss Evelyn Marley, to whom he became engaged. In London he joined the service of Turner, Morrison & Co., of Bombay, and, quickly winning promotion, he became the youngest master in that firm's employ.

The Union desires to add its tribute to one who "played the game."

o o o o

Jack Playfair is now Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Fresh Food and Ice Co., Ltd.

o o o o

C. J. Purser has just been down to town from Dubbo for a holiday.

o o o o

Alan Mansfield spent Christmas at Townsville, Q.

o o o o

T. T. Shadforth has just purchased a fine property near Aramac, Queensland, while Dudley tried to even things by spending Christmas at Southport.

o o o o

H. S. ("Poop") Lloyd—perhaps we should not use familiar names now that he is a B.E.—has gone to England by the "Barrabool." An engineer in the Mains Branch, City Council, he has been granted extended leave in order to gain experience of modern production methods at the works of British Thompson Houston, one of the largest electrical engineering firms in England; and also at the International General Electric Company's works, Schenectady, U.S.A.

o o o o

Dr. H. F. Wilson has returned from England, and has taken a position on the staff of Otago University, Dunedin.

o o o o

The Goulburn Polo Team, consisting of Jimmy and Bob Ashton, with their brothers, is in England to play during the coming season. They should do well.

o o o o

St. James' was chosen for the wedding on March 8 of Miss Nita Woolley to Norman Bruce Purser, of Limestone Creek, Blayney. Archdeacon Howell, of Bathurst, an old family friend of the Woolley's, conducted the service. Cecil Purser was best man, and Gordon Rickard and Rex Cowlshaw groomsmen.

o o o o

'Varsity Blues for 1929 include Doug. Warden (athletics), Mick Ramsden (football), Tom McKay (golf), Dick Hipsley and Fred Osborne (rowing), and N. A. Walker (tennis).

o o o o

F. J. A. Pockley has passed his Matric., and started his studies at the 'Varsity.

o o o o

George W. Walker has been appointed secretary to the Thomas Walker Convalescent Hospital, Parramatta River, and private secretary to Dame Eadith Walker.

Frank Spiller writes an interesting letter from Melbourne. He has coupled the job of consulting engineer with an indent and merchant business, and represents some excellent overseas firms. He tells, inter alia, how in 1915 he joined the Defence Department, and went to London as engineer in charge of Gun Inquiry; up to 1920 he had personally purchased £300,000 worth of plant for this department—out of national resources, of course.

o o o o

Congratulations to H. W. Hattersley, whose consistently long driving and excellent all-round pay have earned him a place in the Kirk-Windeyer team for New Zealand. He was seen to advantage against Hagen at Manly recently. Remember, Harry, that Enzed is only a small place, and ease up on the driving!

o o o o

G. MacLeod is doing well at Dunroon. He is now a Colour Sergeant, and in his final year. He intends to specialise in cavalry work.

o o o o

J. K. Shirley was recently married. His wife is the sister of two Old Boys, Frank and John Daniell.

o o o o

At the annual general meeting of the Insurance Institute of South Australia, W. H. Sheppard was appointed president. He has been manager of the South Australian branch of the Mercantile Mutual Insurance Company Ltd. for five years. He is chairman for this year of the South Australian branch of the O.B.U.

o o o o

The Rev. S. E. Jones, after a year in England, has left for the Sudan Mission. While in England, Jones graduated B.A. at Oxford, and his wife took a course at the Medical Missionary School. She accompanied him to the Mission.

o o o o

B. C. Corlette, who has been for some years Headmaster of Tudor House School, is leaving at the end of this term for England and the Continent. His locum tenens will be the Rev. C. P. Brown, M.A., an old member of our School staff, Rector of Mittagong.

The above paragraphs refer to quite a few Old Boys who have set off for England, America, etc. There are many others who, though their antipodean business represents the acme of respectability, are content to slip away with the hour and the manner of their departure unheralded and unsung in these columns. These Old Boys we would ask to accept our assurance that we do not announce their exodus from these shores with anything like the sigh of relief with which our newspapers announce that some notorious criminal has migrated. We print these items because we feel that members of the Union are anxious to hear of the doings of other members. But we have not the variegated machinery of a modern newspaper office; we are not even certain as to the correct way to pronounce "Reuters," so that often the best O.B.U. news does not come our way. Those who travel we would ask to write to us, whether the letter be from Paris or Petra, London or Lilliput; and to those of us who are nearer at hand we would say, that the box that has been put up at the Club is not in itself an intrinsic part of the aesthetic decorative scheme, but is to receive items for these columns. Let us make the O.B.U. section of the "Torch-Bearer" the outward and visible sign of that healthy activity which has characterised our various functions.

o o o o

The officer commanding the 27th Battery of the 7th Field Artillery Brigade is anxious to get in touch with Old Boys of the School who are willing to enlist in the Militia Forces. The Brigade has its headquarters in a new Drill Hall at Willoughby, near High Street, which is one of the finest in the Commonwealth, with stables and riding school. In the past the Battery has been largely manned by Old Boys, and it is hoped that this will continue. Will those interested apply personally on any Monday evening, from 7.30 to 9 p.m., at Willoughby Drill Hall, to Captain A. A. Summers, or Lieutenant J. Kelso? Volunteers may enlist as gunners, drivers, signallers or surveyors.

OLD BOYS' CLUB ANNUAL MEETING.

The sixth Annual Meeting of members was held in the Club Rooms on Tuesday, March 11, 1930. The President, Dr. F. G. A. Pockley, was in the chair. Apologies were received from Messrs. G. C. Turnbull, J. W. Martin, and L. C. Robson.

The Annual Report was as follows:—

The Report and Statement of Accounts and Balance Sheet were received and adopted, and Mr. Dudley Williams and Mr. A. B. S. White congratulated the Club on the progress made.

The meeting then proceeded with the election of officers for the ensuing year. Dr. F. G. A. Pockley was re-elected President, and the following were re-elected to the various positions, viz.: Vice-President, Mr. D'Arcy F. Roberts; Hon. Secretary, Mr. A. N. Harding; Hon. Treasurer, Mr. C. N. Walker; Hon. Auditor, Mr. N. E. Brookes.

During the ballot for the Committee, Mr. Dudley Williams extended a hearty welcome to the Rev. D. Davies, without whom, he said, no Old Boys' function would be complete, and his remarks were received with acclamation.

As the result of the ballot for the Committee, the following were elected, viz. : Messrs. G. M. Marsh, H. Lewarne, G. C. Turnbull, G. E. Browne, Dudley Williams, J. K. Shirley, A. D. Hudson, and B. Byrne.

S.C.E.G.S. OLD BOYS' CLUB.

ANNUAL REPORT OF COMMITTEE.

For the Year ended January 20, 1930.

Your Committee begs to present its Sixth Annual Report.

The membership of the Club shows an increase on that of last year, the present number being 664. New members elected during the year numbered 84, comprising 80 ordinary members and 4 associate members.

During the year, Dr. F. G. A. Pockley and Mr. D'Arcy F. Roberts have acted as Directors of School Clubs Ltd., and Mr. A. N. Harding has been a member of the House Committee.

Your representatives on the Board of School Clubs Ltd. report to the Committee that the happiest relations have always existed between all the representatives of the various Schools and Colleges, and that the cordial relations between all members of this Board make it a pleasure to work on it.

Your Committee notes with satisfaction that large numbers of our Club use the premises, and are gratified to note the fact that so many senior men attend. While realising, in company with other School Committees, that the premises are not yet worthy of the Clubs, they would like to assure members that they have constantly before them the ambition of enlarging and improving the present accommodation, and, if membership and attendances for meals, etc., increase, the period of waiting before financial conditions make this possible will be considerably shortened.

During the year certain improvements in furnishing our Club Room have been made, some to facilitate the clerical work, which is considerable. The portrait of our first President, Mr. Dudley Williams, was hung; and the old notice board was replaced by a more suitable one.

Thirteen Committee meetings were held, and the attendances were as follows:—12, G. E. Browne and C. N. Walker; 11, Dr. F. G. A. Pockley and D. A. Roberts; 10, A. N. Harding; 8, C. J. Lewarne and J. W. Martin; 6, J. H. Shirley; 4, D. Williams; 3, B. Byrne (resigned July 9, 1929) and J. G. Hill; 2, G. C. Turnbull (elected December 3, 1929); nil, R. C. Cox.

Your Committee wishes to again record the good work that Mr. Bagot has done in explaining the objects of the Club to boys who are about to leave the School.

Your Committee is again indebted to Mr. N. E. Brooks for acting as Honorary Auditor to the Club.

As will be seen from the statement of accounts and balance sheet, the finances are in a satisfactory condition, there being a surplus for the year of £281/12/6, the invested funds now amounting to £1,446 11/10.

For the Committee,
F. GUY ANTILL POCKLEY,
President.

A. N. HARDING,
Honorary Secretary.
